Democrats Retain Control Of House, Senate

Gov. Tawes Is Re-Elected

GOP Expects To Make Only Small Gains

Leaders Concede Kennedy's Party Still In Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican campaign officials conceded Tuesday night that the Democrats apparently have won control of the second Kennedy Congress.

Albert B. Hermann, campaign director for the Republican National Committee, said that on the basis of election returns he expected the Republicans to pick up between 10 and 20 House seats. Republicans needed 44 to gain majority control in the House.

"We never expected to get that many," Hermann told newsmen with a laugh. "If we got eight to 10, it would be psychologically very good."

Republicans conceded far in advance of the election that they had no chance to win control of the Senate and the Democrats clinched control of that chamber before 10:30 p.m. EST.

But the Republicans foresaw a shift in House seats big enough to give their forces a whip hand on many legislative issues in the next two years. Some of the President's controversial bills were passed or defeated by razor thin margins last session.

Republican National Chairman William E. Miller predicted just before 11 p.m. EST that the Republicans would win 8 to 10 governorships and 20 House seats. He said they would hold their own in the Senate.

All 435 House members and 39 of the 100 senators were being elected.

All the advance signs were that there would be no major shifts—probably few Republican gains in the House, perhaps a few Democratic pickups in the Senate.

But not until Wednesday would it be known for certain whether forecasts were to be borne out or upset by unpredictable factors.

Heavy early turnouts of voters were reported in the big Eastern states, giving substance to advance predictions that the total vote would set an off-year record. The previous peak was 47,854,000 in 1958.

In most of the nation, good weather greeted the lines of voters.

President Votes

Among those who turned out early was the President, who had flown from Washington to Boston to cast a ballot for, among others, his youngest brother, Edward M. Kennedy, seeking the Senate seat which the President formerly held.

Nixon, the man Kennedy defeated two years ago in one of the closest presidential races ever, also turned out early with Mrs. Nixon at a polling place in a $200,000 home in Beverly Hills, Calif. Then they went on a tour

Red Chinese Building Up For Attack

India To Recall 7,000 Troops Now Under U.N. Flag

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Red Chinese forces have made two thrusts into undisputed Indian territory and are building up for an attack on a key Indian airfield near Ladakh high in the Himalayan frontier, a Defense Ministry spokesman said Tuesday.

The government announced it planned to recall nearly 7,000 Indian troops serving overseas under the U.N. flag. It also said it will begin teaching villagers to shoot, as a back line of defense against Communist intruders.

For the first time since the Red Chinese opened their military drives to occupy disputed border territories, their forces have made spearhead thrusts into territory not previously claimed by the Peiping regime.

One of these thrusts was made into an abandoned Indian military base that controls northern Ladakh, endangering the entire Indian position on the western front.

The spokesman reported another incursion into Indian territory 850 miles to the southeast of Ladakh, on the other end of the Himalayan front. But, he said, the Chinese force was driven back across the Tibetan border.

The Chinese appeared to be seeking to occupy Chushul airfield near Ladakh. Informed sources said they had moved up artillery, tanks and large numbers of troops. India has flown light tanks into Chushul and is expected to fight hard to retain its only important airfield near the Ladakh battle line.

Chushul airfield had been used to supply Indian forces fighting in the Ladakh area. It has been under Chinese artillery attack for several days.

The Foreign Ministry said it is planning to ask the United Nations to release 5,700 first-line troops with the U.N. force in the Congo and another 1,250 men in the Gaza Strip between Israel and the United Arab Republic.

Maryland Sends Daniel Brewster To Washington

Finan, Goldstein, Sickles Win Easily Over Republicans

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP)—Daniel B. Brewster highlighted a Democratic victory in Maryland Tuesday by becoming the first to go to the U. S. Senate since 1952 and J. Millard Tawes won his second four-year term as governor.

Although Tawes' 1958 winning margin of 206,000 dropped considerably, he managed to stay ahead of Frank Small Jr. from the first returns.

In 1,231 of 1,458 voting places, the vote was:

Tawes, D, 389,133
Small, R, 304,149

Staying with Tawes as the Democratic state administration team were Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan and Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

But the Democrats lost their 1st District seat in the House of Representatives where Thomas F. Johnson was defeated after two terms by the Republican newcomer, Rogers C. B. Morton.

However, the Democrats offset the loss by picking up new at-large seat for which Carlton R. Sickles defeated Newton I. Steers.

Four incumbent House Democrats, Edward Garmatz, George Fallon and Samuel Friedel in Baltimore City, and Richard Lankford in Southern Maryland, won re-election.

So did the only Republican from Maryland during the last session, Charles Mathias from Western Maryland.

The eighth Maryland seat had not been decided at a late hour due to sketchy returns from Baltimore County. Clarence Long, the Democrat, had a slim lead over Republican Fife Symington, for the 2nd District spot.

The unofficial votes in the other statewide contests were:

U.S. Senate, 1,012 of 1,458 polling places:
Brewster, D, 297,055
Miller, R, 195,402

Comptroller 1,012 of 1,458 polling places:
Goldstein, D, 297,237
Champion, R, 182,877

Attorney General, 1,004 of 1,458 polling places:
Finan, D, 279,819
Ferris, R, 176,171

Saudi Arabia Under Attack By UAR Navy

Diplomatic Break Follows Bombing Of Two Villages

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Saudi Arabia charged Tuesday that United Arab Republic naval units and planes were bombarding two villages in southwest Saudi Arabia and broke off diplomatic relations with the U.A.R.

A communique broadcast by the government-controlled Mecca radio said an air and naval attack began at noon Monday and was still under way.

The diplomatic break and reported attack created the widest fissure yet in the Middle East as a result of the republican revolution in Yemen. The Saudi Arabian and Jordanian monarchies are supporting Yemeni royalists in their bid to return to power, and the U.A.R. is supporting the Yemeni revolutionists.

Many Casualties

The communique said "great fatal casualties and property losses" occurred. It announced the Saudi government "reserves its absolute right to take whatever measures are necessary to defend the country against this overt aggression."

Backed by Nasser's planes, tanks and men, Yemeni revolutionary President Abdullah Sallal said in a statement quoted by the semiofficial U.A.R. Middle East News Agency that his government has decided to sieze Qizan and Najran, a border town 150 miles inland from the port.

Troops To Border

Saudi Premier Prince Faisal announced his armed forces are moving to the attacked border. He said so far the bombardment has not been accompanied by troop landings.

In an attempt to head off the peril of an inter-Arab shooting war over Yemen, President Nazam El Kudsi of Syria called for Pan-Arab mediation by kings and other heads of state of Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Lybia, Sudan, Lebanon and Iraq.

Republicans Gain Three Seats In Maryland Senate

BALTIMORE (AP) — Republicans at least doubled their representation in the Maryland General Assembly with the first 16 counties heard from in Tuesday's election.

They had gained three senate seats for a total of six of the 29 in the chamber. They had boosted their house total from seven to 14.

Still unreported at that count were races in Baltimore, Carroll Charles, Dorchester, Kent, Montgomery and Prince Georges counties.

Republican incumbents Edward T. Hall of Calvert and Harry T. Phoebus of Somerset were re-elected. Joining them in early returns were Joseph W. Alton Jr., Anne Arundel's first GOP senator in this century; John A. Derr, former mayor of Frederick, Spencer W. Graham in Garrett County; and George R. Hughes Jr., a former delegate in Allegany.

Allegany and Garrett sent solid Republican delegates to the house for nine of the seats won by their party.

Harford voters defeated three of their four Democratic incumbents returning only W. Dale Hess. New Republican delegates from Harford are C. Stanley Blair, John W. Hardwicke and R. Wilson Scarff.

R. Noel Spence won a GOP seat from Washington County, which elected five Democratic delegates and reelected Democratic Sen. George Snyder. Incumbent Democratic Del. Gale B. Cohill was defeated.

Baltimore city's delegation will again be solid Democratic.

Maryland's Congressmen In Close Fight

BULLETIN

Clarence Long won the seat vacated by Brewster in central Maryland to give the Democrats a 6-2 edge in the House delegation. Long nosed out J. Fife Symington, Republican making his third try for the post.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Indicted Rep. Thomas F. Johnson was the only casualty among Maryland's incumbent congressmen tonight as the State elected another predominantly Democratic delegation to the House of Representatives.

Whether the Democratic majority would be 6-2 or 5-3 depended on the outcome of the Second District contest between Democrat Clarence D. Long and Republican J. Fife Symington Jr. Early returns gave Long a slim lead.

Johnson, 53-year-old Democrat indicted by a federal grand jury three weeks on conspiracy and conflict of interest charges, was bumped out of office by Republican Rogers C. B. Morton in the First (Eastern Shore) District.

This result and Democrat Carlton R. Sickles' victory over Republican Newton I. Steers for the State's new congressman-at-large seat were the highlights of the eight House races.

Mathias Re-Elected

Re-elected were the previously lone Republican, Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of the Sixth District, and four Democrats—Edward A. Garmatz, Third; George H. Fallon, Fourth; Richard E. Lankford, Fifth, and Samuel N. Friedel, Seventh.

Morton's victory over Johnson returned the First District seat to the Republicans, who held it for 12 years before Johnson defeated six-termer Edward T. Miller in 1958.

Morton, 48-year-old brother of U.S. Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, moved into Talbot County only 10 years ago and was taking his crack at politics.

Unofficial complete returns from the district's 161 polling places gave him 32,277 votes, Johnson 29,423.

There had been little doubt in advance about th eoutcome of the three all-Baltimore City congressional elections, Garmatz was unopposed, Fallon easily won over Republican clothier John E. Brandau, and Friedel brushed aside the challenge of Mrs. Caroline R. Ramsay, a Philadelphia-born graduate of Bryn Mawr College.

ELECTION BULLETINS

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Arch A. Moore Jr. defeated Cleveland M. Bailey in the 1st Congressional race Tuesday while the other four Democratic incumbents won re-election. West Virginia voters also rejected all five proposed amendments to the Constitution including liquor-by-the-drink.

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was re-elected Tuesday night over Democrat Robert Morganthau but his victory margin was not approaching the landslide his presidency-minded supporters had predicted.

Pittsburgh (UPI)—Pennsylvania voters split their tickets in Tuesday's balloting and elected Republican Rep. William W. Scranton to the governorship while they retained Democrat Joseph S. Clark in his U. S. Senate seat.

MANCHESTER, N. H. (UPI) Democrat John W. King of Manchester, Tuesday night became the first of his party in two generations to win the governorship of New Hampshire in an upset victory over Republican John Pillsbury.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Riding a crest of normally Republican rural votes, Republican James A. Rhodes spurted to a solid lead Tuesday night over Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle who is seeking a second four-year term.

DETROIT (UPI) — Incumbent Gov. John B. Swainson took an expected big lead over Republican challenger George Romney early Tuesday night as first returns poured in from heavily Democratic Detroit in the Michigan gubernatorial race.

BOSTON (UPI)—Young Ted Kennedy whipped George Cabot Lodge in their Senate race Tuesday night to become the third powerful Massachusetts Kennedy in Washington.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democratic U. S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche won re-election Tuesday in an apparent runaway over Republican John Marshall Briley of Toledo. Lausche, five-time Ohio governor, had a lead approaching 100,000 with only about one seventh of the vote tallied.

Pope John XXIII Intervenes To Speed Debate

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII intervened Tuesday in the Ecumenical Council to speed its debate. Fathers attending the historic gathering have estimated it could last 20 years under conditions that have prevailed.

The pontiff ruled that the council president could recommend termination of the debate on each item when he felt there had been enough discussion. A move to end debate would be approved or rejected by a show of hands of the council fathers.

The Pope's ruling went into effect Tuesday and was invoked by Ignace Cardinal Tappouni, presiding. The council presidency is rotated among 10 cardinals.

The council fathers, in the third week of their Latin language debate, are discussing only the second part of the first of a possible 70 subjects — the liturgy.

When the Pope's announcement was read to the gathering, Cardinal Tappouni suggested that debate be closed on the second of eight chapters of the liturgy. The suggestion was adopted and the group began studying the third chapter.

The Pope previously had limited speeches to 10 minutes but he has not restricted the number of speakers on different subjects. Nearly 200 of the 2,500 council fathers have spoken.

The third chapter of the liturgy, which is the form of public worship, deals with the seven sacraments and sacramentals — Baptism, Confirmation, Communion, Penance, Extreme Unction, Holy Orders and Matrimony.

21 Miners Die In Explosion

LONGYEAR CITY, Spitzbergen (UPI) — An explosion ripped through a coal mine at the tiny settlement of New Aalesund on this Norwegian island deep in the arctic Monday night, killing all 21 miners on the night shift, it was announced Tuesday.

Cause of the explosion in the King's Bay Coal Mine was not known.

Rescue operations coordinator J. B. Ertsaas said 11 of the men were in the shaft which penetrates a mountain when the explosion occurred. Others, preparing to go down, were killed in a waiting room on the surface.

Gov. Brown Takes Lead In California

By JOHN MORGANTHALER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown took an early lead over Republican Richard M. Nixon Tuesday night, as California voters turned out in what could be record numbers for an off-year election.

The surprisingly heavy vote in a state with a 4-3 Democratic edge in registration bolstered Brown's hopes of turning back the former vice president's bid for a political comeback.

Returns from 775 of 31,820 precincts, including 380 incomplete of Los Angeles' 11,980, showed Brown 42,008 and 31,654.

In Los Angeles, with 40 per cent of the state's voters, the turnout was estimated at 80 to 84 per cent. The 1958 record was 79 per cent, and pre-election forecasts this year were only 70 to 75 per cent. Democrats outnumber Republicans in the county by more than 500,000.

Both candidates were in Los Angeles for the count after a gruelling 15-month campaign, one of the hardest and most bitter in the state's history.

Republican Sen. Thomas Kuchel took a slim lead over Democrat Richard Richards, whom Kuchel defeated by 400,000 votes in 1956.

Returns from 672 precincts gave Kuchel 28,617, Richards 25,516.

Wicomico County Takes First Step For Home Rule

SALISBURY (AP) — Wicomico County voters took a step toward home rule Tuesday by giving a five-member board the green light to draft a proposed charter.

The vote was 3,795 in favor of this step, 1,060 against.

This paved the way for the predesignated board to draw up a charter which would create a county council to replace the present board of county commissioners.

Voters in the 1964 election will determine whether the charter act ally goes into effect.

Commie Chairman Being Investigated

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mrs. Dorothy Healey, 47-year-old Southern California chairman of the U.S. Communist party, is to appear Wednesday before the Federal Subversive Activities Control Board on a petition filed by U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

Mrs. Healey, indicating she will not register as a subversive when she appears before the board, declared she i s not a subversive "and there is no evidence that I have done anything illegal or perpetrated an overt act against the United States."

Cuba Is Hiding Arms In Caves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuban exiles said Tuesday first-hand reports from the island tell of dozens of underground installations and caves being used to hide missiles and nuclear weapons.

Herminio Portell Vila, a former professor at the University of Havana, said the Soviet Union's military advisers in Cuba have been furnished an extensive list of hiding places by a Cuban speleologist who spent years surveying and mapping Cuban caves.

Eusebio Mujal Barniol, former secretary general of the Cuban Confederation of Labor, said he has confidential reports from underground sources in Cuba that caves are being used to hide missiles and nuclear weapons. In addition, he said, the Cuban production of cement plus "fabulous amounts of cement imported from Czechoslovakia," are being used to build underground storage facilities for secret weapons.

Responsible government sources, however, discounted the reports of underground installations and said they are not provable.

MOSCOW: First Deputy Premier Alexei Kosygin ended the Soviet Union's U.S. election "moratorium" on the Berlin issue and launched a new diplomatic offensive for a German settlement. Speaking on the eve of the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, he also stoutly defended Russia's Cuban policies.

NEW DELHI: India announced it has driven back two small Chinese Communist attacks on the eastern end of the Sino-Indian border but warned of a Communist buildup near the vital Chusul air base in Ladakh at the western end. Demands grew for the full ouster of former Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon from the government.

HAVANA: A meeting between Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan and high Cuban officials was called off without explanation. There was no word why the talks, presumed to be in the dismantling of Soviet missile bases, were not held.

BERLIN: Communist East German leaders marked the end of the Soviet "moratorium" on Berlin with a barrage of demands for a peace treaty to oust the Western Allies. But there was no new deadline for a treaty.

PARIS: The French Constitutional Council ruled itself incompetent to rule on the constitutionality of President Charles de Gaulle's Oct. 28 referendum to permit direct elections of future French presidents. If the council had ruled otherwise, it could have forced De Gaulle's resignation.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.: Two top officials of the international Red Cross conferred with Acting Secretary General Thant on details of the proposed inspection of inbound Cuban cargo by their organization. U.S Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said the presence of Russian missile bases in Cuba prevented real negotiations on disarmament and a nuclear test ban treaty.

N.Y. Newspaper Strike Continues

NEW YORK (UPI) — Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz met with representatives of the New York Daily News and the American Newspaper Guild (AFL-CIO) in a joint session Tuesday in an effort to settle the six-day dispute which has forced the News to suspend publication.

Spokesmen for both the news and the guild declined to discuss the meeting, which lasted about an hour.

Deputy Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Leslie said there was "nothing new" to report. However, he said that current plans were for the federal team, including Wirtz, to remain in New York until the dispute is settled.

Soviets Strike Conciliatory Note On 45th Anniversary

By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government struck a conciliatory note Tuesday night on the Cuban crisis, and put out a vague hint of willingness to examine a new approach to the dangerous West Berlin problem.

A keynote speech, on the eve of the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, also carried an implied rebuttal to Communist Chinese displeasure with the Soviet backdown in the Cuban blockade confrontation.

Deputy Premier Alexei Kosygin, making the important speech in the Kremlin auditorium for the anniversary celebration, most important event of the Communist party's year, referred several times to "concessions" by both sides in the Cuban crisis.

While Kosygin employed the usual stock phrases to denounce U.S. "imperialism," the speech was notably lacking in saber-rattling. While Premier Khrushchev listened from his seat on the dais, the speaker used words like "compromise" in describing the Soviet leader's policy.

Discussing Berlin, Kosygin failed to put forward the usual Soviet threat of signing a peace treaty separately with Communist East Germany. The Kremlin has claimed such an act would automatically cancel Allied rights in West Berlin.

The speaker said signing a peace treaty with Germany would be the best solution for the Berlin problem, but he avoided demanding this under the threat of the separate pact with East Germany.

In Moscow that was viewed as an important change of tone, perhaps outlining a new approach to the German question.

The 58-year-old Kosygin, an industrial expert who represents the post-Bolshevik generation of Soviet leadership, took another implied swipe at the Red Chinese, this time for their military actions against India.

The Red Chinese are believed here to espouse recklessly aggressive action by the world Communist movement and have indicated unhappiness with Khrushchev's policies.

"The Soviet people," said the crew-cut Kosygin, "cannot but deeply regret events on the Chinese-Indian border, where armed clashes took place and blood was spilled. This conflict benefits only the imperialists who are doing everything in their power to kindle war and break the age-old friendship between the great peoples of China and India."

"Our view is that a cease-fire and talks between India and the People's Republic of China on a reasonable basis would be a correct solution all the more so since there are no fundamental contradictions between India and the Chinese People's Republic, no difference which could not be solved at a round table conference," he added.

Red Chinese Building Up For Attack

India To Recall 7,000 Troops Now Under U.N. Flag

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Red Chinese forces have made two thrusts into undisputed Indian territory and are building up for an attack on a key Indian airfield near Ladakh high in the Himalayan frontier, a Defense Ministry spokesman said Tuesday.

The government announced it planned to recall nearly 7,000 Indian troops serving overseas under the U.N. flag. It also said it will begin teaching villagers to shoot, as a back line of defense against Communist intruders.

For the first time since the Red Chinese opened their military drives to occupy disputed border territories, their forces have made spearhead thrusts into territory not previously claimed by the Peiping regime.

One of these thrusts was made into an abandoned Indian military base that controls northern Ladakh, endangering the entire Indian position on the western front.

The spokesman reported another incursion into Indian territory 850 miles to the southeast of Ladakh, on the other end of the Himalayan front. But, he said, the Chinese force was driven back across the Tibetan border.

The Chinese appeared to be seeking to occupy Chushul airfield near Ladakh. Informed sources said they had moved up artillery, tanks and large numbers of troops. India has flown light tanks into Chushul and is expected to fight hard to retain its only important airfield near the Ladakh battle line.

Chushul airfield had been used to supply Indian forces fighting in the Ladakh area. It has been under Chinese artillery attack for several days.

The Foreign Ministry said it is planning to ask the United Nations to release 5,700 first-line troops with the U.N. force in the Congo and another 1,250 men in the Gaza Strip between Israel and the United Arab Republic.

Gov. Brown Takes Lead In California

By JOHN MORGANTHALER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown took an early lead over Republican Richard M. Nixon Tuesday night, as California voters turned out in what could be record numbers for an off-year election.

The surprisingly heavy vote in a state with a 4-3 Democratic edge in registration bolstered Brown's hopes of turning back the former vice president's bid for a political comeback.

Returns from 775 of 31,820 precincts, including 380 incomplete of Los Angeles' 11,980, showed Brown 42,008 and 31,654.

In Los Angeles, with 40 per cent of the state's voters, the turnout was estimated at 80 to 84 per cent. The 1958 record was 79 per cent, and pre-election forecasts this year were only 70 to 75 per cent. Democrats outnumber Republicans in the county by more than 500,000.

Both candidates were in Los Angeles for the count after a gruelling 15-month campaign, one of the hardest and most bitter in the state's history.

Republican Sen. Thomas Kuchel took a slim lead over Democrat Richard Richards, whom Kuchel defeated by 400,000 votes in 1956.

Returns from 672 precincts gave Kuchel 28,617, Richards 25,516.

Maryland Sends Daniel Brewster To Washington

Finan, Goldstein, Sickles Win Easily Over Republicans

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP)—Daniel B. Brewster highlighted a Democratic victory in Maryland Tuesday by becoming the first to go to the U. S. Senate since 1952 and J. Millard Tawes won his second four-year term as governor.

Although Tawes' 1958 winning margin of 206,000 dropped considerably, he managed to stay ahead of Frank Small Jr. from the first returns.

In 1,231 of 1,458 voting places, the vote was:

Tawes, D, 389,133
Small, R, 304,149

Staying with Tawes as the Democratic state administration team were Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan and Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

But the Democrats lost their 1st District seat in the House of Representatives where Thomas F. Johnson was defeated after two terms by the Republican newcomer, Rogers C. B. Morton.

However, the Democrats offset the loss by picking up new at-large seat for which Carlton R. Sickles defeated Newton I. Steers.

Four incumbent House Democrats, Edward Garmatz, George Fallon and Samuel Friedel in Baltimore City, and Richard Lankford in Southern Maryland, won re-election.

So did the only Republican from Maryland during the last session, Charles Mathias from Western Maryland.

The eighth Maryland seat had not been decided at a late hour due to sketchy returns from Baltimore County. Clarence Long, the Democrat, had a slim lead over Republican Fife Symington, for the 2nd District spot.

The unofficial votes in the other statewide contests were:

U.S. Senate, 1,012 of 1,458 polling places:
Brewster, D, 297,055
Miller, R, 195,402

Comptroller 1,012 of 1,458 polling places:
Goldstein, D, 297,237
Champion, R, 182,877

Attorney General, 1,004 of 1,458 polling places:
Finan, D, 279,819
Ferris, R, 176,171

Republicans Gain Three Seats In Maryland Senate

BALTIMORE (AP) — Republicans at least doubled their representation in the Maryland General Assembly with the first 16 counties heard from in Tuesday's election.

They had gained three senate seats for a total of six of the 29 in the chamber. They had boosted their house total from seven to 14.

Still unreported at that count were races in Baltimore, Carroll Charles, Dorchester, Kent, Montgomery and Prince Georges counties.

Republican incumbents Edward T. Hall of Calvert and Harry T. Phoebus of Somerset were re-elected. Joining them in early returns were Joseph W. Alton Jr., Anne Arundel's first GOP senator in this century; John A. Derr, former mayor of Frederick, Spencer W. Graham in Garrett County; and George R. Hughes Jr., a former delegate in Allegany.

Allegany and Garrett sent solid Republican delegates to the house for nine of the seats won by their party.

Harford voters defeated three of their four Democratic incumbents returning only W. Dale Hess. New Republican delegates from Harford are C. Stanley Blair, John W. Hardwicke and R. Wilson Scarff.

R. Noel Spence won a GOP seat from Washington County, which elected five Democratic delegates and reelected Democratic Sen. George Snyder. Incumbent Democratic Del. Gale B. Cohill was defeated.

Baltimore city's delegation will again be solid Democratic.

Wicomico County Takes First Step For Home Rule

SALISBURY (AP) — Wicomico County voters took a step toward home rule Tuesday by giving a five-member board the green light to draft a proposed charter.

The vote was 3,795 in favor of this step, 1,060 against.

This paved the way for the predesignated board to draw up a charter which would create a county council to replace the present board of county commissioners.

Voters in the 1964 election will determine whether the charter act ally goes into effect.

Commie Chairman Being Investigated

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mrs. Dorothy Healey, 47-year-old Southern California chairman of the U.S. Communist party, is to appear Wednesday before the Federal Subversive Activities Control Board on a petition filed by U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

Mrs. Healey, indicating she will not register as a subversive when she appears before the board, declared she i s not a subversive "and there is no evidence that I have done anything illegal or perpetrated an overt act against the United States."

Saudi Arabia Under Attack By UAR Navy

Diplomatic Break Follows Bombing Of Two Villages

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Saudi Arabia charged Tuesday that United Arab Republic naval units and planes were bombarding two villages in southwest Saudi Arabia and broke off diplomatic relations with the U.A.R.

A communique broadcast by the government-controlled Mecca radio said an air and naval attack began at noon Monday and was still under way.

The diplomatic break and reported attack created the widest fissure yet in the Middle East as a result of the republican revolution in Yemen. The Saudi Arabian and Jordanian monarchies are supporting Yemeni royalists in their bid to return to power, and the U.A.R. is supporting the Yemeni revolutionists.

Many Casualties

The communique said "great fatal casualties and property losses" occurred. It announced the Saudi government "reserves its absolute right to take whatever measures are necessary to defend the country against this overt aggression."

Backed by Nasser's planes, tanks and men, Yemeni revolutionary President Abdullah Sallal said in a statement quoted by the semiofficial U.A.R. Middle East News Agency that his government has decided to sieze Qizan and Najran, a border town 150 miles inland from the port.

Troops To Border

Saudi Premier Prince Faisal announced his armed forces are moving to the attacked border. He said so far the bombardment has not been accompanied by troop landings.

In an attempt to head off the peril of an inter-Arab shooting war over Yemen, President Nazam El Kudsi of Syria called for Pan-Arab mediation by kings and other heads of state of Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Lybia, Sudan, Lebanon and Iraq.

Cuba Is Hiding Arms In Caves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuban exiles said Tuesday first-hand reports from the island tell of dozens of underground installations and caves being used to hide missiles and nuclear weapons.

Herminio Portell Vila, a former professor at the University of Havana, said the Soviet Union's military advisers in Cuba have been furnished an extensive list of hiding places by a Cuban speleologist who spent years surveying and mapping Cuban caves.

Eusebio Mujal Barniol, former secretary general of the Cuban Confederation of Labor, said he has confidential reports from underground sources in Cuba that caves are being used to hide missiles and nuclear weapons. In addition, he said, the Cuban production of cement plus "fabulous amounts of cement imported from Czechoslovakia," are being used to build underground storage facilities for secret weapons.

Responsible government sources, however, discounted the reports of underground installations and said they are not provable.

AROUND THE WORLD THIS MORNING

By United Press International

MOSCOW: First Deputy Premier Alexei Kosygin ended the Soviet Union's U.S. election "moratorium" on the Berlin issue and launched a new diplomatic offensive for a German settlement. Speaking on the eve of the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, he also stoutly defended Russia's Cuban policies.

NEW DELHI: India announced it has driven back two small Chinese Communist attacks on the eastern end of the Sino-Indian border but warned of a Communist buildup near the vital Chusul air base in Ladakh at the western end. Demands grew for the full ouster of former Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon from the government.

HAVANA: A meeting between Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan and high Cuban officials was called off without explanation. There was no word why the talks, presumed to be in the dismantling of Soviet missile bases, were not held.

BERLIN: Communist East German leaders marked the end of the Soviet "moratorium" on Berlin with a barrage of demands for a peace treaty to oust the Western Allies. But there was no new deadline for a treaty.

PARIS: The French Constitutional Council ruled itself incompetent to rule on the constitutionality of President Charles de Gaulle's Oct. 28 referendum to permit direct elections of future French presidents. If the council had ruled otherwise, it could have forced De Gaulle's resignation.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.: Two top officials of the international Red Cross conferred with Acting Secretary General Thant on details of the proposed inspection of inbound Cuban cargo by their organization. U.S Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said the presence of Russian missile bases in Cuba prevented real negotiations on disarmament and a nuclear test ban treaty.

N.Y. Newspaper Strike Continues

NEW YORK (UPI) — Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz met with representatives of the New York Daily News and the American Newspaper Guild (AFL-CIO) in a joint session Tuesday in an effort to settle the six-day dispute which has forced the News to suspend publication.

Spokesmen for both the news and the guild declined to discuss the meeting, which lasted about an hour.

Deputy Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Leslie said there was "nothing new" to report. However, he said that current plans were for the federal team, including Wirtz, to remain in New York until the dispute is settled.

Soviets Strike Conciliatory Note On 45th Anniversary

By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government struck a conciliatory note Tuesday night on the Cuban crisis, and put out a vague hint of willingness to examine a new approach to the dangerous West Berlin problem.

A keynote speech, on the eve of the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, also carried an implied rebuttal to Communist Chinese displeasure with the Soviet backdown in the Cuban blockade confrontation.

Deputy Premier Alexei Kosygin, making the important speech in the Kremlin auditorium for the anniversary celebration, most important event of the Communist party's year, referred several times to "concessions" by both sides in the Cuban crisis.

While Kosygin employed the usual stock phrases to denounce U.S. "imperialism," the speech was notably lacking in saber-rattling. While Premier Khrushchev listened from his seat on the dais, the speaker used words like "compromise" in describing the Soviet leader's policy.

Discussing Berlin, Kosygin failed to put forward the usual Soviet threat of signing a peace treaty separately with Communist East Germany. The Kremlin has claimed such an act would automatically cancel Allied rights in West Berlin.

The speaker said signing a peace treaty with Germany would be the best solution for the Berlin problem, but he avoided demanding this under the threat of the separate pact with East Germany.

In Moscow that was viewed as an important change of tone, perhaps outlining a new approach to the German question.

The Red Chinese are believed here to espouse recklessly aggressive action by the world Communist movement and have indicated unhappiness with Khrushchev's policies.

"The Soviet people," said the crew-cut Kosygin, "cannot but deeply regret events on the Chinese-Indian border, where armed clashes took place and blood was spilled. This conflict benefits only the imperialists who are doing everything in their power to kindle war and break the age-old friendship between the great peoples of China and India."

"Our view is that a cease-fire and talks between India and the People's Republic of China on a reasonable basis would be a correct solution all the more so since there are no fundamental contradictions between India and the Chinese People's Republic, no difference which could not be solved at a round table conference," he added.

Voters Give Pres. Kennedy New Congress

Democrats Hold To Majority In Both Houses

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. voters Tuesday chose the Congress that will determine how far President Kennedy's legislative programs will get between now and the 1964 presidential election.

Before the votes were counted, Democrats were certain to retain control of the Senate and were favored to hold the House as well—but likely with a reduced margin. For the past two years it has been the House, with its large bloc of Southern Democrats often voting with Republicans, that has given Kennedy's legislative lieutenants most trouble.

Needed Only Eight

To be sure of a Senate majority, Democrats needed only to win as few as eight of the 39 seats to be filled. It was generally agreed they could hardly help taking substantially more than the minimum number—21 of the seats now are held by Democrats. Some spokesmen for the administration party predicted it would widen the 64-36 edge over Republicans which it held in the present Congress.

In the House, all 435 seats had to be filled and 218 are needed for control.

The Democrats held 263 seats in the outgoing Congress, to 174 for the Republicans.

Close Division

What would appear to be a big margin for the Kennedy administration often proved to be a close division—and sometimes an unfavorable one—when the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition went into action on a particular issue.

In a direct challenge to the coalition—a vote on enlarging the Rules Committee, a conservative stronghold —the administration won by only five votes.

Thus the loss of a few of Democratic seats would be a serious matter for Kennedy strategists.

This is the sort of loss foreshadowed by nationwide Associated Press surveys, which of coure reflect opinion and can never be mathematically certain. In any case the indicated net loss was small enough so that last-minute developments could cancel it out.

House Loses Two

Complicating all political prediction this year is the circumstance that, because of population shifts reflected in the 1960 census, nine states are gaining seats in the House and 16 are losing. Moreover, the total House membership drops from 437 to 435 because of the automatic elimination of the two extra seats added temporarily when Alaska and Hawaii were admitted as states.

Maj. Anderson Is Given Full Military Honors

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP)—Full military honors were arranged for the burial here today of Air Force Maj. Rudolf Anderson Jr., 35, who was killed when his reconnaissance plane was shot down over Cuba.

The pilot was taking high-altitude photos of Soviet missile installations in Cuba.

Havana radio claimed Anderson's plane was brought down by Cuba's antiaircraft defenses.

Anderson's body was returned Monday to Greenville, his home town, from Andrews Air Force Base. It was returned to the United States on Sunday night.

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Department of Education reports that a total of 668,369 pupils are attending public schools in Maryland this fall, an increase of 32,019 over last year.

The total breaks down this way: 281,078 pupils in high school, 361,503 in elementary schools and 25,788 in kindergartens. Baltimore City's enrollment is the largest with 180,750 pupils.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Harry J. Goett, director of the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, will be the speaker at the first meeting of the professional membership of the Maryland Academy of Sciences here next Monday.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The University of Maryland has been asked by the American Institute of Architects to establish a school of architecture and planning in Baltimore.

The Baltimore chapter of the AIA said Monday the absence of such a school in Baltimore is one of the city's greatest cultural deficiencies.

REHOBOTH BEACH, Del. (AP) — Officials of this Atlantic Ocean resort community have learned that federal funds are not available for reconstruction of the state's coastline.

A severe storm last Saturday caused an estimated $175,000 damage, mainly erosion of the protective sand barrier along the Oceanfront.

The Army Corps of Engineers advised the town Monday that repairs will have to be financed by the state or local governments.

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP) — Three students at Maryland State College have been indicted on a charge of raping of the dean of women at the Negro college.

Indictments were returned Monday against Melvin V. Arham, 22; Myles Anthony Davidson, 21, and Freeman Robert Thompson, 20, all of Norfolk, Va. They are being held in $5,000 bond each.

The dean, Mrs. Laura Jeanette Smith Irvin, 37, told police she heard a noise outside her apartment door and when she investigated, three youths threw a blanket over her head and assaulted her. The attack took place on Sept. 7.

DOVER, Del. (AP) — A man charged with attempting to have his wife killed will be arraigned Wednesday in Kent County Court of Common Pleas.

The trial for the defendant, James Howlett, 41, of Dover, is set for Nov. 14. He is accused of offering James Koone, 30, some $350 to kill Mrs. Howlette. Both men were arrested Oct. 5.

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — A fisherman was injured Tuesday when his boat exploded in Cambridge harbor.

David Michael Carr, about 40, of Cambridge, was admitted to Cambridge - Maryland Hospital with face and wrist burns. He was knocked into the water by the explosion and was rescued by two Tidewater Fisheries Commission inspectors.

The inspectors said the explosion apparently was caused by a fuel leak. The boat was demolished.

Lebanese Ship Goes Aground

LA CORUNA, Spain (AP)—The Lebanese ship George C., 5,559 tons, went aground on the Finisterre rocks during a severe storm Monday night but small boats from the Spanish port of Corcubion rescued the captain and 22 crewmen.

The vessel, en route from Ghent, Belgium, to the Dominican Republic with a cargo of chemicals, was considered a total loss, port authorities said.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The executive director of the State Department of Employment Security said Tuesday the department's youth unit may be reactivated — but only if a new plan for seeking employment for youth proves ineffective.

The youth unit is to be discontinued within the next 10 days under a reorganization plan suggested last month by the Labor Department.

The plan has been criticized by the Baltimore City Youth Commission and the Baltimore Committee on Youth Employment.

Stephen Cromwell, the executive director, said the department expects to increase its services to youth under the reorganization.

BALTIMORE (AP) — One of the six remaining public bath houses will be demolished soon by the city, thus erasing a vestige of an earlier era.

The free public baths were a tradition in Baltimore for almost 60 years. They were discontinued three years ago as an economy measure.

Robert G. Deitrich, head of the Bureau of Building Inspection, said the bathhouse at Greenmount Ave. and Monument St. has fallen into disrepair.

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad station here was held up by an armed bandit Monday night. The man escaped with $200 in cash and two checks.

Early Tally

of the house, and the former vice president sat down at a piano and picked out "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Home on the Range" and "The Missouri Waltz."

Truman Out Early

A man who has heard that last tune many times, former President Harry Truman, voted before dawn—"I haven't had my breakfast," he said. He spent less than a minute in the voting booth in Independence, Mo., then continued his regular early morning walk.

Another former President, Republican Gen. Eisenhower, voted at noon at Gettysburg, Pa. He and Mrs. Eisenhower then posed for pictures and returned to their estate on the edge of the Civil War battlefield.

Dirksen Overslept

At Pekin, Ill., Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen overslept and showed up two hours later than he had planned, saying he had worked late Monday night on his re-election campaign.

This was the political lineup prior to Tuesday's voting:

Senate—Now controlled by the Democrats 64 to 36. Of the total, 43 Democrats and 18 Republicans were not up this year. Thus the Democrats needed to elect only 8 to hold a working majority of 51. Of the 39 seats being filled this year, 21 are held by Democrats and 18 by Republicans.

House—Now controlled by the Democrats, 263 to 174, counting two vacant seats previously held by Democrats. The Republicans needed a net gain of 44 seats to win a majority of 218 in the new House. The House next year will revert to 435 seats compared to the present 437.

Elect 35 Governors

Governorships — Now dominated by Democrats, 34 to 16. Of the total, 35 were up for filling this year, 21 of them held by Democrats and 14 by Republicans.

Complicating the business of forecasting, was the Cuban crisis, which also served to keep the campaign off the front pages for much of the time in the closing weeks.

The President, when he announced to the nation on the night of Oct. 22 that this country had firm evidence of the introduction into Cuba of offensive Soviet nuclear missiles and bombers, cut out all campaigning.

Up until then, he had been campaigning vigorously, asking the voters to give him more Democrats who would vote for such portions of his legislative program as medical care for the aged through Social Security taxes, aid for education, more housing, more relief for areas of chronic unemployment.

Ike Enthusiastic

Kennedy's predecessor, Eisenhower, saw the record differently:

"The Washington record of these past 20 months," he said, "represents a picture of political connivance instead of statesmanship: of selfish grabs for power instead of respect for our concepts of balance in government; of arrogant assertion of Washington infallibility instead of readiness to trust in the wisdom of the American people."

Eisenhower kept on stumping to the end of the campaign, giving evidence of more political enthusiasm and fire than he had displayed in most of his eight years in the White House.

17 Hurt In Rough Airplane Ride

ROME (AP)—Seventeen passengers—including Italian movie producer Carlo Ponti, actress Sophia Loren's husband — were injured Tuesday when a Paris-to-Rome jet airliner hit rough air over the Alps.

Thirty-three passengers were aboard the plane.

Ponti and the other injured received medical treatment after the plane landed here. Several stitches were required to close a cut behind Ponti's ear.

Election Sets Stage For 1964 Campaigning

Little Change Seen In White House, Congress Relations

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The principal effect of Tuesday's elections was to set the stage for 1964.

Nobody expected any material change in the relation between Congress and the White House. So many variables are involved in the results of these races that attempts to establish trends boil down primarily to speculation.

There is enough common ground between the liberal conservatives and the radical conservatives—How's that for foreign-sounding political definitions?—to signify continuation of bipartisan approaches to domestic policies such as have become so familiar.

Cuba Is Factor

Indeed, this would have been true even if the Cuban crisis had not obscured all other issues in the public mind during the last weeks of the campaign.

Whole theories of government are involved in the liberal-conservative battle in the United States, and whole theories of government are brought to consistency not by an election, or a few elections, but by gradual accretion on one side or the other of national circumstances.

What we commonly call conservatism has been gaining because more people are doing pretty well and therefore have an interest in the status quo. It is in times of pressure, such as depression, that people turn to the major center of power to give it more power for change.

Social And Economic

Pursued to a logical conclusion, it may then be argued that the expected renewal of the administration effort for a stronger economy, if successful, actually militates against the parallel effort of the present administration for greater social change.

Thus deficit spending, centralization of power and the degree of governmental responsibility for the general welfare, or what the two schools of thought conceive to be the general welfare, remain as issues unchanged by the election, just as for 30 years.

This election, however, does not actually start the performance for 1964. It will increase the pace, but the actual start was when Nelson A. Rockefeller turned his search for re-election to the New York statehouse into a bid for an overwhelming state endorsement of his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

African Food Conference Ends

TUNIS (AP)—A 10-day U.N. conference on African food problems broke up Monday after four days because of a dispute over South Africa's race policy.

The conference, sponsored by the Food and Agricultural Organization, ended prematurely because South Africa insisted on attending over the protest of 22 newly independent African nations.

Moonshining Is Termed One Of Biggest Rackets In Nation

"Enforcement officials seize an average of 20,000 stills each year," Donovan said.

The illegal manufacturers have cheated state, federal and local governments out of $7 billion in tax levies in the same period, he added.

The Army Corps of Engineers advised the town Monday that repairs will have to be financed by the state or local governments.

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP) — Three students at Maryland State College have been indicted on a charge of raping of the dean of women at the Negro college.

Indictments were returned Monday against Melvin V. Arham, 22; Myles Anthony Davidson, 21, and Freeman Robert Thompson, 20, all of Norfolk, Va. They are being held in $5,000 bond each.

The dean, Mrs. Laura Jeanette Smith Irvin, 37, told police she heard a noise outside her apartment door and when she investigated, three youths threw a blanket over her head and assaulted her. The attack took place on Sept. 7.

DOVER, Del. (AP) — A man charged with attempting to have his wife killed will be arraigned Wednesday in Kent County Court of Common Pleas.

The trial for the defendant, James Howlett, 41, of Dover, is set for Nov. 14. He is accused of offering James Koone, 30, some $350 to kill Mrs. Howlette. Both men were arrested Oct. 5.

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — A fisherman was injured Tuesday when his boat exploded in Cambridge harbor.

David Michael Carr, about 40, of Cambridge, was admitted to Cambridge - Maryland Hospital with face and wrist burns. He was knocked into the water by the explosion and was rescued by two Tidewater Fisheries Commission inspectors.

The inspectors said the explosion apparently was caused by a fuel leak. The boat was demolished.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The executive director of the State Department of Employment Security said Tuesday the department's youth unit may be reactivated — but only if a new plan for seeking employment for youth proves ineffective.

The youth unit is to be discontinued within the next 10 days under a reorganization plan suggested last month by the Labor Department.

The plan has been criticized by the Baltimore City Youth Commission and the Baltimore Committee on Youth Employment.

Stephen Cromwell, the executive director, said the department expects to increase its services to youth under the reorganization.

BALTIMORE (AP) — One of the six remaining public bath houses will be demolished soon by the city, thus erasing a vestige of an earlier era.

The free public baths were a tradition in Baltimore for almost 60 years. They were discontinued three years ago as an economy measure.

Robert G. Deitrich, head of the Bureau of Building Inspection, said the bathhouse at Greenmount Ave. and Monument St. has fallen into disrepair.

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad station here was held up by an armed bandit Monday night. The man escaped with $200 in cash and two checks.

Lebanese Ship Goes Aground

LA CORUNA, Spain (AP)—The Lebanese ship George C., 5,559 tons, went aground on the Finisterre rocks during a severe storm Monday night but small boats from the Spanish port of Corcubion rescued the captain and 22 crewmen.

The vessel, en route from Ghent, Belgium, to the Dominican Republic with a cargo of chemicals, was considered a total loss, port authorities said.

of the house, and the former vice president sat down at a piano and picked out "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Home on the Range" and "The Missouri Waltz."

Truman Out Early

A man who has heard that last tune many times, former President Harry Truman, voted before dawn—"I haven't had my breakfast," he said. He spent less than a minute in the voting booth in Independence, Mo., then continued his regular early morning walk.

Another former President, Republican Gen. Eisenhower, voted at noon at Gettysburg, Pa. He and Mrs. Eisenhower then posed for pictures and returned to their estate on the edge of the Civil War battlefield.

Dirksen Overslept

At Pekin, Ill., Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen overslept and showed up two hours later than he had planned, saying he had worked late Monday night on his re-election campaign.

This was the political lineup prior to Tuesday's voting:

Senate—Now controlled by the Democrats 64 to 36. Of the total, 43 Democrats and 18 Republicans were not up this year. Thus the Democrats needed to elect only 8 to hold a working majority of 51. Of the 39 seats being filled this year, 21 are held by Democrats and 18 by Republicans.

House—Now controlled by the Democrats, 263 to 174, counting two vacant seats previously held by Democrats. The Republicans needed a net gain of 44 seats to win a majority of 218 in the new House. The House next year will revert to 435 seats compared to the present 437.

Elect 35 Governors

Governorships — Now dominated by Democrats, 34 to 16. Of the total, 35 were up for filling this year, 21 of them held by Democrats and 14 by Republicans.

Complicating the business of forecasting, was the Cuban crisis, which also served to keep the campaign off the front pages for much of the time in the closing weeks.

The President, when he announced to the nation on the night of Oct. 22 that this country had firm evidence of the introduction into Cuba of offensive Soviet nuclear missiles and bombers, cut out all campaigning.

Up until then, he had been campaigning vigorously, asking the voters to give him more Democrats who would vote for such portions of his legislative program as medical care for the aged through Social Security taxes, aid for education, more housing, more relief for areas of chronic unemployment.

Ike Enthusiastic

Kennedy's predecessor, Eisenhower, saw the record differently:

"The Washington record of these past 20 months," he said, "represents a picture of political connivance instead of statesmanship; of selfish grabs for power instead of respect for our concepts of balance in government; of arrogant assertion of Washington infallibility instead of readiness to trust in the wisdom of the American people."

Eisenhower kept on stumping to the end of the campaign, giving evidence of more political enthusiasm and fire than he had displayed in most of his eight years in the White House.

Thirty-three passengers were aboard the plane.

Ponti and the other injured received medical treatment after the plane landed here. Several stitches were required to close a cut behind Ponti's ear.

Election Sets Stage For 1964 Campaigning

Little Change Seen In White House, Congress Relations

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The principal effect of Tuesday's elections was to set the stage for 1964.

Nobody expected any material change in the relation between Congress and the White House. So many variables are involved in the results of these races that attempts to establish trends boil down primarily to speculation.

There is enough common ground between the liberal conservatives and the radical conservatives—How's that for foreign-sounding political definitions?—to signify continuation of bipartisan approaches to domestic policies such as have become so familiar.

Cuba Is Factor

Indeed, this would have been true even if the Cuban crisis had not obscured all other issues in the public mind during the last weeks of the campaign.

Whole theories of government are involved in the liberal-conservative battle in the United States, and whole theories of government are brought to consistency not by an election, or a few elections, but by gradual accretion on one side or the other of national circumstances.

What we commonly call conservatism has been gaining because more people are doing pretty well and therefore have an interest in the status quo. It is in times of pressure, such as depression, that people turn to the major center of power to give it more power for change.

Social And Economic

Pursued to a logical conclusion, it may then be argued that the expected renewal of the administration effort for a stronger economy, if successful, actually militates against the parallel effort of the present administration for greater social change.

Thus deficit spending, centralization of power and the degree of governmental responsibility for the general welfare, or what the two schools of thought conceive to be the general welfare, remain as issues unchanged by the election, just as for 30 years.

This election, however, does not actually start the performance for 1964. It will increase the pace, but the actual start was when Nelson A. Rockefeller turned his search for re-election to the New York statehouse into a bid for an overwhelming state endorsement of his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

African Food Conference Ends

TUNIS (AP)—A 10-day U.N. conference on African food problems broke up Monday after four days because of a dispute over South Africa's race policy.

The conference, sponsored by the Food and Agricultural Organization, ended prematurely because South Africa insisted on attending over the protest of 22 newly independent African nations.

Moonshining Is Termed One Of Biggest Rackets In Nation

"Enforcement officials seize an average of 20,000 stills each year," Donovan said.

The illegal manufacturers have cheated state, federal and local governments out of $7 billion in tax levies in the same period, he added.

Indian Guides Get Thrill Of Driving Auto

OXFORD, Md. (AP) — Those two Cree Indian hunting guides from northern Canada who are visiting civilization for the first time have found driving a car somewhat different from tracking game.

Their host, Francis C. Cole, let Walter Katapatuk try driving his car this week on a dirt road on a farm near Easton. The other visiting Cree, James Frank, sat gleefully in the back seat.

The driving test wasn't exactly a howling success.

Cole, sitting beside Katapatuk in the front seat, started the engine and then pressed the button to engage the automatic transmission.

Katapatuk started smoothly enough, then, gaining confidence, tromped down heavily on the accelerator. The car shot forward, headed for a thicket, and Katapatuk froze at the wheel.

Cole finally wrested the wheel from him after they had scraped a few trees. When the car finally stopped, Katapatuk threw back his head and roared with laughter. Frank, in the back seat, joined in the laughter — as he mopped his brow of perspiration.

Cole, whose casual invitation prompted the visit by Katapatuk and James, let James handle the return trip at the wheel. James managed it without incident.

Illegal Campaign Leaflets Flood Washington Co.

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — States attorney James F. Strine investigated Tuesday a pre-election day flood of campaign literature designed to discredit George Snyder, Democratic candidate for the state Senate from Washington County.

Walter K. Orris, 67, Salisbury, was arrested on a drunken charge and was being questioned about the literature. Orris had been distributing the leaflets in taverns Monday night, Strine said.

Strine said the literature, which was unsigned, violated Maryland's Corrupt Practices Act. The leaflets had been mailed to Washington County citizens Sunday night, Strine said, but Orris was the first lead his office had in determining who was responsible for them.

The leaflets, employing a "reverse psychology" technique, urged the election of Democrats in such a way that voters would react in the opposite manner, Strine said.

Orris was taken to Washington County Hospital, Strine said, after he suffered a seizure during questioning.

Snyder's opponent for the state Senate seat is Republican D. Keller Ridenour.

Income Rises

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Signal Oil and Gas Co. Tuesday announced net income for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1962, had increased 68 per cent over the same period last year to $14,871,000.

The total was equal to $1.46 per share on 10,184,022 shares outstanding. Sales for the period amounted to $262,027,000 as compared to $252,686,000 for the same period last year.

Md. Traffic Toll Is 484

By The Associated Press

A 5-year-old girl was killed in Harford County Tuesday as she darted in front of a car near her home, State Police reported.

The victim, Cathryn Sexton, was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Myrtle Boggs, 53, of Bel Air. The girl was dead on arrival at Harford Memorial Hospital in Havre de Grace, where the accident happened.

The death pushed the 1962 statewide fatality toll to 484, an increase of 111 over the figure for a corresponding period last year.

Two persons died in traffic accidents late Monday. Cary Michael Davis, 16, of Ellicott City, was killed when his car failed to make a turn on Gorman Road near Scaggsville in Howard County, left the road and struck a culvert and utility pole.

James C. Brown, 29, of Brandywine, in Prince Georges County, was killed in an accident near Waldorf.

State Police in Pikesville reported Tuesday that alcohol continues to be a major factor in the high death toll. The report stated that 12 persons were killed in Maryland during the seven-day period ending Sunday at midnight, and that alcohol was a factor in four of the deaths.

Pollack Denies Any Support To Frank Small

BALTIMORE (AP) — A rival Democratic group charged Tuesday that Jack Pollack, northwest Baltimore party leader, was backing Republican Frank Small Jr. for governor. But Pollack denied the charge.

The forces headed by City Council President Philip Goodman produced a ballot issued under the authority of Amy Baker, which bore the names of Small and Republican John C. Woodland for state Senate.

All other candidates listed on the ballot were Democrats. No choice was indicated for state attorney general.

Pollack, asked about the ballot, replied, "It isn't mine."

He himself was passing out ballots which listed no recommendation for governor. Pollack has taken the position publicly that he is a Democrat and, if he does not like the Democratic candidate, he will say nothing.

The ballots which recommended Small were being distributed in the city's 5th Legislative District.

Small said Monday night he had heard a rumor that a Pollack ballot bearing his name would be circulated. The Republican candidate said he had not solicited the Democratic leader's support and had "specifically instructed my campaign aides to have no dealings with the man."

FBI Charges Instructor Of Molesting Small Boys

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — An assistant instructor in language at the University of Maryland was arrested here Tuesday by the FBI and charged with sexually molesting five boys.

Thomas J. Jenkins, agent in charge of the Baltimore office of the FBI, said Charles Philip Thompson, 24, is charged in a warrant with molesting three 9-year-old boys and two 10-year-old boys while he was director of a summer camp at Andrews Air Force Base for military dependents last summer. He was arrested at the home of his parents.

The FBI said that Thompson occupied a cabin in the camp, and that some of the boys were required to spend a night there as a disciplinary measure and others because of illness.

The FBI said Thompson, who is not married, is an assistant instructor and graduate student at College Park. He is a graduate of the University of Maryland and studied at the universities of Munich and Cologne, Germany.

Thompson was counsellor of the camp for five years before becoming director, the FBI said, and also teaches at the Frederick Community College. He also is active in youth organizations in the Washington area.

Thompson appeared before U.S. Commissioner W. H. Meloy in upper Marlboro, waived preliminary hearing, and was released under $1,000 bond pending action by U.S. District Court in Baltimore.

Md. Assessments Top $11 Billion

BALTIMORE (AP) — The taxable value of property in Maryland will climb above the $11 billion mark next year, state assessment authorities said Tuesday.

Albert W. Ward, director of the State Department of Assessments and Taxation, said the value on which state and local officials levy property taxes will increase by 6 per cent.

He said it is an indication of the economic health of the state.

If the state's property tax is maintained at its present 15-cent level, it would bring in $1,688,491,000 during 1963.

The tax rate for next year will be set Nov. 13 by the Board of Public Works.

The largest increase, an 11 per cent growth in the taxable base, was reported in Howard County.

Md. Assessments Top $11 Billion

BALTIMORE (AP) — The taxable value of property in Maryland will climb above the $11 billion mark next year, state assessment authorities said Tuesday.

Albert W. Ward, director of the State Department of Assessments and Taxation, said the value on which state and local officials levy property taxes will increase by 6 per cent.

He said it is an indication of the economic health of the state.

If the state's property tax is maintained at its present 15-cent level, it would bring in $1,688,491,000 during 1963.

The tax rate for next year will be set Nov. 13 by the Board of Public Works.

The largest increase, an 11 per cent growth in the taxable base, was reported in Howard County.

Livestock Show Opens At Timonium

TIMONIUM (AP) — More than 1,500 beef cattle, lambs and hogs will be competing for some $52,000 in prize money at the Eastern National Livestock Show, which begins Saturday.

Entries have come from 20 states for the six-day event at the Maryland State fairgrounds here.

Among the exhibitors are former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ohio industrialist Cyrus Eaton.

The second annual Eastern National Quarter Horse Show also begins Saturday at the fairgrounds.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Hasty Dressing Leads To Imperfect Results

I doubt that anyone can dress faster than the professional models who parade exquisitely in the great fashion shows — that is, and look attractive. Between frequent appearances in any show, they must change from the "skin out" and any mishap would be a costly loss in prestige. I asked one of our models to tell you what she considers important in effecting a lightning change.

"In the big shows, almost every dress, particularly with the styles this year, calls for its own special type of foundation. There are just two ways of donning girdles with the utmost speed, the least flurry and the least chance of damage.

"If it's an all-elastic girdle, fold it in half. Then step into it and pull it carefully into the proper place on the hips; next roll up the top to fit smoothly.

"If it's a boned type with zipper or hooks, step into it, making sure that the center front is straight. Next, pull it up to a height several inches above its final anchorage and close the fasteners. Then coax it downward into the just-right position. This gives the smoothest line.

"Bras fit better and last longer if you slide the shoulder straps over your shoulders and then bend forward from the waist while you fasten the hooks. Finish by standing erect and then giving the elastic band at the back a downward tug. Of course you must always make certain the straps are even and as snug as comfort permits.

"To make sure that you neither snag nor stretch a stocking, you must turn stockings inside out and very gradually roll them into position, making sure that your seams are straight. Inspect this straightness before fastening garters.

"A model can't risk breaking a shoulder strap on her slip. So we always put both hands through the straps, fit one into place, slide the head through the opening, then adjust the other strap and smooth the slip evenly downward.

"When we wear a dress or sweater that slips over the head, we always put it on before we make up to avoid smudges. To keep powder from dusting down onto a frock, we always wear a cosmetic cape while putting on makeup."

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

In these days of modern travel wee ones often fly before they walk. If you take a "flyer" with baby, it's helpful to remember these hints:

- When you make reservations, alert the airline about baby—for the stewardess' convenience and yours.
- A bottle at take-off time is desirable. Sucking distracts baby and relieves discomfort sometimes caused by altitude changes.
- A favorite toy helps while away flying time when baby's awake.

At or away from home, I think you'll find Gerber Baby Pants a blessing for both baby and you.

They have built-in comfort and protection because they're made of whisper-soft polyvinyl film that's waterproof, leakproof, acid-proof. Yes, Gerber baby pants are machine washable . . . will last (and stay soft) through many, many washings. Medium, large, extra-large, in pull-on or snap-on styles.

Stay-put strategy. Why is it that babies bounce around best when you're getting them dressed or diapered? Guess clothes just plain "cramp their style." Diversions that may help to still those squirms: (1) A favorite squeak toy to hold or a Gerber Teething Biscuit to munch. (2) A spot of lively music from you or your radio. (3) Assorted funny faces or silly sounds.

A nutrition memo from Dan Gerber, "Improving the food values of your baby's vegetables is a continuing Gerber research project. Take Gerber Carrots. In one experiment alone, 30 varieties of carrots were grown to find the ones with the highest vitamin-A value and the best flavor and color. After harvesting, each variety was processed, evaluated for nutritive values and color, then flavor-tested by taste experts." Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Hasty Dressing Leads To Imperfect Results

I doubt that anyone can dress faster than the professional models who parade exquisitely in the great fashion shows — that is, and look attractive. Between frequent appearances in any show, they must change from the "skin out" and any mishap would be a costly loss in prestige. I asked one of our models to tell you what she considers important in effecting a lightning change.

"In the big shows, almost every dress, particularly with the styles this year, calls for its own special type of foundation. There are just two ways of donning girdles with the utmost speed, the least flurry and the least chance of damage.

"If it's an all-elastic girdle, fold it in half. Then step into it and pull it carefully into the proper place on the hips; next roll up the top to fit smoothly.

"If it's a boned type with zipper or hooks, step into it, making sure that the center front is straight. Next, pull it up to a height several inches above its final anchorage and close the fasteners. Then coax it downward into the just-right position. This gives the smoothest line.

"Bras fit better and last longer if you slide the shoulder straps over your shoulders and then bend forward from the waist while you fasten the hooks. Finish by standing erect and then giving the elastic band at the back a downward tug. Of course you must always make certain the straps are even and as snug as comfort permits.

"To make sure that you neither snag nor stretch a stocking, you must turn stockings inside out and very gradually roll them into position, making sure that your seams are straight. Inspect this straightness before fastening garters.

"A model can't risk breaking a shoulder strap on her slip. So we always put both hands through the straps, fit one into place, slide the head through the opening, then adjust the other strap and smooth the slip evenly downward.

"When we wear a dress or sweater that slips over the head, we always put it on before we make up to avoid smudges. To keep powder from dusting down onto a frock, we always wear a cosmetic cape while putting on makeup."

B&O Starts New Fast Freight Service

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has inaugurated a new fast freight service from Chicago to the New York Metropolitan area at Jersey City on a schedule of 24 hours and 30 minutes, a cut of one hour and 15 minutes from existing schedule.

The train, named the New Yorker, will operate at passenger train speeds up to 70 miles per hour and handle trailers on flat cars, livestock, perishables and freight in box cars.

The Time-Saver service, B&O's previously faster schedule into New York, was limited to a much narrower range of commodities.

The New Yorker leaves Chicago at 12:30 a. m. (CST), one hour and 15 minutes later than the Time-Saver, and arrives one hour earlier in Philadelphia at 9:50 p. m. EST and 30 minutes earlier in Jersey City at 2 a. m. EST, the following morning.

C. T. Walton, Cumberland Division superintendent, said the eastbound train stops in Cumberland only long enough to change crews and cabooses.

It arrives here at 3:40 p. m. daily and departs from the Mexico Farms yards at 4:05 p. m.

No cars are added to or taken from the New Yorker in Cumberland, but additional cars for Philadelphia and New York are received at Willard, Ohio, and Connellsville and New Castle and added to the rear of the train.

The New Yorker is a "main tracker" one that moves through intermediate terminals on the main track where loads are added expeditiously in one move.

Scout Leaders To Start Course

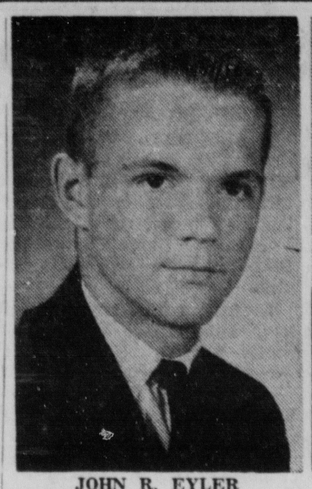

A Boy Scout leaders' basic training course will start today for adults and parents interested in Scouting in the Tri-Valley District.

Julian G. Patrick, district chairman of leadership training, said the course will be held in the library of Potomac State College, Keyser.

The first session will be devoted to an explanation of what is Boy Scouting; the second session, November 14, to troop operations; and the third, November 28, to meetings and activities.

Veteran Scout leaders will be instructors, Patrick said.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special)—A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calms anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma—the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of suffocation. All without vaccines, painful shots or habit-forming drugs. This formula is so safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in tiny tablets called BRONITIN®.

Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages become blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and less and less oxygen can enter. Now BRONITIN, with two asthma relieving medicines that doctors prescribe for their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The result is: free breathing is restored, tension eased and so fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to restful sleep.

Line Repairs Cut Loss Of Water Here

New Rig Slated To Speed Work

More than two dozen leaks in the old water transmission which serves the City of Cumberland have been repaired this summer by crews from the Lake Gordon filtration plant, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

He said closing of the leaks has resulted in a saving of about 1,000,000 gallons of water each day, explaining that metered water consumption has dropped by that amount "while we are selling more water than ever."

Mr. Light said the work is being done by maintenance men from the filter plant under the direction of Ray Nixon, plant foreman.

Repairs to the reinforced concrete line wil continue, Mr. Light said, until cold weather halts all except emergency repairs.

Praises Repairs

He said the repair crew has been doing a fine job, explaining that Mr. Nixon's crew digs down below the damaged section, prepares forms and encases the broken section in concrete for a permanent job.

Beginning next week, the department will begin making use of its new back hoe.

Mr. Light said the heavy-duty crawler rig will expedite repairs. For some time, the department has rented a backhoe from a local contractor.

Mr. Light said he believes the backhoe, which cost about $8,700 with trade, will pay for itself in a reasonable time.

Crew Is Smaller

He said that by the time al of the leaks in the 50-year-old line are repaired, it is fairly sure that other leaks will develop, and that the rig can be used in some parts of the city.

Its use here wil be limited, however, to unpaved streets, since it is equipped with metal cleats designed for rough going and not paved surfaces.

Mr. Light said repairs to the nine-mile line are being made by the regular maintenance crew of the filter plant, which is smaller than when he took over the department.

The crew at the dam now includes one foreman, four plant operators, five maintenance men, one laboratory technician, a caretaker and a janitor.

In the 1950s, output per man-hour in non-agricultural industry rose about 2 per cent annually compared to 6.5 per cent for agriculture.

Declare Emergency In Equator Prov.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu has decreed a state of emergency in the eastern part Equator Province. Reports said at least 30 people had been killed there in tribal fighting.

The Leopoldville paper Courrier D'Afrique said fighting started over how Equator was to be divided into new provinces.

The presidential decree appointed a commissioner to rule the area in the name of the central government.

November 15 Deadline For Parcel Mailing

November 15 is the deadline for insuring delivery of Christmas parcels for members of the Armed Forces overseas. Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said yesterday that it is more urgent this year that the deadline be observed because of the international situation and the diversion of military personnel on short notice.

The November 15 date is for mailing of Christmas parcels by surface transportation. For airmail the period is December 1 to December 10. Greeting cards for the Armed Forces should be mailed within the periods designated for parcels if they are to have a reasonable expectation of delivery prior to Christmas.

The term Armed Forces overseas includes personnel of our Armed Forces, members of their families, and authorized U. S. civilians employed overseas, who received their mail through an APO, New York, N. Y., San Francisco, Calif., or Seattle, Wash., or Fleet Post Office, New York, N. Y., or San Francisco, Calif., or Navy Post Office, c/o Postmaster, Seattle, Wash.

All articles should be packed in boxes of wood, metal, solid fiberboard, or strong double faced corrugated fiberboard. The fiberboard boxes should be securely wrapped in heavy paper which materially strengthens the package. Each box should be well tied with strong cord. Unless completely packed and tightly filled, boxes are likely to be crushed. Sufficient cushioning material should be used to prevent any rattling or loosening of articles within the package.

A slip showing list of contents and addressee should be enclosed in the parcel.

In addition to the articles normally prohibited in the mails matches of all kinds and lighter fluid may not be mailed to overseas military addresses. Cigarettes, other tobacco products, coffee, and various other items are prohibited in parcels addressed to some military post offices.

Mr. Conlon emphasized that addressed must be legible and complete and should be prepared by typewriter or pen and ink.

Bel Air Asks Data On Water, Sewage Plan

Bel Air, in Harford County, has asked Mayor Earl D. Chaney for information on the plan to coordinate water and sewage facilities in this county.

Werner Buchal, chairman of the Bel Air Commissioners, this week wrote that he was interested in the report on the plan presented by Mayor Chaney at the recent Maryland Municipal League meeting in Hagerstown.

He said Bel Air would like to have copies of any written reports or plans devised by the advisory committee, especially about sewer extensions from the city into the county, and who pays for what.

The Mayor yesterday informed Mr. Buchal that he will keep Bel Air informed on progress made by the commission and forward any reports as they are presented.

The first report of the commission headed by William A. Douglas will be presented at a meeting today at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall auditorium.

Officials are urging broad public representation at the meeting.

Faced with a projected increase of 83 per cent in population by the year 2000, the U.S. will need to increase food production by 2½ times the present rate to meet the country's needs.

During the last 25 years the cost of food has increased less than the cost of housing, transportation, and rent.

New Process Makes Wood Mar-Proof

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chemistry has come to the aid of hostesses by developing a new wood finish that resists marring.

The new process is ideal for the homemaker who likes the burn and stain-resistance of plastic laminated tables, but prefers the natural beauty of wood finishes.

G. A. Snyder, President of Period Tables, Inc., Henderson, Ky., says furniture treated with the process has mar resistance "equal or superior to that of high pressure plastic laminates, and is competitive in price."

Even a lighted cigarette will not harm a table top treated with the process, according to Donald H. Gott, secretary-manager of the American Walnut Manufacturers' Association.

Called "finishield," the process involves fusing three sandwich-like layers. The first is a thin sheet of aluminum foil which dissipates heat and prevents scorch or burn marks.

A wood veneer is placed on top of the foil and the "top of the sandwich" consists of a laminated overlay of an orlon acrylic fiber saturated with dapon. The sheet is bonded to the wood veneer at a relatively low pressure at temperatures of 300-500 degrees Fahrenheit.

Under the heat and pressure, the sheet becomes invisible and the dapon laminate is forced into the wood, producing a matt finish of natural wood.

The system was developed after 10 years of research by the Aluminum Corporation of America, Du Pont, Food Machinery and Chemical Corp., and the Fine Hardwoods Association.

It has passed the 10 minute cigarette burn test and various stain tests of the National Electrical Manufacturers' Association.

First introduced last spring at the Midwest International Hotel and Motel Show in Chicago, some furniture makers now use the process on office and home furniture.

The consumer will find an identification tag on furniture treated with the mar-proof coating which reads "daponite" or "finishield."

Robert Weaver Shoots Self

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 22-year-old adopted son of Federal Housing Director Robert Weaver shot himself in the head Tuesday night when he playfully put what he thought was an unloaded gun to his temple, police reported.

Robert Weaver Jr., a Negro, was in critical condition when rushed to Mother Cabrini Hospital.

His wife, Aida, 21, reported that he had clicked the gun "a whole bunch of times at the wall and floor" in their apartment. "Then he clicked it at his head and it went off," she said.

The bullet struck Weaver in the right temple.

Weaver works in Manhattan as a salesman. He and his wife have two children, Elizabeth, 3, and Theresa, 5 weeks.

'Answer Ma'am'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lynn George is the nation's newest "Answer Ma'am."

She's the television guide treating New Yorkers to something delightfully new — a complete information service right on the television set in their hotel rooms in the big town.

Lynn finds versatility is the keynote.

During a typical show she announces the weather and the news, comments on the theater and ticket availability, gives out sightseeing and entertainment tips, and even passes along shopping hints.

The new service TELEGUIDE, a closed circuit television network, now reaches over 30 Manhattan hotels and an estimated weekly audience of 70,000. The station is on the air 18 hours a day, commencing at 7 a.m.

Prior to tackling television, Lynn helped answer questions of an estimated 5,000 visitors a day. She was spokeswoman for sponsors of industrial exhibits in the Grand Central Station.

She recalls being asked everything from What Stocks Should I buy in the market?" to "How do I get to Chicago?" Countless were the requests for her phone number.

Lynn's married, has a little boy who'll be one next month and she owns a cute standard poodle.

Mormons Touch Off Real Estate Boom In Illinois

NAUVOO, Ill. (UPI)—A Mormon schism which began 118 years ago has touched off a Midwest real estate boom and revitalized a sleepy village which once was Illinois' largest city.

The boom in this once-thriving Mississi ppi River port of 20,000 persons began when the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, headquartered in Salt Lake City Utah, began buying back the property from which the Mormons were driven in 1846.

Next year the church plans to spend "several hundred thousand dollars" on the community, which has been designated a "registered national historic landmark."

Nauvoo, now a village of 1,250, is buzzing with rumors concerning the restoration work being done by the Utah church and the rival Reorganized Church of Latter-day Saints, headquartered at Independence, Mo.

There is a report that if either of the Mormon churches obtains 400 acres of land at Nauvoo the the area will become a national park or a national monument.

The National Park Service (NPS) denies this but a spokesman said the federal agency has explored the possibility of designating aNauvoo a "national historic site," qualifying the community for federal advice but not funds. The NPS said "there is no likelihood now" that it will acquire a Nauvoo site.

"Registered national historic landmark" status entitled Nauvoo to a certificate and a bronze plaque—nothing more.

Another report in the community is that the Mormon temple, upon which the sect spent $1 million between 1841-46, will be reconstructed. 7

If true, there was no official confirmation.

Dr. Melvin Fowler, curator of North American archeology at Southern Illinois University (SIU), which has a contract from the Utah church to excavate foundations at the temple site, said he does not know the church's plans.

The Utah church said it has formed Nauvoo Restoration nc., to restore about 125 acres of the town to the "elegance it enjoyed" in 1864. Included in the tract are about 15 historic homes. The church made no announcement of its plans for the temple site.

The original temple, still not completed when the Mormons left for Utah, burned in 1848 two years after the Mormons left.

Both Mormon churches trace their origin to the prophet of the faith, Joseph Smith, born in 1805 at Sharon, Vt. The family later moved to Palmyra, N.Y., and then to Manchester, N.Y.

The Mormons moved west from New York to Kirtland, Ohio, and then to Missourimto escape religious persecution. In 1839 they were driven from Missouri and went to Nauvoo, where Smith laid out a model community—four homes to a block with gardens intervening, an industrial district, an arsenal, schools, shops, farms, a newspaper and the temple. The Mormons planned to create a community of 100,000 persons within two decades. Before they were expelled from Nauvoo after seven year, the population reached 20,000.

The prosperous, polygamous Mormons were not popular with their non-Mormon neighbors. In 1844, Smith and his brother, Hyrum, were arrested.

On June 27, while supposedly under protection of state troops, Smith and his brother were shot to death by a mob while held in a second floor cell at Carthage, Ill. jail.

Less than two years later the bulk of Nauvoo's Mormon population, led by Brigham Young, fled Utah. A smaller group remained behind, recognizing Smith's young son as the legitimate head of the church. This group became, in 1872, the Reorganized Church of Latter-day Saints with headquarters at Independence, Mo.

Smith and his brother are buried at Nauvoo.

After the bulk of the Mormons left, the Icarians, a French communal movement, skilled in cheesemaking, came to Nauvoo in 1849. The Icarian colony of 500 persons soon failed and the Germans, refugees from the unrest and revolutions of mid-19th Century Europe, succeeded them. With them, the Germans brought the skill of winemaking. Nauvoo remains known for its red and white Concord grape wine.

Aside from winemaking—which has declined somewhat since World War II with many of the vineyards torn up to make room for other fruit crops—and cheesemaking Nauvoo's major industry is tourists.

Nauvoo real estate dealers—there are many—will tell you that the sleepy old river town is well along the way toward becoming a Midwest "Williamsburg."

No Time For Relaxation

It must not be supposed that the Cuban problem is in any substantial measure resolved. It may have been heightened.

The U. S. is no more prepared than ever to accept the Castro government. It is contrary to American heritage and policy, and even without missile capability it will remain a threat to the whole hemisphere.

Castro was implicated in the destruction of the Venezuelan oil refineries. The United States is not prepared to tolerate the repetition of such incidents in this hemisphere. Nor can other Cuban attempts at subversion or aggression in Latin America be condoned.

Khrushchev is a master at backing away—or seeming to—from untenable positions. On three occasions he has withdrawn ultimatums on Berlin. His retaliation has taken the form of "the wall" and of the attempt to flank the U. S. through Cuba.

The danger that now confronts the United States is one of relaxation. Often, as some wise man has said, the greatest peril comes in the wake of the apparent crisis, when a person (or nation) has his guard down and wants to rest.

U. S. power must not be frittered away by negotiation or relaxation at the precise point when its value has been proved conclusively.

Recent events have again proved an age-old axiom: That peace can only be defended by a willingness to go to war. And the corollary is that the ability and willingness to wage war successfully is the best assurance that a nation will not have to do so.

The United Nations Crisis

"The Cuban and Indian wars can affect the United Nations more than either its advocates or its adversaries seem to recognize.

As regards India, the United Nations has done nothing. The enemy in that situation is Red China which is not a member of the United Nations and therefore not subject to its jurisdiction. But it would be impressed by the might of the United Nations, if it had any. India is a member of the United Nations, a very influential member and the leader of the neutralist group.

Here is a case where a member is attacked by a non-member and the United Nations is silent, just as it has been silent about Tibet when a non-member was attacked and conquered by a non-member.

There is evidence in the Indian situation that the United Nations cannot function efficiently to maintain world peace; that when Great Powers are involved or war is actually occurring, the United Nations can do nothing because of the veto power in the Security Council and the politics played by small nations.

U Thant's visit to Cuba was ridiculous. If his object was to get Castro to obey Khrushchev, the question must be why. Here is a situation which involves three members of the United Nations, two permanent members of the Security Council and one member that is a pinch of snuff. The smaller member is in a position to force the two Great Powers to fight and to bring on a world war.

Can the United Nations do anything about it? Apparently not. U Thant and a body of United Nations representatives went to Cuba, sat with Castro and his associates, talked and returned to New York. Nothing was accomplished, and Khrushchev sent Mikoyan to see what he could do.

The fact is that the small nations can bring on a war between the big powers. Thus, the small nations have become a nuisance. They cannot defend themselves, but they can develop situations which will force the Great Powers to come to their defense. Thus, Cuba, unless abandoned by Soviet Russia, can bring on a war between Soviet Russia and the United States. By being weak and backward and playing meaningless power politics, India may involve all the world in war. The fault is India's. That country has received sufficient aid from both the United States and Soviet Russia to defend its boundaries. What has it done with the aid?

The tiny countries on the west coast of Africa and in the sub-Saharan areas strut about the United Nations as though they were a real force in world affairs. Actually, they count for little or nothing, except that they have votes in the General Assembly. A few bombs dropped by either Russia or the United States can put them out of existence. They cannot sustain themselves economically or militarily. They are in fact, a menace to world peace because their votes in the United Nations have a purchase price.

There is no use deceiving oneself about this matter of price because in the history of nations there have been all sorts of prices for services rendered. The Hessians and the Ghurkas have not been the only mercenaries in man's long travail, and competition between the United States and Soviet Russia currently does provide weak and backward nations with lend-lease and military and economic aid. These are evidences that the practice of taking practical care of a neighbor continues and expensively so.

U Thant could have done a constructive job in Cuba. He could have made an objective report; he made a neutral report. He is a Burmese and although an international official of the United Nations nevertheless he is a neutral.

There is a tremendous difference between objectivity and neutrality. The objective reporter states what he sees truthfully without regard to anyone's feelings or interests. The neutral seeks to avoid hurting anyone's feelings. Instead of telling the truth, he seeks a middle course. He is liable to cause more trouble than originally existed. Certainly U Thant did not rescue the world from an atomic war; he renewed and intensified the danger.

It is about time that the United States restudied and revised its attitude toward its relationship with the United Nations. Undoubtedly, there are some values, but they are not those which are inscribed in the Charter. What might have been a parliament of man has become a vent for politicians.

Khrushchev's Role In Soviet Deception Plan

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

In one of the most revealing episodes of the Cuban crisis, the hero (or victim? or villain?—who can say?) was a junior official of the Soviet Embassy in Washington. This man, who had better be nameless, is very much more genial, natural, and forthcoming than the dour, lumpish average run of Soviet diplomat. Largely by accident, he came to know two or three New Frontiersmen without foreign policy responsibilities in the early days of the Kennedy administration.

He had even been taken up, in a limited way, by Attorney-General Robert Kennedy. Behind their informal contacts, there was a practical motive. It was hoped to convey to the Kremlin an especially accurate and convincing picture of the President's viewpoint and purposes, as described by the President's own brother.

Last summer, this man went home to Russia for a vacation. When he returned to Washington in early October, he at once sought out Attorney-General Kennedy, with the urgency befitting the bearer of a private message from one chief of state to another.

On October 1 he said, he had been summoned for a long private talk with Nikita S. Khrushchev and Anastas Mikoyan—an extraordinary honor for an official in his fairly humble position. Khrushchev and Mikoyan had asked him many questions about the President; and they had also discussed Cuba.

Khrushchev had gone out of his way to declare that President Kennedy might rest assured that the Soviet Union would never send to Cuba any weapon "capable of reaching American targets." Whereupon Mikoyan had intervened, saying pointedly, "Be sure that this message reaches the President himself." Such, then, was the message that the Russian brought to Washington.

On October 1, of course, medium and intermediate range ballistic missiles had already been clandestinely landed in Cuba; and construction had just begun at the missile launching sites. But what makes the episode of the personal message to the President so astonishing and so significant is not the revelation of Soviet duplicity. That was proven long since, by the false protestations of Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The episode of the message is so significant only because of the direct participation of Khrushchev himself and his Armenian deputy. For a chief of state to take great pains to cause a grossly and demonstrably false personal message to be transmitted to another chief of state is something altogether novel in post-war political history.

Khrushchev's role in this amazing episode in turn makes it quite clear that an elaborate deception-and-cover plan, of strictly military character, was an integral part of the larger scheme to upset the nuclear balance with Soviet missiles in Cuba. Nor was the main part of the scheme by any means as hare-brained as many people now seem to suppose.

The dangers of air reconnaissance were perhaps underrated by the Soviet planners. The Soviet Defense Ministry, after all, is completely controlled by a collegium of aging marshals and colonel-generals, none of whom have real experience of the capabilities of air reconnaissance. And generals always underrate techniques they have not used themselves, even if they ought to know better.

In reality, however, the risk of air reconnaissance boiled down to the sole risk of observation by American U-2s. Contrary to what many believe, the Cuban missile sites were hidden, by convulutions of terrain, from the side-viewing cameras of the other American aircraft regularly patrolling the Cuban coasts. And the missile sites were also placed in areas heavily defended by anti-aircraft missiles of the SA-II type, which are useless against low-altitude attacks but can kill U-2s. as was first discovered by Francis Gary Powers.

The original plan, one may be pretty sure, called for using the SA-II aiti-aircraft missiles to shoot down any U-2s which might intrude after installation of the offensive missiles began. It is interesting, not to say chilling, to speculate on what would have happened if the crucial, eye-opening U-2 flight on October 14 had merely resulted in a "Cuban U-2 Incident," with attendant world tumult.

In fact, however, the anti-aircraft missiles were not ready. Some merciful technical mistake or logistical failure had left the SA-IIs without a workable command and control system until the final, climactic Saturday of the Cuban crisis, when an American U-2 was indeed shot down.

One must conclude that the Soviet commander in Cuba dared not confess this grave failure to his superiors, or that the pre-set timetable was too tight and compelling, or that the danger of a breach of security resulting from delay was considered to be greater than the danger of U-2 observation. In any case, the timetable was so swift, clandestine installation of the offensive missiles was adhered to, even though the anti-aircraft missiles were not ready to keep off the U-2s.

Add these facts to the stark fact of Khrushchev's role in the is a grave and terrible warning that Soviet methods of waging the cold war are coming very close to hot-war methods.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PHOTOS OVER CUBA — Those aerial reconnaissance photos of Cuban missile installations used by the Pentagon to substantiate existence of offensive weapons there caused an international foulup.

The photos were first shown to Washington reporters, but copies for publication were denied to them on grounds that public display would reveal too much about U. S. reconnaissance photo techniques.

However, as most Americans are aware, they found their way into general newspaper publication in a matter of 24 hours. Here's what happened:

Copies of the photos were sent to the U. S. embassy in London for transmittal to the British government. After they arrived, and with embassy knowledge that the pictures had been "shown" to reporters at the Pentagon, officials assumed they were for distribution to the British press. Distribution was made promptly.

U. S. television obtained the pictures via transatlantic photographic transmission. Release of the pictures came as a complete surprise to the Pentagon and to the White House, and it was hours later—near midnight—before the pictures were generally available to the United States press.

An amusing sidelight: Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger was under heavy pressure to have the pictures released in Washington after they had gained circulation in England. Salinger was working through the State Department and at one point told reporters that he had not received word of any final decision on the matter. As Salinger was trying to quiet the press, the Pentagon, on the recommendation of the State Department, was already handing the pictures out to reporters.

As to the disclosures of photographic technique, two facts apply. One, it is clear from some of the pictures that they were not taken at a slant from planes flying off Cuban shores, but in fact were photographed from an almost vertical camera, implying that U. S. planes flew over Cuban territory. Two, it is equally plain that at least some of the pictures were taken by high-flying U-2 planes of the type that flew reconnaissance missions across Russia until one was shot down two years ago.

Russians Cheer American Ballet, Chorus At Height Of Cuban Crisis

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — One of the amazing but healthy facts about U. S.-Russian relations is that at the very height of the Cuban crisis when the world anxiously waited to see whether U. S. naval vessels would shoot down Russian ships on the high seas, the Russian people gave the New York City Ballet the greatest ovation ever given in Moscow's Bolshoi Theatre.

They stood and cheered for 20 minutes—this for an American ballet which brought to the Soviets the type of dance in which the Russians, both under the czars and the Communists, have led the world. Apparently they thought the New York City Ballet had done a superb job in a field in which the Russians were supposed to be supreme.

Apparently also they considered people-to-people friendship more important than the fact that the President of the United States had given their Premier Khrushchev an ultimatum and the two countries might be on the verge of war.

During the same week, the Shaw Choral, a group of singers, got a tremendous ovation in Moscow and went on to similar ovations in Leningrad. This, despite the fact that they emphasized religious music, and religion is not encouraged in the Soviet Union.

Chance To Reciprocate

This week the American people will have a chance to show equal people-to-people friendship when the Russian Olympic basketball team, together with a Russian women's team, arrives in the United States.

They will play in Madison Square Garden tomorrow (Thursday), in Nashville, Tenn., Sioux Falls, S. D., Mount Pleasant, Iowa, Lubbock, Texas, and Denver. But perhaps the most significent game takes place in the nation's capital this Saturday, Nov. 10, when the team of National Association of Russians will meet the American team which will represent the United States in the World's Championship in Manila in December.

Basketball is a relatively new sport in the Soviet, but they have been working at it about as hard as they work at Satellites, and the Russian Olympic team was runner-up to the U. S. Olympic team in Rome in 1960.

The U. S. Men's All-Stars will be directed by Omar "Bud" Browning, coach of the Phillips 66 Oilers and Les Lane, coach of the Denver D-C Truckers.

The Harlem Globetrotters played to terrific crowds in Moscow in the summer of 1959 and an all-star team went to Russia in 1961 under the direction of Coach John McLendon of the AAU Champion Cleveland Pipers, but this is the first time a Russian basketball team has toured the USA. Coming, as it does, on the heels of the Cuban crisis, its welcome will be a real test of American sportsmanship.

Personalities Drama

An interesting drama is taking place in federal court in Baltimore, where Stewart Hopps, International Insurance Broker, is on trial in one phase of the Maryland savings and loan scandal.

The drama lies in the personalities of the opposing lawyers. On one side, trying to send Hopps to jail, is U. S. Attorney Joe Tydings, energetic, ambitious son of the late Sen. Millard Tydings of Maryland who wants to fill his father's shoes in the Senate.

On the other side in court is lean, dynamic Attorney Ed Morgan, counsel for the father of the U. S. Attorney when Senator Tydings investigated the charge by Sen. Joe McCarthy that there were "205 card-carrying Communists inside the State Department, known to the Secretary of State" (Dean Acheson).

Ed Morgan at that time made a terrific defense of Joe Tydings' father, got smeared in return. Now the man who defended Senator Tydings is on the other side of his son in one of the most important criminal cases in recent Maryland history.

Political Aftermaths

One charge by Richard Nixon that Governor Brown let Gus Hall, head of the U. S. Communist Party, speak at the University of California in Berkeley. What Nixon ignored was that his former cabinet colleague, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Fleming in the Eisenhower Administration, had ok'd Hall's speaking on the campus of the University of Oregon of which Fleming is now president. In contrast, Hall spoke one block off campus at the University of California, and the Governor of the state has no right to interfere with freedom of speech in universities in any case.

Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.), sometimes called the Senator from Telstar, got huffy when a Governor Brown telecast cut him off after he had finished reading a letter from President Kennedy endorsing Brown. Clair expected to comment on the letter. When the TV camera shifted, Engle refused to participate in a TV panel show exposing Nixon's campaign tactics . . . Earlier, Engle had flatly rejected an urgent request from a Brown strategist to give a public diagnosis of the Hughes-Don Nixon $205,000 loan scandal.

"Fooled" Newsmen!

Kennedy advisers are still chuckling over the manner in which they fooled the press during the hectic days leading up to the President's broadcast on the Cuban blockade.

Late one evening, Secretary of Defense McNamara was called to the State Department to confer on Cuba, bumped into curious reporters who asked him why he was visiting so late.

"I'm attending the Gromyko dinner," replied McNamara, thinking fast.

On another occasion 11 top State Department planners were summoned to the White House. Rather than take their own limousines, which would have attracted attention, all 11 piled into the car of Under Secretary George Ball. Arriving at the side entrance of the White House they filed out like clowns from a car at the Ringling Brothers' Circus.

As a result, consultation of the smoldering Cuban crisis continued for more than a week before Washington newsmen got wise to what was brewing.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

There is a man in West Palm Beach I'd like to meet. His name is George P. LeBrun. Last July, he celebrated his 100th birthday and, at the same time, had his memoirs published by Morrow. Edward Radin did the writing, but Mr. LeBrun did all the remembering and thinking.

He was born in Trinidad to a French family on July 27, 1862. New York City had a fascination for him and he went there and studied hard and worked hard. In time, LeBrun was appointed Secretary to the Coroner. Most men in public office are content to serve their political bosses, serve their time, and win a pension.

The more George P. LeBrun saw of the coroner system, the less he liked it. Coroners are empowered to investigate abnormal deaths — murder, suicide, accidents. They can hold inquests, summon witnesses, order arrests. It is not necessary for them to be doctors.

In some states, this system has been replaced by the office of Medical Examiner, and the M. E. must be a qualified physician. However, in the year 1880 to 1933, the coroners of New York were among the most notorious grafters and blackmailers at large. For a fee, they could examine a corpse full of bullet holes, and rule that the man died of a heart attack.

LeBrun fought the coroner system of which he was a part. One coroner was so brazen in his grafting that he was called "Goldy." Lawyers got in on the racket sometimes by taking a fee for themselves, and then asking additional money for "the coroner" in cases already marked closed. Some of the time, LeBrun hoped that the district attorney's office would thwart what his office was doing.

On a frosty morning in January, 1911, David Graham Phillips walked around the edge of Gramarcy Park to the Players Club. He was a talented young writer. A man stepped out of the club doorway, pulled a revolver, and fired five shots. All hit. The stranger drilled the sixth shot into his own head. The two men had never met.

The dead killer was Fitzhugh C. Goldsborough, 30, a Harvard graduate and an accomplished violinist. The musician had lost his sanity, compiled a list of writers and public figures who were "enemies," and had marked Phillips number one on his list.

LeBrun thought about the case. He reasoned that the real problem was not how many disturbed people were at large, but how easy it was to buy a gun. In his spare time, he investigated. The pawn shops of New York had windows full of revolvers. Anyone could walk in and buy one. No identification was necessary, and no serial numbers were noted.

Further research disclosed that gangsters kept their weapons in hock shops, redeeming them only when they had to do "a job." The guns were always put back in the pawnshops immediately after the murders, and sometimes an obliging pawnbroker would put the gun in his safe. He earned a little interest on the permanent "hocking," and the police could not find the murder weapon.

Goldsborough had bought his revolver for a few dollars. No one had asked him who he was, or why he needed a gun. LeBrun found that, in the previous year, there had been 177 murders by firearms in New York, and that less than half had been followed by arrests. There was a law against carrying concealed weapons, but the only way to make it work would be to have the police frisk citizens at random.

LeBrun drew up a law. Under it, nobody could buy a gun without a permit from the police department. Anyone found with a weapon without such permit could go to prison for a long time. The young secretary knew that his name on such a law would mean nothing. So he went to see Big Tim Sullivan, an almost illiterate Tammany politician.

Sullivan listened. He was a state senator who never made speeches, but he agreed to sponsor the measure. He was tired of being asked to "fix" cases involving gangs and guns. He was also tired of contributing flowers to funerals.

LeBrun, unknown, also wrote letters to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., John Wanamaker, Nathan Straus, Bishop Grier, and Dr. Simon Baruch, asking the help of these leading citizens. They gave it. They formed a committee, and their first meeting was held only three weeks after young Phillips had been killed.

The bill eventually was called the Sullivan Law. LaBrun didn't mind. He wanted no public acclaim. Under it, purchasers not only had to have a police permit to buy a pocket-sized weapon, but the seller had to keep a record of the permit, and the identity of the purchaser. In time, states other than New York passed their own "Sullivan Law."

I have never met Mr. Lebrun. I'd like to. Anyone who has passed his 100th birthday, and writes a book called "It's Time To Tell" must also have a sense of humor . . .

Success Easier For The Junior Executive

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The ladder to success is beset with health hazards. They are greater among those who work their way up from scratch than among those who step into their jobs from college. This may be an added argument to convince Willie that a college education brings more than cultural and economic advantages.

A survey conducted by Dr. William N. Christenson and Dr. Lawrence E. Hinkle Jr. led to this conclusion. They studied a group of 139 men under age 32 with managerial positions in the same corporation. Fifty-five were recent college graduates and 84 were high school graduates who had risen from the ranks. The latter were under more tension and had more illnesses. They were headed for high blood pressure and heart disease.

According to Dr. Christenson and Dr. Hinkle, the two groups appeared on the surface to be different only in education and in the way they had attained their present positions. Actually the college men were working and living in an environment with which they had a lifetime of familiarity. In this respect, they were not exposed to certain tensions and uncertainties at home and with friends.

The high school graduates were lifting their families up a notch or two. They had grown up in modest to sub-standard neighborhoods, usually in families of low income. They married earlier and had more financial and domestic problems. Some had dependent relatives whereas others were taking vocational training or attending night classes at college in addition to their full time jobs.

A man's job has a bearing on his health but what he does at home and for relaxation also is important. So is his sense of security and ability to delegate authority. The job is most hazardous for men who are over their head in responsibility. Some individuals are excellent craftsmen and derive considerable satisfaction from their work. They may be upset by the added responsibility when promoted to foreman and become candidates for hypertension, ulcer, or nervous breakdown. The same occurs when they go into business for themselves and, as executives, encounter new headaches they are ill prepared to handle.

BACTERIAL ALLERGY

J. G. writes: The doctor says my bronchial trouble is due to allergy to bacteria. Please explain this, as I don't understand it.

REPLY

Some persons with bronchitis are allergic to pollens; others to dust, dander, molds, or other factors, including bacteria.

REVERBERATION

B. G. S. writes: What causes everything I eat to repeat on me?

REPLY

This form of indigestion may result from improper mastication, eating too rapidly, stomach or gall bladder disease, nervousness, or swallowing too much air with each mouthful.

TOMORROW: The bugs that cause pneumonia.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A couple of proud fathers were exchanging boasts about their offspring on a hotel verandah in the Catskills. "My two sons," averred one, "are the success stories of our whole neighborhood. One is already a famous lawyer with clients who don't even blink at a $10,000 fee. The other one is the head obstetrician at the county hospital. What's more, both of them shower my wife and me with presents and attentions day in and day out." "Yah, yak," jeered the other father, "All this sounds great — but tell me, what do you do for aggravations.?"

OVERHEARD:

At a downtown lunch counter: "My boss is so incompetent this restaurant refused to serve him the business man's lunch."

Near M.I.T.: "My wife doesn't understand me. I'm a nuclear physicist."

At the Author's League: "Some novelist, that fellow! The best fiction he ever wrote was his last year's income tax return!"

Off Broadway: "That man tosses money around like a boomerang."

From an essay by Douglas Newton: "The worldwide fraternity of children is the greatest of savage tribes and the only one which shows no signs of dying out."

No Time For Relaxation

It must not be supposed that the Cuban problem is in any substantial measure resolved. It may have been heightened.

The U. S. is no more prepared than ever to accept the Castro government. It is contrary to American heritage and policy, and even without missile capability it will remain a threat to the whole hemisphere.

Castro was implicated in the destruction of the Venezuelan oil refineries. The United States is not prepared to tolerate the repetition of such incidents in this hemisphere. Nor can other Cuban attempts at subversion or aggression in Latin America be condoned.

Khrushchev is a master at backing away—or seeming to—from untenable positions. On three occasions he has withdrawn ultimatums on Berlin. His retaliation has taken the form of "the wall" and of the attempt to flank the U. S. through Cuba.

The danger that now confronts the United States is one of relaxation. Often, as some wise man has said, the greatest peril comes in the wake of the apparent crisis, when a person (or nation) has his guard down and wants to rest.

U. S. power must not be frittered away by negotiation or relaxation at the precise point when its value has been proved conclusively.

Recent events have again proved an age-old axiom: That peace can only be defended by a willingness to go to war. And the corollary is that the ability and willingness to wage war successfully is the best assurance that a nation will not have to do so.

In reality, however, the risk of air reconnaissance boiled down to the sole risk of observation by American U-2s. Contrary to what many believe, the Cuban missile sites were hidden, by convulutions of terrain, from the side-viewing cameras of the other American aircraft regularly patrolling the Cuban coasts. And the missile sites were also placed in areas heavily defended by anti-aircraft missiles of the SA-II type, which are useless against low-altitude attacks but can kill U-2s. as was first discovered by Francis Gary Powers.

The original plan, one may be pretty sure, called for using the SA-II aiti-aircraft missiles to shoot down any U-2s which might intrude after installation of the offensive missiles began. It is interesting, not to say chilling, to speculate on what would have happened if the crucial, eye-opening U-2 flight on October 14 had merely resulted in a "Cuban U-2 Incident," with attendant world tumult.

In fact, however, the anti-aircraft missiles were not ready. Some merciful technical mistake or logistical failure had left the SA-IIs without a workable command and control system until the final, climactic Saturday of the Cuban crisis, when an American U-2 was indeed shot down.

One must conclude that the Soviet commander in Cuba dared not confess this grave failure to his superiors, or that the pre-set timetable was too tight and compelling, or that the danger of a breach of security resulting from delay was considered to be greater than the danger of U-2 observation. In any case, the timetable was so swift, clandestine installation of the offensive missiles was adhered to, even though the anti-aircraft missiles were not ready to keep off the U-2s.

Add these facts to the stark fact of Khrushchev's role in the is a grave and terrible warning that Soviet methods of waging the cold war are coming very close to hot-war methods.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PHOTOS OVER CUBA — Those aerial reconnaissance photos of Cuban missile installations used by the Pentagon to substantiate existence of offensive weapons there caused an international foul-up.

The photos were first shown to Washington reporters, but copies for publication were denied to them on grounds that public display would reveal too much about U. S. reconnaissance photo techniques.

However, as most Americans are aware, they found their way into general newspaper publication in a matter of 24 hours. Here's what happened:

Copies of the photos were sent to the U. S. embassy in London for transmittal to the British government. After they arrived, and with embassy knowledge that the pictures had been "shown" to reporters at the Pentagon, officials assumed they were for distribution to the British press. Distribution was made promptly.

U. S. television obtained the pictures via transatlantic photographic transmission. Release of the pictures came as a complete surprise to the Pentagon and to the White House, and it was hours later—near midnight—before the pictures were generally available to the United States press.

An amusing sidelight: Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger was under heavy pressure to have the pictures released in Washington after they had gained circulation in England. Salinger was working through the State Department and at one point told reporters that he had not received word of any final decision on the matter. As Salinger was trying to quiet the press, the Pentagon, on the recommendation of the State Department, was already handing the pictures out to reporters.

As to the disclosures of photographic technique, two facts apply. One, it is clear from some of the pictures that they were not taken at a slant from planes flying off Cuban shores, but in fact were photographed from an almost vertical camera, implying that U. S. planes flew over Cuban territory. Two, it is equally plain that at least some of the pictures were taken by high-flying U-2 planes of the type that flew reconnaissance missions across Russia until one was shot down two years ago.

Russians Cheer American Ballet, Chorus At Height Of Cuban Crisis

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — One of the amazing but healthy facts about U. S.-Russian relations is that at the very height of the Cuban crisis when the world anxiously waited to see whether U. S. naval vessels would shoot down Russian ships on the high seas, the Russian people gave the New York City Ballet the greatest ovation ever given in Moscow's Bolshoi Theatre.

They stood and cheered for 20 minutes—this for an American ballet which brought to the Soviets the type of dance in which the Russians, both under the czars and the Communists, have led the world. Apparently they thought the New York City Ballet had done a superb job in a field in which the Russians were supposed to be supreme.

Apparently also they considered people-to-people friendship more important than the fact that the President of the United States had given their Premier Khrushchev an ultimatum and the two countries might be on the verge of war.

During the same week, the Shaw Choral, a group of singers, got a tremendous ovation in Moscow and went on to similar ovations in Leningrad. This, despite the fact that they emphasized religious music, and religion is not encouraged in the Soviet Union.

Chance To Reciprocate

This week the American people will have a chance to show equal people-to-people friendship when the Russian Olympic basketball team, together with a Russian women's team, arrives in the United States.

They will play in Madison Square Garden tomorrow (Thursday), in Nashville, Tenn., Sioux Falls, S. D., Mount Pleasant, Iowa, Lubbock, Texas, and Denver. But perhaps the most significent game takes place in the nation's capital this Saturday, Nov. 10, when the team of National Association of Russians will meet the American team which will represent the United States in the World's Championship in Manila in December.

Basketball is a relatively new sport in the Soviet, but they have been working at it about as hard as they work at Satellites, and the Russian Olympic team was runner-up to the U. S. Olympic team in Rome in 1960.

The U. S. Men's All-Stars will be directed by Omar "Bud" Browning, coach of the Phillips 66 Oilers and Les Lane, coach of the Denver D-C Truckers.

The Harlem Globetrotters played to terrific crowds in Moscow in the summer of 1959 and an all-star team went to Russia in 1961 under the direction of Coach John McLendon of the AAU Champion Cleveland Pipers, but this is the first time a Russian basketball team has toured the USA. Coming, as it does, on the heels of the Cuban crisis, its welcome will be a real test of American sportsmanship.

Personalities Drama

An interesting drama is taking place in federal court in Baltimore, where Stewart Hopps, International Insurance Broker, is on trial in one phase of the Maryland savings and loan scandal.

The drama lies in the personalities of the opposing lawyers. On one side, trying to send Hopps to jail, is U. S. Attorney Joe Tydings, energetic, ambitious son of the late Sen. Millard Tydings of Maryland who wants to fill his father's shoes in the Senate.

On the other side in court is lean, dynamic Attorney Ed Morgan, counsel for the father of the U. S. Attorney when Senator Tydings investigated the charge by Sen. Joe McCarthy that there were "205 card-carrying Communists inside the State Department, known to the Secretary of State" (Dean Acheson).

Ed Morgan at that time made a terrific defense of Joe Tydings' father, got smeared in return. Now the man who defended Senator Tydings is on the other side of his son in one of the most important criminal cases in recent Maryland history.

Political Aftermaths

One charge by Richard Nixon that Governor Brown let Gus Hall, head of the U. S. Communist Party, speak at the University of California in Berkeley. What Nixon ignored was that his former cabinet colleague, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Fleming in the Eisenhower Administration, had ok'd Hall's speaking on the campus of the University of Oregon of which Fleming is now president. In contrast, Hall spoke one block off campus at the University of California, and the Governor of the state has no right to interfere with freedom of speech in universities in any case.

Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.), sometimes called the Senator from Telstar, got huffy when a Governor Brown telecast cut him off after he had finished reading a letter from President Kennedy endorsing Brown. Clair expected to comment on the letter. When the TV camera shifted, Engle refused to participate in a TV panel show exposing Nixon's campaign tactics . . . Earlier, Engle had flatly rejected an urgent request from a Brown strategist to give a public diagnosis of the Hughes-Don Nixon $205,000 loan scandal.

"Fooled" Newsmen!

Kennedy advisers are still chuckling over the manner in which they fooled the press during the hectic days leading up to the President's broadcast on the Cuban blockade.

Late one evening, Secretary of Defense McNamara was called to the State Department to confer on Cuba, bumped into curious reporters who asked him why he was visiting so late.

"I'm attending the Gromyko dinner," replied McNamara, thinking fast.

On another occasion 11 top State Department planners were summoned to the White House. Rather than take their own limousines, which would have attracted attention, all 11 piled into the car of Under Secretary George Ball. Arriving at the side entrance of the White House they filed out like clowns from a car at the Ringling Brothers' Circus.

As a result, consultation of the smoldering Cuban crisis continued for more than a week before Washington newsmen got wise to what was brewing.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

There is a man in West Palm Beach I'd like to meet. His name is George P. LeBrun. Last July, he celebrated his 100th birthday and, at the same time, had his memoirs published by Morrow. Edward Radin did the writing, but Mr. LeBrun did all the remembering and thinking.

He was born in Trinidad to a French family on July 27, 1862. New York City had a fascination for him and he went there and studied hard and worked hard. In time, LeBrun was appointed Secretary to the Coroner. Most men in public office are content to serve their political bosses, serve their time, and win a pension.

The more George P. LeBrun saw of the coroner system, the less he liked it. Coroners are empowered to investigate abnormal deaths — murder, suicide, accidents. They can hold inquests, summon witnesses, order arrests. It is not necessary for them to be doctors.

In some states, this system has been replaced by the office of Medical Examiner, and the M. E. must be a qualified physician. However, in the year 1880 to 1933, the coroners of New York were among the most notorious grafters and blackmailers at large. For a fee, they could examine a corpse full of bullet holes, and rule that the man died of a heart attack.

LeBrun fought the coroner system of which he was a part. One coroner was so brazen in his grafting that he was called "Goldy." Lawyers got in on the racket sometimes by taking a fee for themselves, and then asking additional money for "the coroner" in cases already marked closed. Some of the time, LeBrun hoped that the district attorney's office would thwart what his office was doing.

On a frosty morning in January, 1911, David Graham Phillips walked around the edge of Gramarcy Park to the Players Club. He was a talented young writer. A man stepped out of the club doorway, pulled a revolver, and fired five shots. All hit. The stranger drilled the sixth shot into his own head. The two men had never met.

The dead killer was Fitzhugh C. Goldsborough, 30, a Harvard graduate and an accomplished violinist. The musician had lost his sanity, compiled a list of writers and public figures who were "enemies," and had marked Phillips number one on his list.

LeBrun thought about the case. He reasoned that the real problem was not how many disturbed people were at large, but how easy it was to buy a gun. In his spare time, he investigated. The pawn shops of New York had windows full of revolvers. Anyone could walk in and buy one. No identification was necessary, and no serial numbers were noted.

Further research disclosed that gangsters kept their weapons in hock shops, redeeming them only when they had to do "a job." The guns were always put back in the pawnshops immediately after the murders, and sometimes an obliging pawnbroker would put the gun in his safe. He earned a little interest on the permanent "hocking," and the police could not find the murder weapon.

Goldsborough had bought his revolver for a few dollars. No one had asked him who he was, or why he needed a gun. LeBrun found that, in the previous year, there had been 177 murders by firearms in New York, and that less than half had been followed by arrests. There was a law against carrying concealed weapons, but the only way to make it work would be to have the police frisk citizens at random.

LeBrun drew up a law. Under it, nobody could buy a gun without a permit from the police department. Anyone found with a weapon without such permit could go to prison for a long time. The young secretary knew that his name on such a law would mean nothing. So he went to see Big Tim Sullivan, an almost illiterate Tammany politician.

Sullivan listened. He was a state senator who never made speeches, but he agreed to sponsor the measure. He was tired of being asked to "fix" cases involving gangs and guns. He was also tired of contributing flowers to funerals.

LeBrun, unknown, also wrote letters to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., John Wanamaker, Nathan Straus, Bishop Grier, and Dr. Simon Baruch, asking the help of these leading citizens. They gave it. They formed a committee, and their first meeting was held only three weeks after young Phillips had been killed.

The bill eventually was called the Sullivan Law. LaBrun didn't mind. He wanted no public acclaim. Under it, purchasers not only had to have a police permit to buy a pocket-sized weapon, but the seller had to keep a record of the permit, and the identity of the purchaser. In time, states other than New York passed their own "Sullivan Law."

I have never met Mr. Lebrun. I'd like to. Anyone who has passed his 100th birthday, and writes a book called "It's Time To Tell" must also have a sense of humor . . .

Success Easier For The Junior Executive

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The ladder to success is beset with health hazards. They are greater among those who work their way up from scratch than among those who step into their jobs from college. This may be an added argument to convince Willie that a college education brings more than cultural and economic advantages.

A survey conducted by Dr. William N. Christenson and Dr. Lawrence E. Hinkle Jr. led to this conclusion. They studied a group of 139 men under age 32 with managerial positions in the same corporation. Fifty-five were recent college graduates and 84 were high school graduates who had risen from the ranks. The latter were under more tension and had more illnesses. They were headed for high blood pressure and heart disease.

According to Dr. Christenson and Dr. Hinkle, the two groups appeared on the surface to be different only in education and in the way they had attained their present positions. Actually the college men were working and living in an environment with which they had a lifetime of familiarity. In this respect, they were not exposed to certain tensions and uncertainties at home and with friends.

The high school graduates were lifting their families up a notch or two. They had grown up in modest to sub-standard neighborhoods, usually in families of low income. They married earlier and had more financial and domestic problems. Some had dependent relatives whereas others were taking vocational training or attending night classes at college in addition to their full time jobs.

A man's job has a bearing on his health but what he does at home and for relaxation also is important. So is his sense of security and ability to delegate authority. The job is most hazardous for men who are over their head in responsibility. Some individuals are excellent craftsmen and derive considerable satisfaction from their work. They may be upset by the added responsibility when promoted to foreman and become candidates for hypertension, ulcer, or nervous breakdown. The same occurs when they go into business for themselves and, as executives, encounter new headaches they are ill prepared to handle.

BACTERIAL ALLERGY

REPLY

Some persons with bronchitis are allergic to pollens; others to dust, dander, molds, or other factors, including bacteria.

REVERBERATION

B. G. S. writes: What causes everything I eat to repeat on me?

REPLY

This form of indigestion may result from improper mastication, eating too rapidly, stomach or gall bladder disease, nervousness, or swallowing too much air with each mouthful.

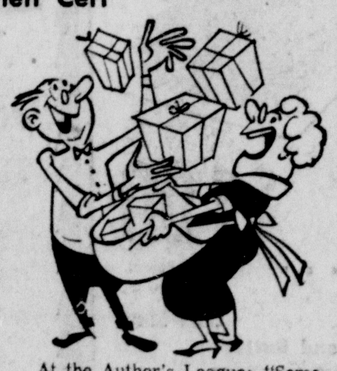

TOMORROW: The bugs that cause pneumonia.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A couple of proud fathers were exchanging boasts about their offspring on a hotel verandah in the Catskills. "My two sons," averred one, "are the success stories of our whole neighborhood. One is already a famous lawyer with clients who don't even blink at a $10,000 fee. The other one is the head obstetrician at the county hospital. What's more, both of them shower my wife and me with presents and attentions day in and day out." "Yah, yak," jeered the other father, "All this sounds great — but tell me, what do you do for aggravations.?"

OVERHEARD:

At a downtown lunch counter: "My boss is so incompetent this restaurant refused to serve him the business man's lunch."

Near M.I.T.: "My wife doesn't understand me. I'm a nuclear physicist."

At the Author's League: "Some novelist, that fellow! The best fiction he ever wrote was his last year's income tax return!"

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Robert Taylor said he would not do another TV series unless he could also do motion pictures. And now his former "The Detectives" TV producer, Tom McDermott takes him up on it and Bob's back in a TV series along with a movie contract as well for Four Star.

The series McDermott has selected for Bob is something of a secret, but he tipped what it may be on his mysterious visit to Washington, D.C., where he had frequent huddles with Anthony Celebrezze, secretary of health, education, and welfare. McDermott does admit that the new series starring Taylor will involve this department.

On the motion picture side of the coin, Taylor will star in four Star films and also will be permitted outside deals. One of the latter, already on the fire is for Bob to play Thomas Paine in "The French Revolution" for Sam Bronston.

While motion picture exhibitors are trying for more production from Hollywood, it appears that Harold Hecht is attempting to take up the slack all by himself. He's just signed a two picture deal with Columbia, and the first will be Howard Fast's monumental work "The Last Frontier."

This brings to six the number of pictures bridegroom Hecht has in production, preparation or ready for release, including "Flight from Ashiya," "Taras Bulba", "Monsieur Cognac," and "Birdman of Alcatraz." Another picture for Columbia is as yet unannounced.

Edie Adams has a big surprise for Ernie Kovacs' two daughters, Betty and Kippie, when they join her in England for three weeks at Thanksgiving. Edie will have a week off "Call Me Bwana" with Bob Hope at the same time. So she has made arrangements to fly to Vienna to meet relatives of Ernie's father who live in Budapest.

Also Bob Hope has invited Edie and the girls to be his houseguests over a weekend at the large estate he has leased in Denham. It's near a golf course, naturally. "Tell the girls to bring their clubs," he told Edie.

Of all the writers who had a hand in "Mutiny on the Bounty," Charles Lederer alone gets screen credit. He's now been signed by Ray Stark and Hall Bartlett to write the screenplay of Bob Hope's forthcoming movie "A Global Affair," a rip-roarin' comedy with a background against the United Nations. Lucky Robin will have five foreign beauties to romance.

It's scheduled to roll in February after Hope finishes "Call Me Bwana" in England, and does his Christmas tour for the servicemen overseas. Bob's just signed Janis Paige to his tour, which so far includes Lana Turner, singer Anita Bryant, Amedee Chabos (Miss USA), and of course Jerry Colonna and Les Brown.

At least one director is not howling mad about Darryl Zanuck cutting his picture. Darryl did such a rave to Mark Robson about his "Nine Hours to Rama" that Mark doesn't care that Zanuck has trimmed twenty minutes out of it!

Robson is also so pleased over the fine performance turned in by Horst Buchholz in the picture that he has bought a new property to star Horst. It is "Tower of Fire" by John Collins, a thriller about the troubles of Israel, but nothing like "Exodus" except it will be filmed next year around the same general locales.

Marlon Brando returned from New York last week to sit in on the pre-scoring session of "The Ugly American", with director-producer George Englund. They are very pleased that authentic Thailand instruments will be used in the scoring of the movie.

Because of the governments involved in the picture, and the present international situation, Brando and Englund are moving slowly in editing this story involving the distorted American image and trying not to offend any nation. Marlon was advised not to make the movie, but it's completed now, with Sandra Church as his leading lady.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 NT	Pass	6 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♣

Contracting for a slam in today's hand involved nothing more than simple arithmetic on the part of North and South. South with 23 high card points and protection in four suits has a classic opening bid of two no trump. North holding 12 points knows that the partnership has at the very least 34 points and straightway proceeds to slam.

West didn't have much to work with but on the alert he put that little to good use in casting a spell on declarer. While South was victimized by West's shrewdness it is doubtful that he is entitled to our complete sympathy, since a simple precautionary measure was all that was needed to expose the plot.

West opened fire with the ten of clubs from his complete sequence, Declarer saw when the dummy was spread that 12 tricks were there for the taking provided that diamonds were not badly stacked. He put up the queen of clubs from dummy and as a preliminary measure took the heart finesse by leading low toward the jack in his hand. West took in the trick with the king of hearts and returned another club.

South tested the diamonds next by leading a small one from his hand. Without undue hesitation, West played the nine of diamonds and North's queen won the trick. His opponent's play had all the earmarks of being from a short suit and, inasmuch as the fall of the nine had established a two way finesse position in diamonds for the declarer, he hastened now to cash dummy's ace of that suit. It was his intention to take a finesse against East's jack on the following round if West showed out, as appeared likely.

To South's great consternation, it was East who failed to answer the call on the second diamond lead, and now there was no way to avoid losing a trick in the suit. West is to be commended for playing a clever false card, but declarer could have uncovered the maneuver had he not been in such a hurry.

When the nine of diamonds appears, South should abandon that suit temporarily in order to obtain a count of the remaining distribution. If he will but take the time to cash out his high cards in all the other suits, he will discover that East has five spades when West fails on the third round of that suit. When East follows to three rounds of hearts and clubs, he becomes marked with a maximum of two diamonds. It will now be routine to play West for the diamond length and, when South cashes the king from his hand, his opponent's deception will be exposed to view.

Gas Company Wins Safety Award

Cumberland employes of Columbia Gas of Maryland, Inc., have helped their firm win a top national safety award.

The Pittsburgh Group Companies of Columbia Gas System which include Columbia Gas of Maryland yesterday were named second place winner of the National Safety Council's National Fleet Safety Contest.

Competing in the contest's Gas Industry division, the Pittsburgh Group Companies were vying for honors against 29 of the country's largest natural gas concerns.

The contest matched the safety records for truck and passenger car operations established by the entrants.

Columbia Gas System's Pittsburgh Group Companies compiled a frequency rate of 7.35 reportable accidents per million miles of motor vehicle operation.

The group's employes drove company vehicles a total of 14,021,845 miles from July 1, 1961, to June 30, 1962. During this time, they were involved in only 103 accidents.

The severity of an accident was not considered in determining the total number of accidents. Each counted, no matter how small the damage.

Columbia Gas of Pennsylvania, Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Columbia Gas of New York, Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, Home Gas Company and Columbia Gas of Maryland comprise the Pittsburgh Group Companies of the Columbia Gas System.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Robert Taylor said he would not do another TV series unless he could also do motion pictures. And now his former "The Detectives" TV producer, Tom McDermott takes him up on it and Bob's back in a TV series along with a movie contract as well for Four Star.

The series McDermott has selected for Bob is something of a secret, but he tipped what it may be on his mysterious visit to Washington, D.C., where he had frequent huddles with Anthony Celebrezze, secretary of health, education, and welfare. McDermott does admit that the new series starring Taylor will involve this department.

On the motion picture side of the coin, Taylor will star in four Star films and also will be permitted outside deals. One of the latter, already on the fire is for Bob to play Thomas Paine in "The French Revolution" for Sam Bronston.

While motion picture exhibitors are trying for more production from Hollywood, it appears that Harold Hecht is attempting to take up the slack all by himself. He's just signed a two picture deal with Columbia, and the first will be Howard Fast's monumental work "The Last Frontier."

This brings to six the number of pictures bridegroom Hecht has in production, preparation or ready for release, including "Flight from Ashiya," "Taras Bulba", "Monsieur Cognac," and "Birdman of Alcatraz." Another picture for Columbia is as yet unannounced.

Edie Adams has a big surprise for Ernie Kovacs' two daughters, Betty and Kippie, when they join her in England for three weeks at Thanksgiving. Edie will have a week off "Call Me Bwana" with Bob Hope at the same time. So she has made arrangements to fly to Vienna to meet relatives of Ernie's father who live in Budapest.

Also Bob Hope has invited Edie and the girls to be his house-guests over a weekend at the large estate he has leased in Denham. It's near a golf course, naturally. "Tell the girls to bring their clubs," he told Edie.

Of all the writers who had a hand in "Mutiny on the Bounty," Charles Lederer alone gets screen credit. He's now been signed by Ray Stark and Hall Bartlett to write the screenplay of Bob Hope's forthcoming movie "A Global Affair," a rip-roarin' comedy with a background against the United Nations. Lucky Robin will have five foreign beauties to romance.

It's scheduled to roll in February after Hope finishes "Call Me Bwana" in England, and does his Christmas tour for the servicemen overseas. Bob's just signed Janis Paige to his tour, which so far includes Lana Turner, singer Anita Bryant, Amedee Chabos (Miss USA), and of course Jerry Colonna and Les Brown.

At least one director is not howling mad about Darryl Zanuck cutting his picture. Darryl did such a rave to Mark Robson about his "Nine Hours to Rama" that Mark doesn't care that Zanuck has trimmed twenty minutes out of it!

Robson is also so pleased over the fine performance turned in by Horst Buchholz in the picture that he has bought a new property to star Horst. It is "Tower of Fire" by John Collins, a thriller about the troubles of Israel, but nothing like "Exodus" except it will be filmed next year around the same general locales.

Marlon Brando returned from New York last week to sit in on the pre-scoring session of "The Ugly American", with director-producer George Englund. They are very pleased that authentic Thailand instruments will be used in the scoring of the movie.

Because of the governments involved in the picture, and the present international situation, Brando and Englund are moving slowly in editing this story involving the distorted American image and trying not to offend any nation. Marlon was advised not to make the movie, but it's completed now, with Sandra Church as his leading lady.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 NT	Pass	6 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♣

Contracting for a slam in today's hand involved nothing more than simple arithmetic on the part of North and South. South with 23 high card points and protection in four suits has a classic opening bid of two no trump. North holding 12 points knows that the partnership has at the very least 34 points and straightway proceeds to slam.

West didn't have much to work with but on the alert he put that little to good use in casting a spell on declarer. While South was victimized by West's shrewdness it is doubtful that he is entitled to our complete sympathy, since a simple precautionary measure was all that was needed to expose the plot.

West opened fire with the ten of clubs from his complete sequence, Declarer saw when the dummy was spread that 12 tricks were there for the taking provided that diamonds were not badly stacked. He put up the queen of clubs from dummy and as a preliminary measure took the heart finesse by leading low toward the jack in his hand. West took in the trick with the king of hearts and returned another club.

South tested the diamonds next by leading a small one from his hand. Without undue hesitation, West played the nine of diamonds and North's queen won the trick. His opponent's play had all the earmarks of being from a short suit and, inasmuch as the fall of the nine had established a two way finesse position in diamonds for the declarer, he hastened now to cash dummy's ace of that suit. It was his intention to take a finesse against East's jack on the following round if West showed out, as appeared likely.

To South's great consternation, it was East who failed to answer the call on the second diamond lead, and now there was no way to avoid losing a trick in the suit. West is to be commended for playing a clever false card, but declarer could have uncovered the maneuver had he not been in such a hurry.

When the nine of diamonds appears, South should abandon that suit temporarily in order to obtain a count of the remaining distribution. If he will but take the time to cash out his high cards in all the other suits, he will discover that East has five spades when West fails on the third round of that suit. When East follows to three rounds of hearts and clubs, he becomes marked with a maximum of two diamonds. It will now be routine to play West for the diamond length and, when South cashes the king from his hand, his opponent's deception will be exposed to view.

Gas Company Wins Safety Award

Cumberland employes of Columbia Gas of Maryland, Inc., have helped their firm win a top national safety award.

The Pittsburgh Group Companies of Columbia Gas System which include Columbia Gas of Maryland yesterday were named second place winner of the National Safety Council's National Fleet Safety Contest.

Competing in the contest's Gas Industry division, the Pittsburgh Group Companies were vying for honors against 29 of the country's largest natural gas concerns.

The contest matched the safety records for truck and passenger car operations established by the entrants.

The group's employes drove company vehicles a total of 14,021,845 miles from July 1, 1961, to June 30, 1962. During this time, they were involved in only 103 accidents.

The severity of an accident was not considered in determining the total number of accidents. Each counted, no matter how small the damage.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do about a wife who is needlessly terrified of burglers? I've spent a fortune on locks and specially designed devices for every window and door in the house.

She insists on leaving lights on all night, and even the radio or TV so "he" will think we are still up. There have been no robberies in our neighborhood since we've lived here — well over 15 years. Our street is well lit and frequently traveled. I've tried to explain that no one can possibly get into our home. But still she worries.

Last week she started something new. Every night she sprinkles cornflakes in the halls so we can hear the footsteps of an intruder.

How can I get through to this woman that she is worrying herself sick over nothing?

— ENOUGH ALREADY

DEAR ENOUGH ALREADY: Fear is emotional and you can't make a person stop being afraid by telling him there's nothing to be afraid of. Locks, special devices or a carload of breakfast cereal won't make her feel secure — so save your money, Dad.

Your wife's fears are probably rooted in childhood anxieties which were never resolved. She needs professional help. This is no do-it-yourself project.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister who is two years older has always considered herself better-looking, more popular and more appealing to men. I must admit all this is true.

Six years ago we both were married—she to a man the family did not approve of, and I to a wonderful person who was the answer to all my prayers. I considered my marriage ideal. We have three youngsters.

Two months ago my sister and her husband moved out of town and immediately after, their marriage broke up. My husband then told me that he had married me out of pity and that he had always been secretly in love with my sister. I could not believe it.

He wants a divorce and is trying to sell our home. I do not want a divorce but it's hell to live with a man who doesn't want me.

I don't know if he has been seeing my sister or not—he won't say. It may be that his feeling for her is one-sided. Please help me. I'm 27 and ready to jump into the lake.

— SHATTERED

DEAR SHATTERED: Judging from what you've told me I suspect your sister figures in the picture somewhere, which makes it more painful and, of course, uglier.

You don't have to give your husband a divorce just because he wants one. Tell him nothing doing. And if he leaves, make sure he knows about the support laws. In the meantime there's always the chance that he may return to his senses. Chin up, Honey.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I were especially interested in the letter signed "Old Hand." I agreed with you that if you invite people two or three times and they make no effort to reciprocate, you shouldn't invite them back.

Does this go for relatives, too? My brother and his wife have been married two years. We've had them to our home for dinner at least a dozen times. They have yet to invite us to their place for a cup of coffee. We know for a fact they DO entertain. About four months ago we stopped inviting them. Now when we meet at family gatherings they give us the cold shoulder.

We are planning a big get-together for all the family in December. Shall we include them although they are at least a dozen invitations behind?

— D. D.

DEAR D. D.: Do not exclude them from a family get-together even if they get 100 invitations behind. As relatives they should be invited to family functions, but I see no reason to keep entertaining them socially if they don't treat you in the same manner.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

State Agencies Approve Site For City Dump

Frostburg Will Prepare Application

FROSTBURG — It was announced at the Monday night meeting of the Frostburg Mayor and City Council that approval has been received from two state agencies on the selection of the site on Big Savage Mountain for the proposed city dump.

The letter from the Department of Mines, Geology and Water Resources stated in part that after an inspection of the area for the proposed dump and a study based on facts that seepage from the dump site will not contaminate the shallow water sources in that area. The other letter from the State Health Department said that on the basis of their study that they were prepared to issue a permit for the dump site after formal application has been made.

Council authorized the city clerk and city attorney to proceed with the preparations and submitting of applications to proper authorities.

$10,594 For Truck

Council also approved the expenditure of $10,594.20 for a new garbage truck and bed. The bed will have a capacity of 20 cubic yards of garbage and refuse which will be compacted as it is loaded. This compaction will permit picking up more refuse and making fewer trips to the dump. The loads will be completely covered thus preventing the blowing of paper and other trash from the truck. Frostburg Auto Company was awarded the contract for the truck chassis for a bid of $4,694.-20. The only other bid received was from Heiskell Motors for $5,-154. All bids were to specification furnished by the manufacturers of the Garwood Load Packer, to be used on the truck. The price for the packer will be $5,900.

William Preston, street commissioner, was given permission to purchase an electric welder at the cost of $185. Preston stated that the welder was used but was in excellent condition and carried a guarantee. The cost will be less than half of a new unit.

Maple Street from Mechanic to Aspinall has been closed temporarily while repairs are being made to a sewer in that area.

Donald Cook, councilman from Midland, asked the council if the trucker from his community would be able to secure a permit to dump refuse collected in Midland in the Frostburg Dump.

Council informed Cook that an agreement could be worked out with the trucker. Cook informed the Council that through experience he knew that operating a city dump was an expensive proposition and complimented the council on holding the charge to the Frostburg residents at $10 stating that a minimum charge of $18 was in effect in Midland.

William Sluss, executive director of Meshack Frost Village, asked if a lump sum could be charged the housing development for garbage collection. He stated that he would make any collections himself in the area on a monthly basis to be paid to the city. Council said they would take the matter under advisement for study.

Charles Wolfe, Maple Street, objected to the city permitting residents dumping ashes on the city parking lot near his home. He stated that clouds of dust blew over the neighborhood and said he did not appreciate a city dump in the middle of the town. Commissioner Preston was authorized to have signs erected prohibiting such dumping.

Permission was given the planning and zoning board of the city to use the city hall for regular meetings. Appointed to the appeals board for the planning and zoning commission were Harry Baker, East Main Street; Charles Wolfe, Maple Street, and Henry Shaffer, Grant Street.

Donald Griffith, chief of police, was authorized to place an order with the State Police for a new radio to be installed in the police cruiser. Griffith said in making the request that the state police had notified him that the present radio would be obsolete late next year as all their cruisers were being converted to the new broadcast band.

Zoning Approved

An interim zoning ordinance was adopted by the council which will regulate the issuing of building permits, the location and use of buildings, restricting and regulating the location of mobile homes or trailers in residential districts within the city limits.

In final action of the meeting a letter was read from the Civil Service Commission of the result of the hearing of the appeal by the two officers who were suspended from duty several weeks ago. The letter stated that the board was changing the suspension from 10 days for Patrolman Edward Bevans to two days and the five days for Patrolman James Pfaff to one day. Council did not take any action to give the men pay for the suspended days restored to them. The suspensions arose when the two officers drove a trucker, who had been injured in a fight and received medical attention at the hospital, to an Inn on Route 40, West to look for a set of $200 dentures lost by the one man. The patrolmen left the city at 4 a. m. and were out of town without permission for a period of a half hour. They were notified of their suspension the next day by letter from the Chief of Police Donald Griffith and Police Commissioner George Kennedy.

Stan Will Play Again, Become VP Upon Retiring

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Stan Musial, center of a disagreement between Cardinal general manager Bing Devine and recently-hired counselor Branch Rickey, will not only play with the Cardinals next season but will become a Cardinal vice president when he retires, club owner August A. Busch said Tuesday.

The statement came after reports of a squabble between the 45-year-old Devine and the 80-year-old Rickey. Rickey had suggested that Musial be asked to retire.

Busch emphasized that Devine is still running the Cardinals. "Since when do you ask a .330 hitter to retire unless you've got his equal to replace him?" Busch asked.

Musial, now working with young hitters at St. Petersburg, Fla., said he would play elsewhere if the Cardinals asked him to quit.

Referring to Rickey's recommendation, Musial said, "That is hard to believe because both Bing and Johnny (Keane) said they were counting on me. I won't retire, not in the good shape I am in and hitting the ball the way I did this season. If the Cardinals don't want me I know some other clubs that do."

Busch replied, "I told Frank Lane five years ago that Musial wouldn't be traded and I'm repeating now that Stan will finish his playing career in the Cardinal's uniform and that no one will wear No. 6 again.

"We need Stan's bat. He'll let us know when he's ready to quit. You just don't cast aside someone who figures as a vice president in your future plans," Busch said.

Rickey had suggested to Devine and manager Johnny Keane that Musial, who will be 42 years old this month, be asked to retire so that a younger man could be played.

Later, however, Rickey said he has changed his mind on the advice of Devine and Keane. He said he now feels it would be merely dangerous to regard a man of Musial's age as a regular.

Moyer To Fight Downes In London

LONDON (UPI) — Phil Moyer, the 23-year-old Portland, Ore., middleweight, will meet Britain's former world champ Terry Downes in a 10-round bout here next Tuesday.

Promoter Harry Levene signed Moyer and Downes to replace the cancelled British heavyweight title fight between holder Henry Cooper and Dick Richardson. Cooper had to call off the fight because of an injured elbow.

Moyer flies in Thursday.

Downes took this fight because it gives him a bigger purse than that offered by promoter Jack Solomons for a British title defense against John (Cowboy) McCormack of Scotland. Downes had been ordered to defend his title against McCormack by Nov. 27.

Pirates Tie Record

The Pittsburgh Pirates of 1962 tied the major league record for most games won at the start of the season when they copped 10 straight from April 10 through 22. This equalled the mark set by the 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers. This was also a new club mark for Pittsburgh, beating the mark of seven straight established by the 1938 Buccos.

Colleges Wage Full-Scale War Against Gamblers Using "Fix"

NCAA Stages Drive To Help Tighten Laws In 50 States

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — College officials quietly are waging a full-scale war against gamblers who use the dreaded "fix" in basketball and football.

Suspiciously fluctuating gambling odds are screened carefully and investigated. Scouting reports are examined for evidence of dirty work already in progress.

And equally important is a drive by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) to help tighten anti-gambling laws in all 50 states.

Things Right Now

"Things are quiet right now in the gambling conspiracy department," according to executive director Walt Byers of the NCAA. "Maybe it runs in cycles but at any rate it's a war we haven't yet won."

The approach of a new basketball season is viewed with high hopes but many fears.

Just why basketball is more susceptible to the "fix" by shaving points or outright dumping is a mystery to some but the NCAA knows from painful experience that it's true.

"We're always on the alert in both sports," says Byers, "but it's our feeling that basketball is the more vulnerable."

Byers said the fix-minded gamblers ran for cover during the Kefauver investigations and again while Sen. Kenneth Keating of New York was pushing a federal anti-gambling bill in congress.

Bill Starts Again

"The Senate passed the Keating Bill but the House didn't get around to it at the last session," Byers said. "They'll have to start all over again in January on new legislation.

"Meantime, the NCAA has pushed hard for state legislation and in the last year alone there has been action in nine states we felt had inadequate laws."

A year ago, the NCAA asked the University of Missouri law school to analyze state anti-gambling laws. In states where legislation either was inadequate or none existed at all, NCAA district vice presidents organized committees to see what could be done.

The law in North Carolina was regarded as perhaps the best of the state statutes and a copy of that bill was sent to all NCAA districts to serve as a model.

"Tight laws for bribing and accepting bribes to fix athletic contests give us one weapon," Byers said. "And it's a big weapon.

"But that doesn't mean we'll be able to relax. When you quit looking for trouble you're in trouble."

Titan Players' Checks 'Bounce'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Assistant Commissioner Milt Woodard of the American Football League said Tuesday that some of the pay checks for New York Titan players were turned down at the bank but that the situation now had been straightened out.

Woodard said he investigated when informed last Friday that "some of the checks had bounced."

Woodard said he had heard only of two or three checks bouncing but that he thought there were more.

Romney, Unbeaten In Two Years, Tests Keyser In Big One Friday

Keyser Seeks 14th PVC Title, Romney Sixth

Clash After 2-Year Lapse; Top Scorers To Face Each Other

Unbeaten on the gridiron for two straight years, Romney High School's Pioneers invade Keyser Friday afternoon to do battle with Keyser High School's Golden Tornado in a game that will determine the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference.

Romney goes into Friday's tilt with a two-year record of 16-0-1 mark and will be facing a Keyser team that will be placing three winning streaks on the line. Coach Roger Parker's Pioneers were 9-0 last season and they are 7-0-1 for the current campaign. The tie was a 7-7 affair with Beall High School, which later lost to Keyser, 24-0. The schools will be tangling for the first time since 1959.

Keyser (6-0) and Romney (5-0) shared the P.V.C. crown a year ago.

Own Three Win Streaks

The Golden Tornado owns a winning streak of eight games since losing the opener to Martinsburg, his reeled off 12 consecutive conference wins over two campaigns and has copped six in a row from Romney since 1953 when the Pioneers annexed the title. Romney won the 1953 game by the score of 16-13 but lost the next six to KHS, 21-0, 12-7, 19-7, 25-0, 49-0 and 32-0.

Like Keyser, Romney is unbeaten in league play over two seasons, one of the game being a tie. The Parkermen were 5-0 in 1961 and are 4-0-1 this year in the 11-school loop. Keyser has won six P.V.C. games in a row this season.

Seek 14th PVC Crown

The Golden Tornado will be shooting for its 14th P.V.C. championship in the 26-year history of the circuit in Friday's 1:30 p.m. contest.

Eleven of Keyser's past 13 championship teams have been coached by Frederick "Tack" Clark, who is serving his 20th year at the helm after having coached four seasons at Moorefield High School where he turned out his first championship eleven in 1942.

Homer Fizer had the first two winners at Keyser in 1937 and 1938. After tutoring Moorefield's champs just 20 years ago, Clark moved to Keyser in 1943 and turned out a winner there in his initial season. Keyser tied Ridgeley for the title in 1948 and captured championships outright in 1949, 1952, 1954, 1955, 1956 and 1957, tied the West Virginia School for the Deaf in 1958 and 1959 and shared honors with Romney a year ago.

Pioneers Won Five

The Pioneers have finished on top five times. Bob Kyle piloted winners in 1940 and 1941, Dick McElwee's 1950 team tied Moorefield and won the crown outright in 1953 and Parker's 1961 eleven and Keyser wound up in a deadlock for first place a year ago.

Parker's teams have won 19, lost 4 and played three ties in three years. At Keyser, Clark's teams are 145-56-5.

Chuck Seeks 3d Title

Charles "Chuck" Bradfield, of Keyser, is leading the P.V.C. scoring race with 56 points but right on his heels with 49 tallies is Sam Graham, of Romney. If Bradfield can stay on top he will have captured the conference scoring title for the third straight year. "Chuck" topped 'em all in 1960 with 53 tallies and repeated last year with 67.

Fort Hill High School is idle this weekend but Beall engages Allegany here Friday night in the 16th game of their modern series in which the Campers lead 14 to 1 in victories. The Mountaineers scored their first win of the series last year, 6-0, in Frostburg. In another Friday game, Westminster visits Frederick for a C.V.A. League engagement.

LaSalle Hosts Bruce

In Saturday action, Bruce plays LaSalle here, Martinsburg invades Winchester to play Handley High School's Judges, Berkeley Springs hosts Musselman, Grove City College visits Frostburg State and Potomac State's Catamounts entertain Baltimore Junior College, a school they have beaten six consecutive times in past years.

SOCCER STARS HOLD REUNION — Thirty-five years ago Bruce High School won its first soccer championship in the W.M.I. League and seven members of the 1927 squad and its manager celebrated the anniversary with a dinner Saturday at the American Legion Home in Westernport. The affair was arranged by Clarence "Mickey" McBee, fullback of the team coached by the late "Scotty" Hamilton. The Bruce players attending the dinner are pictured above, left to right: FRONT ROW—Edward Warnick, Elmer Wymer, manager, Clarence McBee and Frank Patrone. BACK ROW — Charles "Swede" Boyce, Gordon "Andy" Smith, now of Brooklyn, N. Y., Goalie Floyd Newlon and Milton McIntyre. The Bruce booters of 1927 posted an 8-1-1 record.

Mt. Savage Wins Junior High Soccer Tourney At Frostburg

Valley Defeated By 4-0 Margin In Title Contest

Mt. Savage was the winner of the junior high school soccer tournament staged yesterday afternoon at Frostburg State Teachers College field under the sponsorship of the college's athletic department.

Four schools participated in the invitational affair, with Mt. Savage defeating Valley 4-0 in the championship game, and Beall downing Bruce 3-1 in the consolation contest.

In the first round of games, Valley whipped Beall 5-1, and Mt. Savage beat out Bruce in a playoff after the regulation contest ended in a 1-1 tie. The Savage team made two penalty kicks to Bruce's one in the playoff.

Yesterday's tournament was under the supervision of FSTC soccer coach Ken Babcock, who hopes to make the program an annual event.

Wilt Sets Out To Rewrite Book Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wilt Chamberlain, who set 10 National Basketball Association scoring records last season, is setting out to rewrite the book again in the new campaign.

The seven-foot San Francisco Warrior center is off to the fastest start ever made by an NBA player, it was revealed Tuesday by official league statistics. Chamberlain has registered 380 points in his first seven games for a per-game average of 54.3 points, bettering the start he himself made in 1961-62 with 342 points and a 48.8 average at this point of the season.

Chamberlain is outdistancing his closest rivals for scoring honors by almost 25 points a game as a result of his fabulous start. Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers, who has played two more games than the Stilt, has 278 points in eight games for a 33.1 average.

Jerry West of the Lakers is fourth with 261 points, followed by Richie Guerin of the New York Knickerbockers, Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, Johnny Green and Willie Naulls of the Knicks, Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Gene Shue of New York.

Ironically, although the Knicks have four men among the leaders, they have won only two of 10 starts.

All-America Prospect Drops Out Of School

Bill Chmialewski Leaves Dayton U.

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — The University of Dayton announced late Tuesday that Bill Chmialewski, 6-10 pivot man on the Flyers' basketball team, had withdrawn from school because of financial problems.

Chmialewski, one of the star players mentioned in early season as a possible All-America, met with coach Tom Blackburn Tuesday morning. The youth agreed to consider the matter a few more hours and announced his decision in the afternoon.

A spokesman for Blackburn said the 20-year-old, 235-pound junior from Detroit gave no specific reason for his decision to drop out of school but indicated he was worried about financial problems. His wife is expecting a child.

Chmialewski, contacted at home while preparing to leave for Detroit, said "I'm going to Detroit and never going to come back."

When asked why he was leaving, he replied: "It doesn't have to do with being married, money or anything."

The youth said he would try to play AAU ball around his hometown and hoped to be able to play pro basketball some day.

He withdrew last year for a short period for financial reasons. Last season the star center was named the National Invitation Tournament's most valuable player.

"I think it will be best for all concerned under the circumstances. I want to wish the ball club and the staff the best for the remainder of the season."

Hirsch announced that line coach Harland Svare will take over as interim head coach.

The Rams have won only one of seven National League football games this season, and had poor seasons in two previous years.

Waterfield has been head coach for 2½ season. He was in the third year of a five-year contract. Terms of his severance were not disclosed.

Contacted at his home and asked to comment, Waterfield said: "I dont' think it's necessary to say anything else."

Mrs. Gilliam asked for reasonable alimony and said her husband earned $35,000 a year. She asked for custody of their child and listed her expenses as $840 monthly.

Romney, Unbeaten In Two Years, Tests Keyser In Big One Friday

Clash After 2-Year Lapse; Top Scorers To Face Each Other

Unbeaten on the gridiron for two straight years, Romney High School's Pioneers invade Keyser Friday afternoon to do battle with Keyser High School's Golden Tornado in a game that will determine the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference.

Romney goes into Friday's tilt with a two-year record of 16-0-1 mark and will be facing a Keyser team that will be placing three winning streaks on the line. Coach Roger Parker's Pioneers were 9-0 last season and they are 7-0-1 for the current campaign. The tie was a 7-7 affair with Beall High School, which later lost to Keyser, 24-0. The schools will be tangling for the first time since 1959.

Keyser (6-0) and Romney (5-0) shared the P.V.C. crown a year ago.

Own Three Win Streaks

The Golden Tornado owns a winning streak of eight games since losing the opener to Martinsburg, his reeled off 12 consecutive conference wins over two campaigns and has copped six in a row from Romney since 1953 when the Pioneers annexed the title. Romney won the 1953 game by the score of 18-13 but lost the next six to KHS, 21-0, 12-7, 19-7, 25-0, 49-0 and 32-0.

Like Keyser, Romney is unbeaten in league play over two seasons, one of the game being a tie. The Parkermen were 5-0 in 1961 and are 4-0-1 this year in the 11-school loop. Keyser has won six P.V.C. games in a row this season.

Seek 14th PVC Crown

The Golden Tornado will be shooting for its 14th P.V.C. championship in the 26-year history of the circuit in Friday's 1:30 p.m. contest.

Eleven of Keyser's past 13 championship teams have been coached by Frederick "Tack" Clark, who is serving his 20th year at the helm after having coached four seasons at Moorefield High School where he turned out his first championship eleven in 1942.

Homer Fizer had the first two winners at Keyser in 1937 and 1938. After tutoring Moorefield's champs just 20 years ago, Clark moved to Keyser in 1943 and turned out a winner there in his initial season. Keyser tied Ridgeley for the title in 1948 and captured championships outright in 1949, 1952, 1954, 1955, 1956 and 1957, tied the West Virginia School for the Deaf in 1958 and 1959 and shared honors with Romney a year ago.

Pioneers Won Five

The Pioneers have finished on top five times. Bob Kyle piloted winners in 1940 and 1941, Dick McElwee's 1950 team tied Moorefield and won the crown outright in 1953 and Parker's 1961 eleven and Keyser wound up in a deadlock for first place a year ago.

Parker's teams have won 19, lost 4 and played three ties in three years. At Keyser, Clark's teams are 145-56-5.

Chuck Seeks 3d Title

Charles "Chuck" Bradfield, of Keyser, is leading the P.V.C. scoring race with 56 points but right on his heels with 49 tallies is Sam Graham, of Romney. If Bradfield can stay on top he will have captured the conference scoring title for the third straight year. "Chuck" topped 'em all in 1960 with 53 tallies and repeated last year with 67.

Fort Hill High School is idle this weekend but Beall engages Allegany here Friday night in the 16th game of their modern series in which the Campers lead 14 to 1 in victories. The Mountaineers scored their first win of the series last year, 6-0, in Frostburg. In another Friday game, Westminster visits Frederick for a C.V.A. League engagement.

LaSalle Hosts Bruce

In Saturday action, Bruce plays LaSalle here, Martinsburg invades Winchester to play Handley High School's Judges, Berkeley Springs hosts Musselman, Grove City College visits Frostburg State and Potomac State's Catamounts entertain Baltimore Junior College, a school they have beaten six consecutive times in past years.

SOCCER STARS HOLD REUNION — Thirty-five years ago Bruce High School won its first soccer championship in the W.M.I. League and seven members of the 1927 squad and its manager celebrated the anniversary with a dinner Saturday at the American Legion Home in Westernport. The affair was arranged by Clarence "Mickey" McBee, fullback of the team coached by the late "Scotty" Hamilton. The Bruce players attending the dinner are pictured above, left to right: FRONT ROW—Edward Warnick, Elmer Wymer, manager, Clarence McBee and Frank Patrone. BACK ROW — Charles "Swede" Boyce, Gordon "Andy" Smith, now of Brooklyn, N. Y., Goalie Floyd Newlon and Milton McIntyre. The Bruce booters of 1927 posted an 8-1-1 record.

In the first round of games, Valley whipped Beall 5-1, and Mt. Savage beat out Bruce in a playoff after the regulation contest ended in a 1-1 tie. The Savage team made two penalty kicks to Bruce's one in the playoff.

Windy Miss Cops Interborough 'Cap

NEW YORK, N. Y. Nov. 6 (AP) —Roy Sturgis' Windy Miss scored an easy victory in the 41st running of the $22,850 Interborough Handicap at Aqueduct Race Track today.

The only 3-year-old in the field of eight, the daughter of Windy City 2nd-Ray Count Miss stepped the six furlongs in the swift time of 1:09 4/5, four fifths off the track record, in scoring by two lengths over Pin Oak Stable's Play Time, who took the place by a length and a half over Leonard P. Sasso's Staretta.

Windy Miss was rated off the pace until mid-stretch, Jockey Willie Shoemaker swinging her outside to run by the pace-setters.

Second choice in the betting with the crowd of 44,103, Windy Miss returned the across the board mutuels of $9.10, $4.70 and $3.10. Play Time paid $5.50 and $3.20 and Staretta was $3.10 to show.

Windy Miss earned a net purse of $14,852.50.

Northwestern, Badgers Rated At Even Money

Duke Picked By 6 Over Terps, Lions By 13 Over W.V.U.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Northwestern, the nation's top-ranked team, was rated at only even money Tuesday for Saturday's clash with Wisconsin, rated No. 7 nationally.

In a rundown of odds on this weekend's big games, Northwestern's closest rivals for the national championship — Alabama, Southern California, Mississippi, and Texas — all were listed as solid favorites.

Northwestern, however, had to fight all out for a 26-21 victory over Indiana last week to run its record for the season to 6-0. Wisconsin, which will be the home team, has lost only to Ohio State in six games and is fresh from a 34-12 rout of Michigan.

Alabama Is Favored

Second-ranked Alabama is a 3-point choice to score its 19th straight victory at the expense of Miami (Fla.). Third-ranked Southern California is a 14-point favorite to stay on the road to the Rose Bowl by beating Stanford. Mississippi is a no-odds prohibitive favorite over Chattanooga. And fifth-ranked Texas is picked by 8 points over Baylor.

Here are the odds on other leading games:

East — Navy and Syracuse, even; Princeton 7 over Harvard; Penn State 13 over West Virginia.

Duke Picked Over Terps

South — Duke 6 over Maryland; South Carolina 6 over North Carolina State; Virginia Tech 7 over Wake Forest; Auburn 12 over Mississippi State; Florida 12 over Georgia; Louisiana State 13 over Texas Christian; Georgia Tech 14 over Florida State; Kentucky 14 over Vanderbilt; Tennessee 18 over Tulane.

Midwest — Michigan 1 over Illinois; Notre Dame 3 over Pitt; Michigan State 6 over Purdue; Kansas 7 over Nebraska; Minnesota 9 over Iowa; Oklahoma 10 over Iowa State; Ohio State 18 over Indiana.

Southwest — SMU 4 over Texas A&M; Arkansas 12 over Rice.

West — Oregon 14 over Washington State.

West Virginian Named Captain Of Iron Dukes

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Terry Malloy, 6-5 senior from Huntington, W. Va., was named captain of the Duquesne basketball team for 1962-63.

Coach Red Manning said Tuesday Malloy figures heavily in Duquesne's plans for the coming season.

Last year the Dukes compiled a 22-7 record and received a bid to the NIT.

Four members of that squad have been graduated and the Dukes also lost All-America candidate Willie Somerset for the season with a leg bone injury.

Eagles Pick Up Steeler Castoff

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Eagles have placed defensive tackle Don Oakes on waivers and replaced him by signing John Kapelle, it was announced Tuesday by general manager Vince McNally.

Kapelle, a Hawaiian of Brigham Young University and a three-year veteran of the National Football League, was released last week by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Kapelle, six-feet and 240 pounds plays both defense end and tackle.

'DON'T LET ME DIE'—Injured severely when his sports car cracked up in speed trials for Mexico's first Grand Prix, Ricardo Rodriguez, 21-year-old Mexican race driver, begged those around him "don't let me die . . . please don't let me die." But Rodriguez succumbed shortly thereafter. He was a teen-age idol, along with his brother Pedro, also a racer who was at the scene in Mexico City.

the GREAT PLAY in College Football

Ron Meade

THE TALENTED toe of a 6-1, 175-pound quarterback, who saw little action other than as a kicker, provided what will be remembered as one of the greatest plays in University of Nebraska football history.

Ron Meade's toe made the difference on a mild Homecoming afternoon in Lincoln as the Cornhuskers in 1959 ended a string of 74 games without defeat for coach Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma Sooners.

Meade provided seven points in the 25-21 conquest of the Sooners as the Cornhuskers provided a capacity crowd of alumni with a day to remember.

The quarterback from Canby, Minn., had provided the Huskers with a 15-14 lead in the third quarter with a 22-yard field goal and started coach Bill Jennings' underdogs on their way.

But even after the Cornhuskers had built up a 22-14 margin, fans still thought it couldn't be true and many expected the Sooners to stage a last quarter comeback.

The play that will live forever in the minds of thousands of Cornhusker fans who viewed the game came with 7:20 remaining.

Nebraska had moved the ball to the Oklahoma 23 where the attack was stopped, but Meade was ushered in with kicking tee in hand and promptly booted a field goal.

Cornhusker fans went wild and now realized that one of the greatest upsets of the midlands was in the making. For the final seven minutes every fan was on his feet and the shouting didn't stop until well into the night.

Citizens of England Town Raising Money To Buy Race Horse

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, England (AP)—It all started with a few mugs of ale as a joke in a local pub—where else?

Citizens of this England town of 30,000 have decided to buy a race horse. They want to purchase a jumper to start in the world famous Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree.

Norman Pearson, 54-year-old owner of the tavern, said some of his customers were joking about owning a horse.

"I said we should buy our own horse," said Pearson. "Everyone jumped at the idea. Soon everybody knew about the plan, and thousands wanted to get into the act."

Residents are buying 100 shares at 10 pounds ($28) to get up enough money to purchase the steeplechaser. Some with only a few shillings to spare are forming syndicates to buy 10-pound shares.

What would they name the horse?

Perri Named Taper Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (UPI)—Marion Perri, who still uses crutches because of a boyhood polio attack Tuesday was named coach of the Philadelphia Tapers of the American Basketball League.

The 35-year-old Perri, who has been coaching sports teams since he was 12 but never was able to play, is a vice-president of Technical Tape Co. of New Rochelle, N.Y.

Perri already has moved here and taken over the team's first full-time coach, succeeding Stan Stutz, also a technical tape executive, who filled in since the transfer of the Tapers here from New York.

Despite his affliction as a youngster, Perri studied basketball and baseball avidly and began by coaching neighborhood teams. He was coaching the semi pro New Rochelle Aggies when he was asked to join the Tape company. Assigned to the firm's athletic program, and production department, he worked up through the ranks to the vice presidency.

The Tapers open their schedule Nov. 14 against the Chicago Majors at Convention Hall here.

The Cleveland Indians were involved in 27 shutouts last season. American League rivals blanked them 15 times.

Championship Cage Games Off Because Of Visa Refusal

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—The world basketball championships, scheduled for Manila in the Philippines Dec. 1-15, were canceled Tuesday but arrangements were begun to hold the tournament at another site on another date.

"The fourth world championships will be held within the next six months in a country that does not engage in such unacceptable discriminatory practices," a spokesman for the International Amateur Basketball Federation said.

The reference was to the Philippines' refusal to grant visas to a team from Yugoslavia, a Communist country.

There was no immediate indication where the tournament would be moved.

Corum Awed By Size Of Lions

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia Coach Gene Corum, who has been studying movies of Saturday's foe, Penn State, said Tuesday, "Some of Coach Rip Engle's boys are so big and strong there ought to be a law against their playing college football."

Corum added he thought it would be only fair "to have two of those — end Dave Robinson and tackle Chuck Sieminski — play with 50 - pound weights strapped to each ankle."

The WVU coach said "it will take a supreme effort on the part of our players to make a contest out of it. The Nittany Lions are exceptionally well coached. We're pleased to have the opportunity to try to compete against a team of their calibre."

Penn State is ranked 13th in the nation this week by United Press International. "As far as I'm concerned they're not ranked high enough," Corum said. "We certainly consider them one of the nation's very best."

Despite Corum's high regard for Penn State, Engle is not taking Saturday's game at University Park, Pa., for granted. Penn State beat the Mountaineers 20-6 last year but was held scoreless in the second half.

DICK Donovan, a 20-game winner for the Cleveland Indians last season, turned in five shutouts.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Baltimore Ticket Manager

Hofmann Is Charged With Transportation Of Stolen Money

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Federal grand jury indicted Michael A. Hofmann Tuesday in connection with the disappearance last September of tickets and money from the Baltimore Colts.

The indictment charges Hofmann with interstate transportation of stolen money in excess of $5,000.

Hofmann was ticket manager for the Colts from November 1961 until he disappeared Sept. 10 on the eve of an audit of his books.

Don Kellett, general manager of the Colts, said at the time that $100,000 worth of tickets and cash was missing. A spokesman said Tuesday that the exact number of tickets or amount of money had never been determined.

More than 500 season and individual game tickets were sold at least twice each. The resulting snarl required weeks of work by the National Football League club to straighten out.

The FBI said Hofmann had traveled to San Francisco, Reno and Chicago after his disappearance. He was arrested at his home in Baltimore.

Air-Weary Pro Golfers Rush To Argentina

Group To Compete In International

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Gary Player, the little South African, led a group of four air-weary golfers into Buenos Aires Tuesday, rushing here from Sydney, Australia, so they would be able to compete in the International trophy and Canada Cup matches starting Thursday.

Player, the current Masters champion, Peter Thomson, four-time British Open Champion, Kel Nagle, the Australian star, and Bob Charles of New Zealand formed the globe-circling group which spent 35 hours in the air to get here for the tournament.

"It was a long, weary trip, but well worth it," said Thomson. "We put all this effort and time into getting here because we feel this tournament is of real international importance and that our countries must be represented."

Thomson said he rated the International second only to the British Open among the world's golf tournaments.

Rule Book Ignored

'Of course, the fact I have won the Open four times may have a little to do with my thinking in this regard," Thomson smiled.

Player forms the South African team with Dennis Hutchinson, while Charles will represent New Zealand along with Ernie Shouterden.

Because 33 countries will be represented in all, and there are language and other barriers, Fred Corcoran, tournament director of the International Golf Association, announced that the rule book will be thrown out of the window for this tournament.

"It would be unfair to penalize a golfer for turning in an incorrect scorecard or having too many clubs in his bag because rules vary in different countries," Corcoran explained.

Snead, Palmer Practice

The United States team of Sammy Snead and Arnold Palmer playing with the Argentine team of Robert de Vincenzo and Fidel de Luca, drew the biggest gallery in Tuesday's practice round at the Jockey Club course, over which the four day tourney will be played starting Thursday.

Snead, who had a three-under-par 67 in his first practice round Monday, announced that he would use the larger U. S. ball in the tourney. Palmer said he would not decide whether to use the large ball or the smaller British ball until after his practice rounds Tuesday and Wednesday under the rules, a golfer may use either ball.

Snead shot a six-under-par 32-32 — 64 in his second practice round while Palmer, playing the course for the first time, had an even par 70 with rounds of 33 and 37.

Trio Tied For Lead In Hockey Scoring

MONTREAL (UPI) — Parker MacDonald, a 29-year old wing who scored only 12 points during the entire 1961-62 season, has already topped that total this year to gain a three-way tie for the National Hockey League's individual scoring lead.

MacDonald has tallied eight goals and five assists in 10 games for the unbeaten Detroit Red Wings. His total of 13 points places him in a three-way tie with Henri Richard of the Montreal Canadiens and Alex Delvecchio of the Red Wings. MacDonald scored only five goals and had only seven assists during the 1961-62 season.

Terry Sawchuk of the Red Wings leads the goalies with a 1.30 average and Detroit's Howie Young leads in penalties with 28 minutes.

Pender-Torres Bout Called Off

Challenger Can't Meet Guarantee

BOSTON (UPI) — The middleweight title fight between Paul Pender and Jose Torres scheduled for Boston Garden Nov. 15 was called off Tuesday when Torres' manager said he could not raise a $100,000 guarantee for Pender.

The announcement was made at a press conference Tuesday by Cus D'Amato, manager for both Torres and former world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

D'Amato had been expected to deliver $95,000 of the guarantee to Pender Tuesday. He had already given Pender $5,000 of a $100,000 guarantee.

D'Amato said he was unable to raise the money because the entire purse from the Sept. 25 heavyweight title fight between Patterson and Sonny Liston, had been seized by Internal Revenue agents.

"I am in no way criticizing the U. S. government," D'Amato said. "They had good and sufficient reasons for seizing the money.

"I am an innocent victim of their difficulties with the promoters of the Chicago fight.

"Torre's also becomes an innocent victim. For the first time in my life, I have failed to meet a committment. I apologize to everyone in boxing," D'Amato said.

Politicking Pro Cager Fined By Oakland Team

OAKLAND, Calif., (AP) — Jim Hadnot, running for the Assembly in Rhode Island, was fined $100 Tuesday by the Oakland pro basketball team management for failure to show up here.

The 6-foot, 10-inch rookie on the Oakland team in the American Basketball League, is a week overdue because of politics.

Hadnot, a Democrat, campaigned against a wealthy GOP assemblyman, Frederick Lippit.

"We wish Jim all the luck in the election," Oaks General Manager Joe Anzivino said. "But we've got a campaign of our own to win and he figures in it."

"But if Hadnot wins the election the fine is off," Anzivino declared.

Harriers Will Vie For County Titles In Thursday Meet

The fourth annual Allegany county cross-country championship meet will be staged Thursday at 3:45 on the Fort Cumberland Golf Course, it was announced last night by Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany county schools.

For the fourth successive year Fort Hill, Beall and Allegany harriers will vie for the Class "A" title won last year by Fort Hill. Beall captured the title in 1960 and Fort Hill was the 1959 winner.

Oldtown, Allegany, Beall and Fort Hill hill and dale runners will compete in the Class "B" meet.

The state meet will be staged at Hereford High School, Parkton, Saturday, November 17.

Swap's Son Wins

CHERRY HILL, N. J (UPI) — Swapson, the Chestnut colt for which industrialist John Olin paid a record $130,000 as a yearling in 1961, finally got to the races Tuesday and earned $2,400 by winning the third race at Garden State park.

The son of Swaps-Obedient by Mahmoud, plagued by minor ailments which delayed his racing debut, was ridden by Manny Ycaza and paid only $3.40. The 2-year-old was timed in 1:13 3-5 for six furlongs in beating 11 other maidens.

THE BEST?—Probably the best all-around college football player in the country is George Saimes, the Michigan State fullback, who not only is one of the big Spartan offensive threats but is a star on defense, too, and rates as the best blocking back on the team.

THE Cleveland Indians of 1962 won 24 games by a one-run margin and lost 21.

THE Mississippi-Tulane football series dates back to 1893. Ole Miss leads 13-7.

Urbas, Marteney Hounds Set Pace In Point Trials

Hounds owned by Frank Urbas, of Eckhart, and C. E. Marteney, of Keyser, led their respective classes in the five point trials held this year by the Allegany Beagle Club, according to a recount made yesterday by Louis Stitcher, club secretary.

Maggie Lee III, owned by Urbas, was tops in the 13 inch class with 34 points followed by Beeman's Cindy, owned by Allen W. Beeman, of Frostburg, with 31, and Winter's Daisy, owned by Elmer R. Winter, Cresaptown, with 30.

Pearl's Spot, owned by Marteney, was first in the 15 inch class with 19¼ tallies. Beeman's Pardee Baritone was runner-up with 13, Shady Ridge Belle, owned by D. C. Stone, Cumberland, finished third with 11 followed by Bernard Harden's Mt. City Freckles with 10 and Winter's Rex, owned by Elmer R. Winter with 9⅖ points.

The standings as published yesterday had Beeman's Cindy and Pardee Baritone as the leaders of their respective classes and the changes were made when an error in tabulation was discovered.

Twenty-one hounds qualified for the Winners' Stake to be held Sunday at the Allegany Beagle Club.

Northwestern, Badgers Rated At Even Money

Duke Picked By 6 Over Terps, Lions By 13 Over W.V.U.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Northwestern, the nation's top-ranked team, was rated at only even money Tuesday for Saturday's clash with Wisconsin, rated No. 7 nationally.

In a rundown of odds on this weekend's big games, Northwestern's closest rivals for the national championship — Alabama, Southern California, Mississippi, and Texas — all were listed as solid favorites.

Northwestern, however, had to fight all out for a 26-21 victory over Indiana last week to run its record for the season to 6-0. Wisconsin, which will be the home team, has lost only to Ohio State in six games and is fresh from a 34-12 rout of Michigan.

Alabama Is Favored

Second-ranked Alabama is a 3-point choice to score its 19th straight victory at the expense of Miami (Fla.). Third-ranked Southern California is a 14-point favorite to stay on the road to the Rose Bowl by beating Stanford. Mississippi is a no-odds prohibitive favorite over Chattanooga. And fifth-ranked Texas is picked by 8 points over Baylor.

Here are the odds on other leading games:

West Virginian Named Captain Of Iron Dukes

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Terry Malloy, 6-5 senior from Huntington, W. Va., was named captain of the Duquesne basketball team for 1962-63.

Coach Red Manning said Tuesday Malloy figures heavily in Duquesne's plans for the coming season.

Last year the Dukes compiled a 22-7 record and received a bid to the NIT.

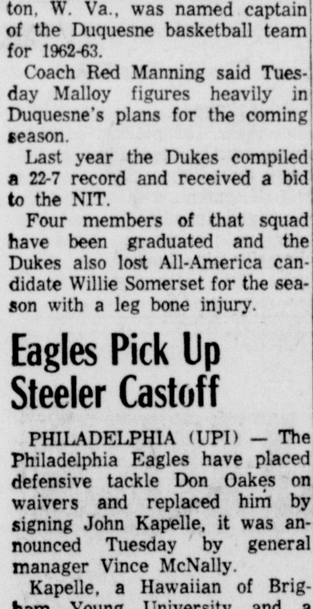

Four members of that squad have been graduated and the Dukes also lost All-America candidate Willie Somerset for the season with a leg bone injury.

Eagles Pick Up Steeler Castoff

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Eagles have placed defensive tackle Don Oakes on waivers and replaced him by signing John Kapelle, it was announced Tuesday by general manager Vince McNally.

Kapelle, a Hawaiian of Brigham Young University and a three-year veteran of the National Football League, was released last week by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Kapelle, six-feet and 240 pounds plays both defense end and tackle.

'DON'T LET ME DIE'—Injured severely when his sports car cracked up in speed trials for Mexico's first Grand Prix, Ricardo Rodriguez, 21-year-old Mexican race driver, begged those around him "don't let me die . . . please don't let me die." But Rodriguez succumbed shortly thereafter. He was a teen-age idol, along with his brother Pedro, also a racer who was at the scene in Mexico City.

the GREAT PLAY in College Football

Ron Meade

THE TALENTED toe of a 6-1, 175-pound quarterback, who saw little action other than as a kicker, provided what will be remembered as one of the greatest plays in University of Nebraska football history.

Ron Meade's toe made the difference on a mild Homecoming afternoon in Lincoln as the Cornhuskers in 1959 ended a string of 74 games without defeat for coach Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma Sooners.

Meade provided seven points in the 25-21 conquest of the Sooners as the Cornhuskers provided a capacity crowd of alumni with a day to remember.

The quarterback from Canby, Minn., had provided the Huskers with a 15-14 lead in the third quarter with a 22-yard field goal and started coach Bill Jennings' underdogs on their way.

But even after the Cornhuskers had built up a 22-14 margin, fans still thought it couldn't be true and many expected the Sooners to stage a last quarter comeback.

The play that will live forever in the minds of thousands of Cornhusker fans who viewed the game came with 7:20 remaining.

Nebraska had moved the ball to the Oklahoma 23 where the attack was stopped, but Meade was ushered in with kicking tee in hand and promptly booted a field goal.

Cornhusker fans went wild and now realized that one of the greatest upsets of the midlands was in the making. For the final seven minutes every fan was on his feet and the shouting didn't stop until well into the night.

Citizens of England Town Raising Money To Buy Race Horse

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, England (AP)—It all started with a few mugs of ale as a joke in a local pub—where else?

Citizens of this England town of 30,000 have decided to buy a race horse. They want to purchase a jumper to start in the world famous Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree.

Norman Pearson, 54-year-old owner of the tavern, said some of his customers were joking about owning a horse.

"I said we should buy our own horse," said Pearson. "Everyone jumped at the idea. Soon everybody knew about the plan, and thousands wanted to get into the act."

Residents are buying 100 shares at 10 pounds ($28) to get up enough money to purchase the steeplechaser. Some with only a few shillings to spare are forming syndicates to buy 10-pound shares.

What would they name the horse?

Tunbridge Wells, of course.

Perri Named Taper Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (UPI)—Marion Perri, who still uses crutches because of a boyhood polio attack Tuesday was named coach of the Philadelphia Tapers of the American Basketball League.

The 35-year-old Perri, who has been coaching sports teams since he was 12 but never was able to play, is a vice-president of Technical Tape Co. of New Rochelle, N.Y.

Perri already has moved here and taken over the team's first full-time coach, succeeding Stan Stutz, also a technical tape executive, who filled in since the transfer of the Tapers here from New York.

Despite his affliction as a youngster, Perri studied basketball and baseball avidly and began by coaching neighborhood teams. He was coaching the semi pro New Rochelle Aggies when he was asked to join the Tape company. Assigned to the firm's athletic program, and production department, he worked up through the ranks to the vice presidency.

The Tapers open their schedule Nov. 14 against the Chicago Majors at Convention Hall here.

The Cleveland Indians were involved in 27 shutouts last season. American League rivals blanked them 15 times.

Championship Cage Games Off Because Of Visa Refusal

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—The world basketball championships, scheduled for Manila in the Philippines Dec. 1-15, were canceled Tuesday but arrangements were begun to hold the tournament at another site on another date.

"The fourth world championships will be held within the next six months in a country that does not engage in such unacceptable discriminatory practices," a spokesman for the International Amateur Basketball Federation said.

The reference was to the Philippines' refusal to grant visas to a team from Yugoslavia, a Communist country.

There was no immediate indication where the tournament would be moved.

Corum Awed By Size Of Lions

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia Coach Gene Corum, who has been studying movies of Saturday's foe, Penn State, said Tuesday, "Some of Coach Rip Engle's boys are so big and strong there ought to be a law against their playing college football."

Corum added he thought it would be only fair "to have two of those — end Dave Robinson and tackle Chuck Sieminski — play with 50 - pound weights strapped to each ankle."

The WVU coach said "it will take a supreme effort on the part of our players to make a contest out of it. The Nittany Lions are exceptionally well coached. We're pleased to have the opportunity to try to compete against a team of their calibre."

Penn State is ranked 13th in the nation this week by United Press International. "As far as I'm concerned they're not ranked high enough," Corum said. "We certainly consider them one of the nation's very best."

Despite Corum's high regard for Penn State, Engle is not taking Saturday's game at University Park, Pa., for granted. Penn State beat the Mountaineers 20-6 last year but was held scoreless in the second half.

DICK Donovan, a 20-game winner for the Cleveland Indians last season, turned in five shutouts.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Baltimore Ticket Manager

Hofmann Is Charged With Transportation Of Stolen Money

The indictment charges Hofmann with interstate transportation of stolen money in excess of $5,000.

Hofmann was ticket manager for the Colts from November 1961 until he disappeared Sept. 10 on the eve of an audit of his books.

Don Kellett, general manager of the Colts, said at the time that $100,000 worth of tickets and cash was missing. A spokesman said Tuesday that the exact number of tickets or amount of money had never been determined.

More than 500 season and individual game tickets were sold at least twice each. The resulting snarl required weeks of work by the National Football League club to straighten out.

The FBI said Hofmann had traveled to San Francisco, Reno and Chicago after his disappearance. He was arrested at his home in Baltimore.

Air-Weary Pro Golfers Rush To Argentina

Group To Compete In International

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Gary Player, the little South African, led a group of four air-weary golfers into Buenos Aires Tuesday, rushing here from Sydney, Australia, so they would be able to compete in the International trophy and Canada Cup matches starting Thursday.

Player, the current Masters champion, Peter Thomson, four-time British Open Champion, Kel Nagle, the Australian star, and Bob Charles of New Zealand formed the globe-circling group which spent 35 hours in the air to get here for the tournament.

"It was a long, weary trip, but well worth it," said Thomson. "We put all this effort and time into getting here because we feel this tournament is of real international importance and that our countries must be represented."

Thomson said he rated the International second only to the British Open among the world's golf tournaments.

Rule Book Ignored

'Of course, the fact I have won the Open four times may have a little to do with my thinking in this regard," Thomson smiled.

Player forms the South African team with Dennis Hutchinson, while Charles will represent New Zealand along with Ernie Shouterden.

Because 33 countries will be represented in all, and there are language and other barriers, Fred Corcoran, tournament director of the International Golf Association, announced that the rule book will be thrown out of the window for this tournament.

"It would be unfair to penalize a golfer for turning in an incorrect scorecard or having too many clubs in his bag because rules vary in different countries," Corcoran explained.

Snead, Palmer Practice

The United States team of Sammy Snead and Arnold Palmer playing with the Argentine team of Robert de Vincenzo and Fidel de Luca, drew the biggest gallery in Tuesday's practice round at the Jockey Club course, over which the four day tourney will be played starting Thursday.

Snead, who had a three-under-par 67 in his first practice round Monday, announced that he would use the larger U. S. ball in the tourney. Palmer said he would not decide whether to use the large ball or the smaller British ball until after his practice rounds Tuesday and Wednesday under the rules, a golfer may use either ball.

Snead shot a six-under-par 32-32 — 64 in his second practice round while Palmer, playing the course for the first time, had an even par 70 with rounds of 33 and 37.

Trio Tied For Lead In Hockey Scoring

MONTREAL (UPI) — Parker MacDonald, a 29-year old wing who scored only 12 points during the entire 1961-62 season, has already topped that total this year to gain a three-way tie for the National Hockey League's individual scoring lead.

MacDonald has tallied eight goals and five assists in 10 games for the unbeaten Detroit Red Wings. His total of 13 points places him in a three-way tie with Henri Richard of the Montreal Canadiens and Alex Delvecchio of the Red Wings. MacDonald scored only five goals and had only seven assists during the 1961-62 season.

Terry Sawchuk of the Red Wings leads the goalies with a 1.30 average and Detroit's Howie Young leads in penalties with 28 minutes.

Pender-Torres Bout Called Off

Challenger Can't Meet Guarantee

BOSTON (UPI) — The middleweight title fight between Paul Pender and Jose Torres scheduled for Boston Garden Nov. 15 was called off Tuesday when Torres' manager said he could not raise a $100,000 guarantee for Pender.

The announcement was made at a press conference Tuesday by Cus D'Amato, manager for both Torres and former world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

D'Amato had been expected to deliver $95,000 of the guarantee to Pender Tuesday. He had already given Pender $5,000 of a $100,000 guarantee.

D'Amato said he was unable to raise the money because the entire purse from the Sept. 25 heavyweight title fight between Patterson and Sonny Liston, had been seized by Internal Revenue agents.

"I am in no way criticizing the U. S. government," D'Amato said. "They had good and sufficient reasons for seizing the money.

"I am an innocent victim of their difficulties with the promoters of the Chicago fight.

"Torre's also becomes an innocent victim. For the first time in my life, I have failed to meet a committment. I apologize to everyone in boxing," D'Amato said.

Politicking Pro Cager Fined By Oakland Team

OAKLAND, Calif., (AP) — Jim Hadnot, running for the Assembly in Rhode Island, was fined $100 Tuesday by the Oakland pro basketball team management for failure to show up here.

The 6-foot, 10-inch rookie on the Oakland team in the American Basketball League, is a week overdue because of politics.

Hadnot, a Democrat, campaigned against a wealthy GOP assemblyman, Frederick Lippit.

"We wish Jim all the luck in the election," Oaks General Manager Joe Anzivino said. "But we've got a campaign of our own to win and he figures in it."

"But if Hadnot wins the election the fine is off," Anzivino declared.

Harriers Will Vie For County Titles In Thursday Meet

The fourth annual Allegany county cross-country championship meet will be staged Thursday at 3:45 on the Fort Cumberland Golf Course, it was announced last night by Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany county schools.

For the fourth successive year Fort Hill, Beall and Allegany harriers will vie for the Class "A" title won last year by Fort Hill. Beall captured the title in 1960 and Fort Hill was the 1959 winner.

Oldtown, Allegany, Beall and Fort Hill hill and dale runners will compete in the Class "B" meet.

The state meet will be staged at Hereford High School, Parkton, Saturday, November 17.

Swap's Son Wins

CHERRY HILL, N. J (UPI) — Swapson, the Chestnut colt for which industrialist John Olin paid a record $130,000 as a yearling in 1961, finally got to the races Tuesday and earned $2,400 by winning the third race at Garden State park.

The son of Swaps-Obedient by Mahmoud, plagued by minor ailments which delayed his racing debut, was ridden by Manny Ycaza and paid only $3.40. The 2-year-old was timed in 1:13 3-5 for six furlongs in beating 11 other maidens.

THE BEST?—Probably the best all-around college football player in the country is George Saimes, the Michigan State fullback, who not only is one of the big Spartan offensive threats but is a star on defense, too, and rates as the best blocking back on the team.

THE Cleveland Indians of 1962 won 24 games by a one-run margin and lost 21.

THE Mississippi-Tulane football series dates back to 1893. Ole Miss leads 13-7.

Urbas, Marteney Hounds Set Pace In Point Trials

Hounds owned by Frank Urbas, of Eckhart, and C. E. Marteney, of Keyser, led their respective classes in the five point trials held this year by the Allegany Beagle Club, according to a recount made yesterday by Louis Stitcher, club secretary.

Maggie Lee III, owned by Urbas, was tops in the 13 inch class with 34 points followed by Beeman's Cindy, owned by Allen W. Beeman, of Frostburg, with 31, and Winter's Daisy, owned by Elmer R. Winter, Cresaptown, with 30.

Pearl's Spot, owned by Marteney, was first in the 15 inch class with 19¼ tallies. Beeman's Pardee Baritone was runner-up with 13, Shady Ridge Belle, owned by D. C. Stone, Cumberland, finished third with 11 followed by Bernard Harden's Mt. City Freckles with 10 and Winter's Rex, owned by Elmer R. Winter with 9⅝ points.

The standings as published yesterday had Beeman's Cindy and Pardee Baritone as the leaders of their respective classes and the changes were made when an error in tabulation was discovered.

Twenty-one hounds qualified for the Winners' Stake to be held Sunday at the Allegany Beagle Club.

Kelso Will Run In Monday's International Only If Track Is Fast

Laurel Turf Soggy From Heavy Rains

Horses Work Out On Dirt Track For $125,000 Classic

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The trainer of Kelso, the horse of the year in 1960 and 1961, said Tuesday his horse would run in Monday's $125,000 Washington D. C. International only if there is a fast track.

"I've talked it over with Mrs. DuPont (owner of Kelso) and we decided it would not be fair to Kelso to start him on the Laurel grass in its present condition," said trainer Carl Hanford.

"We've definitely decided Kelso will start only if the track is fast."

Turf Soggy Now

The turf over which the international is run was left soggy by Monday's rain and snow, but Laurel officials said the track should be in good condition for the race if it is spared another heavy rain.

The trainers of both Kelso and Beau Purple, another U.S. entry in the International, had hoped to run their horses on the infield grass Tuesday, but switched to the dirt track and firmer footing.

Both horses turned in excellent times. Kelso ran 1⅛ miles in 1:53 2-5, galloped an extra ⅛ mile and wound up with a 2:06 3-5 time.

Beau Purple, who defeated Kelso and Carry Back in the $100,000 Man O'War Stakes on Oct. 27, covered one mile in 1:41, and ran the last two furlongs in 12 seconds each.

Allen Jenkins, trainer of Beau Purple, had planned to school his horse at the New Market Tape, the starting system used in the International. But because of the soggy condition of the turf track, he delayed this phase of Beau Purple's training until Wednesday.

Carry Back, who along with Kelso and Beau Purple are candidates for horse of the year, also will school at the New Market tape Wednesday. Trainer Jack Price said he would work Carry Back six or seven furlongs either Thursday or Friday.

Cuts Are Healing

The son of Saggy, beaten by a nose by Mongo in the Trenton Handicap last Saturday, galloped around the dirt track Tuesday. Price reported that superficial cuts on Carry Back's legs, suffered at the starting gate in the Trenton, were healing nicely and won't interfere with his training.

The only other International entry engaging in a workout Tuesday was the Japanese horse, Takamagahara, who ran one mile in 1:44, with jockey Yoshia Mohira aboard.

The Canadian entry, Lebon M.L., will engage in a major workout Wednesday on the grass, trainer Roy Johnson said.

Expected to arrive late Tuesday was Delvin, the Italian entry in the International. The German, English and Peruvian entries are due here Wednesday, and the two Russian horses Thursday.

The Peruvian horse, Porfido, will be trained by Henry Clark of Glyndon, Md., who announced that Eldon Nelson will be his jockey in the International.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

ARA PARSEGHIAN (Par-See-Gee-Un) is a junior grade Woody Hayes, energetic, dynamic, intense.

He knows his football and knows how to teach it, and when he talks about it he doesn't evade the issues, but lays them right on the table for you.

He's loaded with enthusiasm, speaks in rapid-fire sentences. He has done wonders with the Northwestern Wildcats, despite the smallness of the school compared to other Big Ten institutions and the battle he has to face to recruit talent surrounded as he is with other big schools.

Ara has had some good teachers, too, starting with Paul Brown when he was at Great Lakes Naval Training Center and winding up as a stellar halfback for, and later assistant coach to, Woody Hayes himself whe, the Buckeye mentor was head coach at Miami U. (Ohio).

This is Ara's seventh season at Northwestern and overall he has done a fine job in lifting the Wildcats from the also-ran stage to a real solid contender in the toughest of all leagues.

WHEN ARA came to Evanston in 1956, the Wildcats had won only seven games in four years and had gone through a winless season in 1955.

In his first go with the Wildcats he finished with 4-4-1, then ran into injury trouble the next year and couldn't win a game. But that only intensified his efforts and from that time on the Wildcats have turned in respectable records. They now are undefeated and ranked No. 1 in the country.

ONE OF several Miami graduates to make good as a big time coach, Ara set the pattern of success he now enjoys when he replaced Woody as head coach in 1951 when Woody went on to Ohio State.

In five years at Miami, Ara's teams won 39 games, lost only six, copped two Mid-American Conference titles and in his last year there turned in a 9-0 record. As a player he was the spark that gave Miami a perfect record in 1947 and starred in the Sun Bowl game as Miami met Texas Tech.

A native of Akron, O., Ara was a four-sport star at Akron South High and was inducted into the Navy soon after high school graduation. He didn't enter college until 1946.

He played pro football with the old Cleveland Browns but an injury brought an end to that career and he turned to coaching.

The blue nilgai, India's largest antelopes, are running wild in Texas. A herd of 16, imported 20 years ago by the King Ranch, has multiplied to 3,000. Standing 4½ feet at the shoulder, the swift nilgai once provided sport for India's Mogul emperors. Today, cowboys hunt the dark, blue-gray animal across Texas prairies.

Bills, Chargers Bid For Services Of Rote, McDougall

TORONTO (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills of the American Football League Tuesday joined the San Diego Chargers in the bidding for Toronto Argonaut stars Tobin Rote and Gerry McDougall.

The Bills confirmed they are interested in the services of Rote, former Detroit Lions quarterback, for this year and next. Rote has said he won't be back in Canada next year.

The Bills said they also want McDougall, but only if the 225-pound fullback agrees not to return to Canada next season.

Steers Trim Squad

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Kansas City Steers of the American Basketball League put two men on waivers Tuesday, trimming the squad to 10 players in preparation for the season-opener against Oakland Nov. 14.

Put on waivers were Gary Wheeler, 5-10 guard from Iowa State and Don Listar, 6-6 forward from St. Benedict's College.

The Steers will go into the 1962-1963 season with eight of their players who finished last year's campaign and have added 6-8 John Windsor from Stanford and Jack Ardon, 6-9 center from Tulane.

Kansas City opens its home season Nov. 22 against the Chicago Majors.

Gotham Bowl Berth Offered To Hurricanes

Miami Must Yet Play Nation's Top Teams

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Gotham Bowl, often plagued in the past with difficulty in lining up attractive teams, Tuesday offered a berth in this year's Dec. 15 post-season football game here to the University of Miami (Fla.).

Once-beaten Miami boasts one of the nation's most colorful players in quarterback passing star George Mira and is coached by Andy Gustafson, well-known in this area because years ago he was an assistant to Earl Blaik at Army.

At Miami, there was no immediate word on whether the Hurricanes would accept the bid.

Dr. Henry King Stanford, university president, said he had received a letter from New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner offering the bowl bid. Stanford said he has replied to Wagner, thanking him for the invitation but adding, "we are not at this time prepared to accept a bowl bid."

Stanford pointed out that the Hurricanes still have three more games to play "and everyone at the moment is bending his efforts to complete the schedule."

Still ahead for Miami are a big game against Alabama, the nation's second-ranked team this Saturday, another big one against Northwestern, the nation's No. 1 team, on Nov. 23, and a windup against the University of Florida on Dec. 1.

The Hurricanes, with a 6-1 record, already have defeated Pittsburgh, Texas Christian, Florida State, Maryland, Air Force Academy, and Kentucky, while losing only to Louisiana State.

Grid Iron Hero Takes Handicap At Garden State

GARDEN STATE PARK, Cherry Hill, N. J. Nov. 6 (AP) — There was a touch of football weather at Garden State Park today and Emil Dolce's Grid Iron Hero did some broken field running to win the Benjamin Franklin Handicap by three lengths under Avelino Gomez.

Cain Hoy Stable's Solid Choice, Dead Ahead, closed on the rail to finish second a neck before Bruce S. Campbell's Dedimoud.

Greek Money and Stubtle finished back of the money three-some in the mile and one-sixteenth sophomore test.

Grid Iron Hero paid $15.40, $4.40 and $2.20 for his 1.45 trip over a good oval. Dead Ahead returned $2.80 and $2.20 and Dedimoud paid the minimum $2.20.

The race had a gross value of $28,000 of which $18,200 went to the winner who was registering his sixth victory of the season.

Going Up

PIMLICO, Md. — In 1921 the inaugural running of the Pimlico Futurity had a gross purse value of $51,250. This year's renewal is expected to gross better than $150,000.

Shoe Going For Four

PIMLICO, Md. — Jockey Willie Shoemaker, the nation's premier reinsman won the Pimlico Futurity three times. Shoe took the 1957-58 runnings with Jewel's Reward and Intentionally and last year rode Crimson Satan to championship honors in the stake. This year's renewal is set for Saturday, November 24.

Northwestern, USC Set Pace In AP Grid Poll

Only Two Teams Retain Positions

By The Associated Press

If the Rose Bowl football game were to be played this week, it could boast of being an unofficial match for the national championship between the No. 1 and No. 2 ranking college teams.

Northwestern and Southern California, driving toward a possible clash in Pasadena, are pace-setters in the weekly poll of the Associated Press. Each has won six straight games.

Northwestern, which squeezed past Indiana 26-21 Saturday on a late passing drive by Tom Myers, retained top place in the standings with 24 of the 49 No. 1 votes of the special panel of sports writers and broadcasters and a total of 442 points.

On the basis of ten points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., Southern California, which hurdled a formidable obstacle in Washington 14-0, took over the No. 2 rung with 409 points. The Trojans were picked as the nation's best by six of the voters.

Alabama and Mississippi, boomed for a meeting in the Sugar Bowl, followed in the No. 3 and No. 4 positions, respectively, after receiving nine first place votes each. Alabama made Mississippi State its seventh victim of the season 20-0 while Mississippi finally managed to beat Louisiana State, an old rival, 15-7.

Completing the top ten, which underwent a brisk shakeup, were: Texas, No. 5; Arkansas, No. 6; Missouri, No. 7; Wisconsin, No. 8; Louisiana State, No. 9, and Minnesota, No. 10.

Northwestern, No. 1, and Texas, No. 5, were the only teams to hold their positions from a week ago. Alabama dropped a notch; Mississippi moved up from sixth place; Arkansas, 17-7 winner over Texas A&M, jumped two rungs; Southern Cal gained one, and Louisiana State fell from fourth to ninth.

Missouri, Wisconsin and Minnesota are newcomers to the list, rooting out Michigan State, Washington and Auburn, all of whom were beaten.

Northwestern's newly-gained station is in jeopardy this week in the game with Wisconsin, which thumped Michigan 34-12 for its fifth victory in six starts. Southern Cal plays Stanford. Alabama meets Miami, Fla., Mississippi takes on Chattanooga and Texas faces Baylor.

Other games involving the top ten send Arkansas against Rice, Missouri against Colorado, LSU against Texas Christian and Minnesota against Iowa.

Kelso Will Run In Monday's International Only If Track Is Fast

Laurel Turf Soggy From Heavy Rains

Horses Work Out On Dirt Track For $125,000 Classic

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The trainer of Kelso, the horse of the year in 1960 and 1961, said Tuesday his horse would run in Monday's $125,000 Washington D. C. International only if there is a fast track.

"I've talked it over with Mrs. DuPont (owner of Kelso) and we decided it would not be fair to Kelso to start him on the Laurel grass in its present condition," said trainer Carl Hanford.

"We've definitely decided Kelso will start only if the track is fast."

Turf Soggy Now

The turf over which the internationsl is run was left soggy by Monday's rain and snow, but Laurel officials said the track should be in good condition for the race if it is spared another heavy rain.

The trainers of both Kelso and Beau Purple, another U.S. entry in the International, had hoped to run their horses on the infield grass Tuesday, but switched to the dirt track and firmer footing.

Both horses turned in excellent times. Kelso ran 1⅛ miles in 1:53 2-5, galloped an extra ⅛ mile and wound up with a 2:06 3-5 time.

Beau Purple, who defeated Kelso and Carry Back in the $100,000 Man O'War Stakes on Oct. 27, covered one mile in 1:41, and ran the last two furlongs in 12 seconds each.

Allen Jenkins, trainer of Beau Purple, had planned to school his horse at the New Market Tape, the starting system used in the International. But because of the soggy condition of the turf track, he delayed this phase of Beau Purple's training until Wednesday.

Carry Back, who along with Kelso and Beau Purple are candidates for horse of the year, also will school at the New Market tape Wednesday. Trainer Jack Price said he would work Carry Back six or seven furlongs either Thursday or Friday.

Cuts Are Healing

The son of Saggy, beaten by a nose by Mongo in the Trenton Handicap last Saturday, galloped around the dirt track Tuesday. Price reported that superficial cuts on Carry Back's legs, suffered at the starting gate in the Trenton, were healing nicely and won't interfere with his training.

The only other International entry engaging in a workout Tuesday was the Japanese horse, Takamagahara, who ran one mile in 1:44, with jockey Yoshia Mohira aboard.

The Canadian entry, Lebon M.L., will engage in a major workout Wednesday on the grass, trainer Roy Johnson said.

Expected to arrive late Tuesday was Delvin, the Italian entry in the International. The German, English and Peruvian entries are due here Wednesday, and the two Russian horses Thursday.

The Peruvian horse, Porfido, will be trained by Henry Clark of Glyndon, Md., who announced that Eldon Nelson will be his jockey in the International.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

ARA PARSEGHIAN (Par-See-Gee-Un) is a junior grade Woody Hayes, energetic, dynamic, intense.

He knows his football and knows how to teach it, and when he talks about it he doesn't evade the issues, but lays them right on the table for you.

He's loaded with enthusiasm, speaks in rapid-fire sentences. He has done wonders with the Northwestern Wildcats, despite the smallness of the school compared to other Big Ten institutions and the battle he has to face to recruit talent surrounded as he is with other big schools.

Ara has had some good teachers, too, starting with Paul Brown when he was at Great Lakes Naval Training Center and winding up as a stellar halfback for, and later assistant coach to, Woody Hayes himself whe, the Buckeye mentor was head coach at Miami U. (Ohio).

This is Ara's seventh season at Northwestern and overall he has done a fine job in lifting the Wildcats from the also-ran stage to a real solid contender in the toughest of all leagues.

WHEN ARA came to Evanston in 1956, the Wildcats had won only seven games in four years and had gone through a winless season in 1955.

In his first go with the Wildcats he finished with 4-4-1, then ran into injury trouble the next year and couldn't win a game. But that only intensified his efforts and from that time on the Wildcats have turned in respectable records. They now are undefeated and ranked No. 1 in the country.

ONE OF several Miami graduates to make good as a big time coach, Ara set the pattern of success he now enjoys when he replaced Woody as head coach in 1951 when Woody went on to Ohio State.

In five years at Miami, Ara's teams won 39 games, lost only six, copped two Mid-American Conference titles and in his last year there turned in a 9-0 record. As a player he was the spark that gave Miami a perfect record in 1947 and starred in the Sun Bowl game as Miami met Texas Tech.

A native of Akron, O., Ara was a four-sport star at Akron South High and was inducted into the Navy soon after high school graduation. He didn't enter college until 1946.

He played pro football with the old Cleveland Browns but an injury brought an end to that career and he turned to coaching.

The blue nilgai, India's largest antelopes, are running wild in Texas. A herd of 16, imported 20 years ago by the King Ranch, has multiplied to 3,000. Standing 4½ feet at the shoulder, the swift nilgai once provided sport for India's Mogul emperors. Today, cowboys hunt the dark, blue-gray animal across Texas prairies.

Bills, Chargers Bid For Services Of Rote, McDougall

TORONTO (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills of the American Football League Tuesday joined the San Diego Chargers in the bidding for Toronto Argonaut stars Tobin Rote and Gerry McDougall.

The Bills confirmed they are interested in the services of Rote, former Detroit Lions quarterback, for this year and next. Rote has said he won't be back in Canada next year.

The Bills said they also want McDougall, but only if the 225-pound fullback agrees not to return to Canada next season.

Steers Trim Squad

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Kansas City Steers of the American Basketball League put two men on waivers Tuesday, trimming the squad to 10 players in preparation for the season-opener against Oakland Nov. 14.

Put on waivers were Gary Wheeler, 5-10 guard from Iowa State and Don Listar, 6-6 forward from St. Benedict's College.

The Steers will go into the 1962-1963 season with eight of their players who finished last year's campaign and have added 6-8 John Windsor from Stanford and Jack Ardon, 6-9 center from Tulane.

Kansas City opens its home season Nov. 22 against the Chicago Majors.

Gotham Bowl Berth Offered To Hurricanes

Miami Must Yet Play Nation's Top Teams

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Gotham Bowl, often plagued in the past with difficulty in lining up attractive teams, Tuesday offered a berth in this year's Dec. 15 post-season football game here to the University of Miami (Fla.).

Once-beaten Miami boasts one of the nation's most colorful players in quarterback passing star George Mira and is coached by Andy Gustafson, well-known in this area because years ago he was an assistant to Earl Blaik at Army.

At Miami, there was no immediate word on whether the Hurricanes would accept the bid.

Dr. Henry King Stanford, university president, said he had received a letter from New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner offering the bowl bid. Stanford said he has replied to Wagner, thanking him for the invitation but adding, "we are not at this time prepared to accept a bowl bid."

Stanford pointed out that the Hurricanes still have three more games to play "and everyone at the moment is bending his efforts to complete the schedule."

Still ahead for Miami are a big game against Alabama, the nation's second-ranked team this Saturday, another big one against Northwestern, the nation's No. 1 team, on Nov. 23, and a windup against the University of Florida on Dec. 1.

The Hurricanes, with a 6-1 record, already have defeated Pittsburgh, Texas Christian, Florida State, Maryland, Air Force Academy, and Kentucky, while losing only to Louisiana State.

Grid Iron Hero Takes Handicap At Garden State

GARDEN STATE PARK, Cherry Hill, N. J. Nov. 6 (AP) — There was a touch of football weather at Garden State Park today and Emil Dolce's Grid Iron Hero did some broken field running to win the Benjamin Franklin Handicap by three lengths under Avelino Gomez.

Cain Hoy Stable's Solid Choice, Dead Ahead, closed on the rail to finish second a neck before Bruce S. Campbell's Dedimoud.

Greek Money and Stubtle finished back of the money three-some in the mile and one-sixteenth sophomore test.

Grid Iron Hero paid $15.40, $4.40 and $2.20 for his 1.45 trip over a good oval. Dead Ahead returned $2.80 and $2.20 and Dedimoud paid the minimum $2.20.

The race had a gross value of $28,000 of which $18,200 went to the winner who was registering his sixth victory of the season.

Going Up

PIMLICO, Md. — In 1921 the inaugural running of the Pimlico Futurity had a gross purse value of $51,250. This year's renewal is expected to gross better than $150,000.

Northwestern, USC Set Pace In AP Grid Poll

Only Two Teams Retain Positions

By The Associated Press

If the Rose Bowl football game were to be played this week, it could boast of being an unofficial match for the national championship between the No. 1 and No. 2 ranking college teams.

Northwestern and Southern California, driving toward a possible clash in Pasadena, are pace-setters in the weekly poll of the Associated Press. Each has won six straight games.

Northwestern, which squeezed past Indiana 26-21 Saturday on a late passing drive by Tom Myers, retained top place in the standings with 24 of the 49 No. 1 votes of the special panel of sports writers and broadcasters and a total of 442 points.

On the basis of ten points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., Southern California, which hurdled a formidable obstacle in Washington 14-0, took over the No. 2 rung with 409 points. The Trojans were picked as the nation's best by six of the voters.

Alabama and Mississippi, boomed for a meeting in the Sugar Bowl, followed in the No. 3 and No. 4 positions, respectively, after receiving nine first place votes each. Alabama made Mississippi State its seventh victim of the season 20-0 while Mississippi finally managed to beat Louisiana State, an old rival, 15-7.

Completing the top ten, which underwent a brisk shakeup, were: Texas, No. 5; Arkansas, No. 6; Missouri, No. 7; Wisconsin, No. 8; Louisiana State, No. 9, and Minnesota, No. 10.

Northwestern, No. 1, and Texas, No. 5, were the only teams to hold their positions from a week ago. Alabama dropped a notch; Mississippi moved up from sixth place; Arkansas, 17-7 winner over Texas A&M, jumped two rungs; Southern Cal gained one, and Louisiana State fell from fourth to ninth.

Missouri, Wisconsin and Minnesota are newcomers to the list, rooting out Michigan State, Washington and Auburn, all of whom were beaten.

Northwestern's newly-gained station is in jeopardy this week in the game with Wisconsin, which thumped Michigan 34-12 for its fifth victory in six starts. Southern Cal plays Stanford, Alabama meets Miami, Fla., Mississippi takes on Chattanooga and Texas faces Baylor.

Other games involving the top ten send Arkansas against Rice, Missouri against Colorado, LSU against Texas Christian and Minnesota against Iowa.

Woman Judge Is Stern, 'Practical Idealist'

By MYRAM BORDERS

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — On the eleventh floor of the State Building here is a modest, book-lined office where bitterly fought court cases are unemotionally upheld or reversed.

Behind the desk is a woman—Mildred L. Lillie, Justice of the Second District Court of Appeal.

She is an idealist but practical, a stern administrator of justice yet feminine, an objective thinker but warm.

Judge Lillie, mentioned as the next associate justice of the California Supreme Court, became the second woman to serve on the California Court of Appeals when appointed by former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight four years ago.

She is not a feminist, but a hard working attorney whose ability won high appointments.

"Each woman in the field of law gets the respect and dignity that she individually deserves," she said.

Judge Lillie has won respect of the best.

In 1942 she was appointed assistant U.S. attorney in Los Angeles where she served four years. She briefly entered private practice until appointed to the Municipal Court of Los Angeles by former Gov. Earl Warren. Two years later she was appointed by Warren to the Superior Court in Los Angeles.

Gov. Knight elevated the lady jurist to the District Court of Appeal in 1958.

"With every new job, I have had to work hard. I am not brilliant and don't have the best memory," said Mrs. Lillie.

Judge Lillie, a widow for the past three years, often devotes 12 hours a day to the $26,500 a year post.

"I didn't come from a legal family and hit the profession cold when I decided to go into law."

After graduating from law school at the University of California at Berkeley she had a private practice in Fresno for four years prior to her long list of appointments.

The attractive jurist with keen insight worked her way through school and supported her mother at the same time. She came from a poor Iowa family. Her parents were separated.

She entered law because it "was a good background for a variety of fields." But due to her intense interest in the profession, she decided to go into practice.

The judge, a stately 5-foot-8, cooked while in school to work out room and board.

"Maybe because I had to eat I took a lot less money and didn't pick and choose," she explained about her first few years of practice.

She attributes her success to common sense and determination but contends she has "no great talent."

Evidence, however, points to the contrary.

Memorable among her cases is the Bergman-Linstrom battle over custody of their daughter Pia. Judge Lillie, then presiding over the Domestic Relations court, issued a statement applicable to most any divorce situation:

"The court wonders how long it will take the two parties to realize that though they might be able to place a dollar-and-cents sign on the rights of visitation and custody of a child, neither one, nor anyone else, can bargain for and buy the affection, love and respect of a child."

Another case involved a crooner who was prosecuted for back child-support payments. He told the court: "I haven't any money, but I'm not trying to escape anything."

Judge Lillie wryly replied: "No, and we're not going to let you."

She says she is a "flag waver" and an "idealist about justice."

"This country is one based on the rule of law. One infringement on that rule and we're through, it leads to tyranny."

Algerian Troops Oust U.S. Official

ALGIERS (AP)—U.S. officials have started negotiations to obtain return of a villa housing the American consulate in Constantine.

Algerian troops occupied the villa last week after Consul Edward W. Schafer went to France to get his family.

Schafer returned to find the troops occupying the house.

The U.S. Embassy said the situation was not serious and negotiations for the return of the villa are in progress.

Soviet Maneuvers Anger Fishermen

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The fishermen of Finnmark, Norways's northernmost province, are furious because massive Soviet naval maneuvers off their coast are keeping them away from the Skolpen Bank, a rich fishing ground off Finnmark.

The maneuvers were to have ended Oct. 20 but have now been extended until Nov. 10. Usually fishing is very profitable in the last part of October and the first part of November at the Skolpen Bank.

Hume Leaves Hospital To Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — David Hume, who was operated on last week for a lung tumor, left Georgetown University Hospital Tuesday for an 80-mile round trip to vote.

He left the hospital in the morning, was driven to Bryantown, Md., voted, and then returned to the hospital.

A hospital spokesman said he was pretty tired from the trip but was all right.

The word muscle had a humorous origin. The ancient Romans noticed that the action of a muscle beneath the skin resembled the scampering of a mouse, so they bestowed the name "musculus" or "little mouse" on that part of human anatomy.

Woman Judge Is Stern, 'Practical Idealist'

By MYRAM BORDERS

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — On the eleventh floor of the State Building here is a modest, book-lined office where bitterly fought court cases are unemotionally upheld or reversed.

Behind the desk is a woman—Mildred L. Lillie, Justice of the Second District Court of Appeal.

She is an idealist but practical, a stern administrator of justice yet feminine, an objective thinker but warm.

Judge Lillie, mentioned as the next associate justice of the California Supreme Court, became the second woman to serve on the California Court of Appeals when appointed by former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight four years ago.

She is not a feminist, but a hard working attorney whose ability won high appointments.

"Each woman in the field of law gets the respect and dignity that she individually deserves," she said.

Judge Lillie has won respect of the best.

In 1942 she was appointed assistant U.S. attorney in Los Angeles where she served four years. She briefly entered private practice until appointed to the Municipal Court of Los Angeles by former Gov. Earl Warren. Two years later she was appointed by Warren to the Superior Court in Los Angeles.

Gov. Knight elevated the lady jurist to the District Court of Appeal in 1958.

"With every new job, I have had to work hard. I am not brilliant and don't have the best memory," said Mrs. Lillie.

Judge Lillie, a widow for the past three years, often devotes 12 hours a day to the $26,500 a year post.

"I didn't come from a legal family and hit the profession cold when I decided to go into law."

After graduating from law school at the University of California at Berkeley she had a private practice in Fresno for four years prior to her long list of appointments.

The attractive jurist with keen insight worked her way through school and supported her mother at the same time. She came from a poor Iowa family. Her parents were separated.

She entered law because it "was a good background for a variety of fields." But due to her intense interest in the profession, she decided to go into practice.

The judge, a stately 5-foot-8, cooked while in school to work out room and board.

"Maybe because I had to eat I took a lot less money and didn't pick and choose," she explained about her first few years of practice.

She attributes her success to common sense and determination but contends she has "no great talent."

Evidence, however, points to the contrary.

Memorable among her cases is the Bergman-Linstrom battle over custody of their daughter Pia. Judge Lillie, then presiding over the Domestic Relations court, issued a statement applicable to most any divorce situation:

"The court wonders how long it will take the two parties to realize that though they might be able to place a dollar-and-cents sign on the rights of visitation and custody of a child, neither one, nor anyone else, can bargain for and buy the affection, love and respect of a child."

Another case involved a crooner who was prosecuted for back child-support payments. He told the court: "I haven't any money, but I'm not trying to escape anything."

Judge Lillie wryly replied: "No, and we're not going to let you."

She says she is a "flag waver" and an "idealist about justice."

"This country is one based on the rule of law. One infringement on that rule and we're through, it leads to tyranny."

Algerian Troops Oust U.S. Official

ALGIERS (AP)—U.S. officials have started negotiations to obtain return of a villa housing the American consulate in Constantine.

Algerian troops occupied the villa last week after Consul Edward W. Schafer went to France to get his family.

Schafer returned to find the troops occupying the house.

The U.S. Embassy said the situation was not serious and negotiations for the return of the villa are in progress.

Soviet Maneuvers Anger Fishermen

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The fishermen of Finnmark, Norways's northernmost province, are furious because massive Soviet naval maneuvers off their coast are keeping them away from the Skolpen Bank, a rich fishing ground off Finnmark.

The maneuvers were to have ended Oct. 20 but have now been extended until Nov. 10. Usually fishing is very profitable in the last part of October and the first part of November at the Skolpen Bank.

Hume Leaves Hospital To Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — David Hume, who was operated on last week for a lung tumor, left Georgetown University Hospital Tuesday for an 80-mile round trip to vote.

He left the hospital in the morning, was driven to Bryantown, Md., voted, and then returned to the hospital.

A hospital spokesman said he was pretty tired from the trip but was all right.

Dr. Zimmer Speaks For Traffic Club Meet

Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president of Allegany Community College, will speak to the Tri-State Traffic Club at its meeting Wednesday, November 14, at 6:30 p. m. in the Shrine Country Club.

Chester E. Moody, president, said he will inform members of the courses that are available at the local two-year college.

Following the dinner, a "Las Vegas Night" will be held.

The word muscle had a humorous origin. The ancient Romans noticed that the action of a muscle beneath the skin resembled the scampering of a mouse, so they bestowed the name "musculus" or "little mouse" on that part of human anatomy.

BRANDENBURG, HIS WIFE, GENE LUTZ AND CHARLOTTE LUTZ, HIS WIFE, AND WELLINGTON E. YUTZY AND MARGARET K. YUTZY, HIS WIFE, TO FILE A PETITION WITH THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND, FOR THE CLOSING OF CERTAIN ROADS, STREETS AND ALLEYS KNOWN AS BRADDOCK STREET, WASHINGTON STREET, THREE 15 FOOT UNNAMED ALLEYS AND TWO 12 FOOT UNNAMED ALLEYS IN SECTION A OF THE PEOPLES PARK AMUSEMENT COMPANY ADDITION AND PART OF PARK AVENUE IN SAID ADDITION EXTENDING INTO MOUNTAIN VIEW ADDITION, IN ELECTION DISTRICT 29, LAVALE, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND.

In pursuance of the provisions of Sections 474 to 480, both inclusive, of Article 1 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland (1955 Edition) notice is hereby given that George E. Baughman and Grace N. Baughman, his wife, Warren R. Baldwin and Lillian P. Baldwin, his wife, Joseph D. Brandenburg and Catherine P. Brandenburg, his wife, Gene Lutz and Charlotte Lutz, his wife, and Wellington E. Yutzy and Margaret K. Yutzy, his wife, will file with the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, on or before December 10, 1962, a petition requesting said County Commissioners to close certain roads, streets and alleys known as Braddock Street, Washington Street, three 15 foot unnamed alleys and two 12 foot unnamed alleys in Section A of the Peoples Park Amusement Company Addition and part of Park Avenue in said Addition extending into Mountain View Addition, in Election District 29, LaVale, Allegany County, Maryland, all of which said roads, streets and alleys are shown on a plat of said Section A of the Peoples Park Amusement Company Addition designated as Plat No. 83 in Plat Case No. 1 among the Plat Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and on a plat of Mountain View Addition, a copy of each said plats showing the roads, streets, and alleys, their length and location has been filed in the office of the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Court House, Washington Street, Cumberland, Maryland, and can be seen and examined by any interested parties at any time said office is open. The streets in Section A of the Peoples Park Addition which will remain open are LaVale Avenue in its entirety, Lincoln Street from the northerly side of Park Street to the southerly side of LaVale Avenue, and Park Street from the easterly side of Washington Street to Camp Ground Road. All other streets, roads and alleys in said Addition are requested to be closed and are outlined in red on the plat of said Addition.

The purpose of requesting that said roads, streets and alleys be closed is that the same have never been used since said Additions were laid out, all are overgrown with grass or trees or are unusable and it is the desire of petitioners to have said roads, streets and alleys conveyed to the abutting owners.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 180 The Confederacy lost a vital river port and industrial center, Memphis, in June 1862, through inferior naval power.

After Farragut's and Porter's Union squadrons had battled their way into New Orleans and sealed off the mouth of the Mississippi, a pincher operation was ordered from Washington. Farragut and Porter were to push northward while five "Turtles" (gunboats) moved down river. (Davis was the replacement for Andrew Foote, naval victor at Forts Henry and Donelson, who was seriously wounded at the latter.)

Forewarned by spies of the movement, Capt. J. E. Montgomery's "River Defense Fleet," consisting of eight improvised steam rams based at Vicksburg, waylaid Davis' ironclads near Fort Wright and disabled two of the biggest before withdrawing.

Davis made emergency repairs, resumed the advance southward and was joined near Memphis by three uncompleted Army rams built and commanded by Col. Charles Ellet. Ellet broke through the double Confederate line, followed by the gunboats, which sank all of Montgomery's eight rams, in an hour. The Union forces failed to prevent the powerful uncompleted Rebel ironclad Arkansas' escape from Memphis. It reached a haven in the Yazoo near Vicksburg, to remain a menace to Farragut's and Porter's ships for some months. With Memphis gone, that was small consolation to the Confederates.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 180 The Confederacy lost a vital river port and industrial center, Memphis, in June 1862, through inferior naval power.

After Farragut's and Porter's Union squadrons had battled their way into New Orleans and sealed off the mouth of the Mississippi, a pincher operation was ordered from Washington. Farragut and Porter were to push northward while five "Turtles" (gunboats) moved down river. (Davis was the replacement for Andrew Foote, naval victor at Forts Henry and Donelson, who was seriously wounded at the latter.)

Forewarned by spies of the movement, Capt. J. E. Montgomery's "River Defense Fleet," consisting of eight improvised steam rams based at Vicksburg, waylaid Davis' ironclads near Fort Wright and disabled two of the biggest before withdrawing.

Davis made emergency repairs, resumed the advance southward and was joined near Memphis by three uncompleted Army rams built and commanded by Col. Charles Ellet. Ellet broke through the double Confederate line, followed by the gunboats, which sank all of Montgomery's eight rams, in an hour. The Union forces failed to prevent the powerful uncompleted Rebel ironclad Arkansas' escape from Memphis. It reached a haven in the Yazoo near Vicksburg, to remain a menace to Farragut's and Porter's ships for some months. With Memphis gone, that was small consolation to the Confederates.

Republicans Sweep To Victory In All Allegany County Contests

GOP Wins House, State Senate Races

George Hughes Defeats Walsh

Balloting along party lines, voters of Allegany County yesterday swept an all-Republican Delegation to the General Assembly into office.

Unofficial results from all 45 polling places showed that the strong tide placed Republicans in control of every office in Alegany County.

The voting trend reversed action taken in 1958, when the Democrats gained control of the Allegany County Commissioners and elected two of their candidates to the House of Delegates.

In the bitterly fought race for state senate, George R. Hughes Jr., Republican, won 14,475 votes in the incomplete returns, 3,695 more than his Democratic opponent, William Walsh, who tailed with 10,780 votes.

Swept into office were all six Republican candidates to the House of Delegates, J. Glenn Beall, Charles M. See, Lester B. Reed, Fred H. Anderson, Noel Speir Cook and David J. Williams.

A chart showing votes polled by all candidates in the county's 45 polling places will be published by this newspaper after the official canvass of votes.

Nearest Democratic contender for a House seat was Thomas F. Conlon Jr., who with Wiliam Walsh was elected in 1958 to reverse the tradition of an all-GOP Allegany County delegation.

The balloting took place on a crisp autumn day as 28,050 of the county's 39,568 voters went to the polls for a 70.9 per cent vote.

The margin of victory for most of the Republican candidates roughly reflected the party's 4,674 majority.

Unofficial but complete returns from all of the county's 45 polling places follow:

Hughes Expresses Sincere Thanks For Support

George R. Hughes Jr., elected to the State Senate yesterday from Allegany County, issued a statement of thanks early today for the splendid support given him at the polls.

"This has been a long and hard campaign. The fact that we Republicans had good candidates and good organization resulted in our victory in Allegany County.

"During the next four years each of the successful Republicans will endeavor to merit the confidence shown in us yesterday by the manner in which we serve Allegany County.

"Our opponents showed that they also were well organized so unless we Republicans do an excellent job in the next four years we can expect serious competition in 1966.

"Personally, I wish to thank each member of the Republican organization and each volunteer for the tremendous effort made in my behalf and in behalf of all Republican candidates yesterday."

Judgeship In Question In Garrett Election

Garrett County went Republican yesterday during the general election and eligible voters of that county went down the line for GOP candidates with the exception of a Democrat who was unofficially elected County Commissioner.

There was a question as to the election of the associate judge by county residents and 75 absentee ballots to be counted tomorrow may decide the race for the judgeship by Stuart F. Hamill, Democrat, who received 2,939 votes as compared to his opponent, Republican W. Dwight Stover, who received 2,932 votes, a difference of seven votes.

The lone Democrat voted into office was Earl Opel who defeated Clifford Friend, state senator from Garrett County, 1954-58. Opel received 3,192 votes and Friend 2,977. The other two successful candidates for the office of county commissioner are Allen S. Paugh, 3774 votes and H. D. Swartzentruber, 3,307 votes.

Up to 80 per cent of the voters in some of the precincts turned out to vote yesterday according to one observer who said the voting was "extremely heavy."

Martinsburg Vote-Buying Is Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department reported "only scattered" complaints of illegal voting practices around the nation Tuesday.

They included one vote-buying charge at Martinsburg, W. Va.

Henry Putzel Jr., chief of the voting and elections section of the department's civil rights division, said most of the complaints were about alleged unlabeled, scurrilous literature being distributed.

He said complaints, which had not been investigated, came from California, Florida, Kentucky, Michigan, Utah and West Virginia.

There was a complaint from Detroit of illegal challenge of voters at the polls and several charges that voting machines had been purposely jammed elsewhere.

Mr. Mathias, in a victory statement issued from, Frederick thanked the voters for their support, and pledged to "weigh every legislative question only on its merits."

He called his re-election "a mandate to serve you even more in the next two years."

During the 87th Congress, which concluded its work only last month, Mr. Mathias was the only Republican representing Maryland in the House of Representatives.

The 40-year-old Frederick County lawyer is a former Frederick city attorney, and later served in the House of Delegates from Frederick County before being elected to Congress in 1960.

He was supported for election this time by the Committee on Political Education of the Western Maryland Central Labor Council.

School Bus Inspection Will Resume

Now that the state and county general election is over, the second inspection of school buses in Allegany County will resume today, according to J. Hubert Radcliffe, county supervisor of transportation.

Today's schedule calls for inspection at Beall High School at 8:30 a.m., at Valley High School at 10 a.m. and at Bruce High School at 11:30 a.m.

Tomorrow the inspection ends with checks at Fort Hill High School at 8:30 a.m. and at Mt. Savage High School at 1:30 p.m.

The schedule started Monday with inspections at Flintstone, Piney Plains and Oldtown, then took yesterday off because of the election.

Mr. Radcliffe reminded motorists that he is receiving many complaints from bus drivers that they are ignoring a basic law. All vehicular traffic in both directions must stop when a school bus is stopped along the highway to load and unload children.

Most of the complaints involve drivers through LaVale but others have been received on U.S. Route 220 and U.S. Route 40 east of Cumberland. State Police will be asked to be on the alert for violators who will be prosecuted, the supervisor said.

Answer Fire Alarm

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company was called to 1055 National Highway shortly after 6 p.m. yesterday when a gasoline fire was reported. Firemen said the fire was out on arrival.

Republicans Sweep To Victory In All Allegany County Contests

GOP Wins House, State Senate Races

George Hughes Defeats Walsh

Balloting along party lines, voters of Allegany County yesterday swept an all-Republican Delegation to the General Assembly into office.

Unofficial results from all 45 polling places showed that the strong tide placed Republicans in control of every office in Alegany County.

The voting trend reversed action taken in 1958, when the Democrats gained control of the Allegany County Commissioners and elected two of their candidates to the House of Delegates.

In the bitterly fought race for state senate, George R. Hughes Jr., Republican, won 14,475 votes in the incomplete returns, 3,695 more than his Democratic opponent, William Walsh, who tailed with 10,780 votes.

Swept into office were all six Republican candidates to the House of Delegates, J. Glenn Beall, Charles M. See, Lester B. Reed, Fred H. Anderson, Noel Speir Cook and David J. Williams.

A chart showing votes polled by all candidates in the county's 45 polling places will be published by this newspaper after the official canvass of votes.

Nearest Democratic contender for a House seat was Thomas F. Conlon Jr., who with Wiliam Walsh was elected in 1958 to reverse the tradition of an all-GOP Allegany County delegation.

The balloting took place on a crisp autumn day as 28,050 of the county's 39,568 voters went to the polls for a 70.9 per cent vote.

Judgeship In Question In Garrett Election

Garrett County went Republican yesterday during the general election and eligible voters of that county went down the line for GOP candidates with the exception of a Democrat who was unofficially elected County Commissioner.

There was a question as to the election of the associate judge by county residents and 75 absentee ballots to be counted tomorrow may decide the race for the judgeship by Stuart F. Hamill, Democrat, who received 2,939 votes as compared to his opponent, Republican W. Dwight Stover, who received 2,932 votes, a difference of seven votes.

The lone Democrat voted into office was Earl Opel who defeated Clifford Friend, state senator from Garrett County, 1954-58. Opel received 3,192 votes and Friend 2,977. The other two successful candidates for the office of county commissioner are Allen S. Paugh, 3774 votes and H. D. Swartzentruber, 3,307 votes.

Up to 80 per cent of the voters in some of the precincts turned out to vote yesterday according to one observer who said the voting was "extremely heavy."

Martinsburg Vote-Buying Is Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department reported "only scattered" complaints of illegal voting practices around the nation Tuesday.

They included one vote-buying charge at Martinsburg, W. Va.

Henry Putzel Jr., chief of the voting and elections section of the department's civil rights division, said most of the complaints were about alleged unlabeled, scurrilous literature being distributed.

He said complaints, which had not been investigated, came from California, Florida, Kentucky, Michigan, Utah and West Virginia.

There was a complaint from Detroit of illegal challenge of voters at the polls and several charges that voting machines had been purposely jammed elsewhere.
